COMMISSION ORDERED OUT BY GERMANY

BY LARRY RUE
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—While encouraging popular collections to aid the strikers in the Ruhr and other people and their families who already have been deported from Wiesbaden and Mayence for refusing to obey French orders the government is sitting tight and viewing with equal complacency the developments in the Ruhr and unoccupied Germany, especially in Munich where the Entente commission has all but been officially expelled from the country.

The management of the hotel where the commissioners are stopping, following an official warning that the Bavarian government was not able to guarantee their security, ordered them to evacuate, while servants in hotels and public restaurants refuse to serve them, thus making their stay in Munich anything but pleasant.

MAKE OWN BEDS

Although the management sent an ultimatum to the commission, comprising two French colonels and their woman secretary and a Belgian colonel, to get out by 6 o'clock tonight they will be allowed to remain until tomorrow, although they will be forced to make their own beds and eat their food in their rooms.

The French Embassy here is considerably worried over the situation in Munich, declaring that an incident there is extremely possible and even with an army of occupation in the Ruhr, the French officials are at a loss as to what they would be able to do if anything should happen.

The Munich boycott against the mission and the refusal of Premier Poincare to accept the German note charging that the killing of Herr Kowaleski at Langendreer was murder, saying that it was too vitriolic, created a report today that the French embassy was contemplating closing. The embassy, however, officially denied this.

The bad feeling, however, between the French embassy and Wilhelmstrasse was not improved by an incident wherein the former after receiving a dead dog through the parcel post forwarded it to the German Foreign Office with a criticism of German sanitation laws.

An announcement that the English Attorney-General had decided that the occupation of the Ruhr destroyed the Treaty of Versailles started another rumor to the effect that the Germans have begun feelers for a separate treaty with England. A separate treaty with England would certainly be welcomed as a factor toward the entire destruction of the Versailles pact.

One of the leaders of the potash industry asserted today that despite the solid front of the industrials against France there is more

SWITCH BOXES DAMAGED

The switchmen and track walkers at the Meiderich and Oberhausen yards in the Belgian zone of occupation, also quit work this afternoon after damaging the switch boxes. The train service in the Ruhr is generally a little below normal, but has improved since yesterday. The output of the coal is increasing hourly, according to the French, and a personal investigation seemed to bear out the statement that there was a 20 per cent improvement in production above yesterday.

The labor bureaus at Muenster and Elberfeld are making efforts to induce the miners to strike in a body if the industrial magnates are sentenced to jail tomorrow, but in general the response to strike orders has not been enthusiastic, except in the case of the Thysson plants, as might be expected from populations in a patriotic protest against foreign occupation.

Heavy Snows Reported

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—Heavy snow throughout the Sierra Nevadas was reported here tonight by N. R. Taylor, in charge of the Federal Weather Bureau. More than 100 inches have fallen at the Summit, Taylor said. A total of 1.04 inches of rain has fallen since the present storm began.

Fall from Car Fatal

Arthur Healy, 65 years of age, of 2227 Sunset Boulevard, received injuries which may cause his death when he fell under a Pacific Electric car last night. The aged man had been standing on the steps of the car, holding the rail, when he lost his grip and fell beneath the wheels. His left foot was crushed and his skull fractured. The accident happened at 11:30 p.m. on Hill street between Sixth and Seventh streets.

Robbed by Stage Driver

A hold-up by a stage driver and two of his passengers was reported to the Sheriff's office last night by R. J. Wenet of 2211 Periete Heights and W. C. Carner of 2803 East Sixth street. The men said they took the stage on Third street between Spring and Broadway, intending to go to Culver City. A short distance out of town they were held up by the driver and two men in the car, who took $6 from Carner. They were then forced to leave the car, which sped back in the direction of town.

RICHARDSON COMES TO SOUTHLAND AID ON APPORTIONMENT

BY KYLE D. PALMER
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—In unequivocal language Gov. Richardson today declared himself in favor of a reapportionment of representation in the State Legislature that will comply strictly with the State constitution.

Two years ago the Governor, then State Treasurer, made an exhaustive study of the reapportionment question based on the census of 1920. At that time he announced that "apportionment is mainly a matter of mathematics." He said today that no arguments have been advanced to cause him to change his opinion.

"The constitution is specific in its requirements concerning reapportionment and in the obligation its places upon the Legislature to reapportion the eighty Assembly and forty Senatorial districts as nearly equal in population as may be," he said, "and the constitution should be obeyed."

UNAFFECTED BY JEALOUSY

Gov. Richardson is not interested in the reapportionment problem from a personal standpoint. Unlike his predecessor, Gov. Stephens, who carefully avoided the issue two years ago, the new Governor regards reapportionment as a subject requiring straightforward action and a solution unhampered by sectional jealousy or politics.

"Those who are not satisfied with the constitution," he said, "should submit a constitutional amendment to the people for settlement, but until the constitution is changed by the people it should be observed to the letter.

"I have taken an oath to observe the constitution and the laws and I propose to keep it. The Legislature is charged with the same responsibility and its members have taken the same oath."

In his reapportionment plan prepared in January, 1921, Gov. Richardson proposed a redistricting of legislative representation calculated to increase the Los Angeles-county Assembly delegation from fifteen, as at present constituted, to twenty-one, and to give the county two new Senatorial districts.

POPULATION DIVISIONS

For the purpose of showing the trend of population gains in California during the decade from 1910 to 1920, Mr. Richardson in his statement two years ago divided the State into "Seven natural divisions" and, useing returns for the Federal census of 1920, listed the population in the divisions as follows:

Southern California—1,346,963.
Bay District—1,069,453.
Mountain counties—89,756.
Central coast counties—89,137
North coast counties—142,942.
Sacramento Valley—265,755.
San Joaquin Valley—42,846.

Dividing the total population of these division by the eighty Assembly districts he obtained a population unit of 42,846 for each Assembly district and arrived at the following program of reapportionment for the eight Southern California counties: Imperial, one; Orange, one; Riverside, one; San Bernardino, two; San Diego, three; Santa Barbara, one; Ventura, one, and Los Angeles, twenty-one. This plain is in strict accordance with the constitution and provides an increase of six members in the Los Angeles county delegation, adds an Assembly district in San Diego county and leaves the other southern districts undisturbed.

In a statement accompanying this proposed reapportionment Mr. Richardson said: "Apportionment is mainly a matter of mathematics, as the constitution provides that the districts must be as near equal as may be. Persons ineligible for citizenship must be eliminated. The total population of the State, less these ineligibles, divided by the eighty districts, gives the average

Bastrop Telephone Operator Asserts Leader of Klan Tried to Halt Wire Service

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BASTROP (La.) Jan. 23.—The name of Capt. J. K. Skipwith, Exalted Cyclops of the Morehouse parish, Ku Klux Klan, again figured prominently in testimony given today at the State's open hearing into operations of masked men in the parish that culminated August 24, in the kidnaping of Wat Daniel and T. F. Richard of Mer Rouge, whose bodies were found December 22 in Lake La Fourche.

Miss Lillian Wellenman, a telephone operator in the Bastrop exchange, testified Capt. Skipwith had requested her not to handle any calls between Bastrop and Mer Rouge but she said she could not remember the date of the request.

Miss Wellenman previously had explained that Mer Rouge is on a direct line with Bastrop.

The kidnaping of Daniel and Richard occurred on the Mer Rouge Highway and witnesses have testified the telephone wires at the scene had been cut and were trailing on the ground. The kidnaping took place shortly before 7 p.m. and the staff of Atty.-Gen. Coco assumes the lines were severed after Miss Wellenman in effect had refused to hold up calls between Mer Rouge and Bastrop.

Capt. Skipwith also was men-

AMERICA'S HANDS TIED IN EUROPE

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The administration, it was authoratively disclosed today, stands pat on its present policy of noninterference in the European reparations entanglement, and will adhere to this attitude until some opportunity develops that affords reasonable anticipation of helpful results.

Answering Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, an administration spokesman declared that this government had no basis for protest against French occupation of the Ruhr before January 9, because France had kept secret any intention of a military occupation. Furthermore the administration holds that any protest now would only accentuate a tense situation, exasperating either France or Germany, and incapacitate the United States for helpfulness in the future.

ALLIED WAR DEBTS

In all consideration of the situation, the administration has been restrained from intervention by the Allied debts to the United States which Europe thinks should be canceled and which this government steadfasly maintains should not be surrendered.

Words in such a time as this, the administration insists, are utterly ineffective and those who think that it will do any good for the United States to utter protests and propose high-sounding panaceas are indulging in dreams.

The United States government, it was stated in a responsible quarter, has done nothing more than to offer the suggestion of an advisory expert commission because it has been impossible to make any other suggestion without injuring rather than helping the situation.

Since last August, when the reparations issue became acute, it was explained, there never has been a time when it has been possible for the calling of an international conference in which the United States could have participated because the hands of this government were tied on the question of the Allied debts.

KEPT PLANS SECRET

Furthermore, it was stated that the suggestion that the United States had been in a position to protest against the French occupation of the Ruhr, implied the existence of a condition that there was something to protest about. This, the administration holds to be an entirely mistaken idea for the reason that France, up to January 9, had never disclosed that she intended to use her army against Germany to enforce the collection of reparations.

Not only did France keep secret from the United States her plan for a military expedition in the Ruhr, it was contended, but until the very eve of the occupation movement the French government absolutely disclaimed any intention of a permanent occupation of prostrating Germany or creating a situation like that of Alsace-Lorraine under German rule. The French, it was declared, had stated that they merely wished to collect their reparations under proper supervision.

Even if the American government had thought of protesting there would scarcely have been opportunity, so expeditiously was the whole matter carried out, and the fact that Italy at first co-operated with the French and later ineffectively sought the intervention of Great Britain, indicates that up to the last moment the Italian government was not clear as to the real nature of the occupational enterprise. Previous to the actual embarkation of the French upon the military occupation, it was contended, there had been absolute disclaimers of all possible acts which might have furnished ground for protest.

Under the situation that has now developed the administration believes that if it does anything it must do something that will be helpful and not harmful, and up to the present moment officials hold that there is no opportunity for anything more than has been done without making the situation worse.

WOULD BLAME AMERICA

If the United States should make a gesture toward France the French would claim that the Germans had thereby been stiffened in their resistance and if the Ruhr expedition fails they would blame the United States for its failure.

On the other hand, if the United States should assume a course which the French could interpret as encouragement the feeling of exasperation in Germany would be heightened. Either way no good would be done and the United States would be incapacitated for helpfulness in the future.

FRANCE DECIDES TO DRAW CORDON AROUND DISTRICT

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The French Cabinet decided tonight to put into effect immediately measures to isolate the Ruhr from the rest of Germany. These measures, which will result in the attaching of the Ruhr to France and Belgium economically and the creation of an autonomous buffer state along the Rhine, follow:

First—The establishment of an Allied customs cordon along the eastern fringe of all occupied territory.

Second — The creation of a Rhineland franc to be guaranteed by the German state income in the Ruhr. As this practically means the inflation of the French franc, it is possible that some marks will be specially stamped.

Third—French control and censorship of the postal service and telegraph and telephone communications between the Ruhr and the rest of Germany.

WILL FEED PEOPLE

Fourth—Take responsibility for the feeding of the 3,000,000 inhabitants of the Ruhr, which is a necessary result of the isolation.

Fifth—Supervision of the rail and water transportation systems in the Ruhr by French experts and gradually to make them conform with the French and Belgian transportation systems.

Sixth — The appointment of a governor-general to direct both the military and civil authorities. He probably will be Gen. Mangin.

Seventh — Direct the industrial organization of the Ruhr to whatever extent is necessary.

Eighth—Import Polish miners to whatever extent is necessary.

Ninth—Stop coal deliveries into unoccupied Germany.

The reason for this vast operation is that it is the French Cabinet's conviction that the Berlin government is responsible for all the disturbances which have occurred in the Ruhr since the occupation and there will be no complete pacification of the area until all the authority and influences of Berlin are cut off.

PRESSURE ON RUHR BEGINS TO HURT REGIME OF BERLIN

BY HENRY WALES
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ESSEN, Jan. 23.—France's grip on the Ruhr is slowly tightening and strangling the industrial heart of Germany and it will force the German government to its knees and to agree to execute the reparations within from three to ten weeks, according to whether the strike in the occupied zone paralyzes the fatherland, is the consensus of opinion.

An investigation reveals that time is working steadily in favor of France and that Germany stands to lose most through the crippling of industry in the Ruhr.

Inter-Allied Commission on Way to Memel Aboard French Warships to Assert Control

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The Allies are about to learn how they stand with the Memelites and Lithuanians and how they are going to regain control of Memel and the internationalized River Russ which was intended to keep the port open for Poland as well as Lithuania. The answer to the Allies may be given in powder and shot.

On Wednesday or Thursday a French gunboat will steam up to Memel Harbor under the protection of the guns of a French cruiser. On board will be the Inter-Allied Commission dispatched by the Ambassadors' Council—English and Italian. The commission's president, Mr. Clinchant, will not force matters. If his colleagues get a hostile reception he will not endeavor to land, but will return to Danzig and report to the ambassadors.

"The actual situation," Mr. Clinchant said while on a train from Paris, "is the result, the Lithuanians claim, of the Ambassadors' Council delaying its decision in regard to the future status of the government of this district, which has 150,000 persons, of whom perhaps a majority are Lithuanians and the rest of German origin. However, Lithuania was recognized by the ambassadors on Dec. 14, 1922, so the delay has not been excessive.

Forty Taken in Gambling Raid

A raiding squad consisting of Federal officers, Venice and Santa Monica police arrested more than forty men found in a building in the rear of Moonlight Gardens, a cafe on Washington Boulevard near Culver City, last night. They were charged with gambling.

The officers visited the place in search of liquor and were armed with search warrants for that purpose. No liquor was found, but well-patronized games of craps and poker were in progress, according to the officers, who reported that the place was equipped as a complete gambling resort.

A bond of $5000 was fixed for the entire list of prisoners, and the man in charge of the resort promised to furnish the amount. The defendants will be given a hearing tomorrow.

The cafe proper was not molested by the squad.

BOND TAX PLAN PASSES HOUSE

Constitutional Amendment Resolution Vote is 223-101

All Proposed Additions Are Unceremoniously Dropped

Republican Opposition and Democratic Support Even

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. — The Green resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution which would prohibit further issuance of tax-exempt securities was adopted tonight by the House.

The proposal, which had been urged by President Harding and Secretary Mellon, was put through after an unusually bitter all-day wrangle by a margin of seven votes. Passage of the resolution required a two-thirds vote, and the roll call stood 223 to 101.

Republicans opposing it and Democrats supporting it split about even. Twenty-three Democrats joined the administration leaders. Twenty-four Republicans broke away from party lines and voted against it. The measure now goes to the Senate, but some House leaders privately expressed the opinion that not much chance of its enactment at this session existed.

Amendments were offered by the score, but they were knocked out with little ceremony after a half-hour fight over the improper use of two commas in the text of the resolution.

Representative Green of Iowa, ranging Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, who drafted the proposal, and Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democratic committeeman, took charge of the fight for the two sides. The argument swung around the oft-repeated statements that the measure was designed to prevent rich men seeking a tax-free haven and that it was an invasion of the right of the States to control their own credit.

Representative Moore, Democrat, Virginia, tried to get in an amendment making the law inoperative unless ratified within five years, and Representative London, Socialist, New York, offered one which would make it effective if ratified, in 1945. Both were rejected.

The principal fight was over Mr. Greene's amendment, which he explained was designed to prevent the levying of a prohibitive tax on State bonds, or the imposition of a higher tax on income from State bonds than that levied on income from other sources. Without discussion the House refused to exempt Federal farm loan and joint stock land bank bonds.

tioned by Puckett Mason and Roy Broadnax, of Gallion, both of whom attended the celebration here August 24.

Mason said Capt. Skipwith "was walking around talking to various men who were strangers to me." The witness said Skipwith "would walk up to a man and say something, then look at us." Capt. Skipwith did this several times, he testified, and he said to Richard: "I guess the Ku Klux are up to something."

Richard replied: "They don't want me; they had me last week."

The testimony of Broadnax was similar to that of Mason.

Clarence Teegerstrom, brother of Harold Teegerstrom, timekeeper at the plant of the Southern Carbon Company of Spyker, who disappeared the night of December 29 and for whom both the State and Department of Justice agents have been searching, testified to receiving a note from his brother January 12. Teegerstrom said he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan, having joined the organization the first of this month.

The letter from his brother, he testified, bore an uncancelled 2-cent stamp and was handed to him by Dean Ashcraft, who said it had been taken from the mailbox of the carbon company by S. I. Bennett, superintendent.

Harold's communication assured Clarence that he was all right and would be on hand when the State wanted him as a witness, and that he would testify for Mr. Jeff. Teegerstrom explained Mr. Jeff was T. Jeff Burnett, now at liberty under $5000 bail on a murder charge in connection with the Daniel-Richards case.

R. C. Carter, night policeman at Bonita, said that while on duty the night of August 24 he saw an automobile arrive at Bonita about 3 o'clock in the morning. Jim Harp and Jap Jones alighted, he said.

W. H. Heart of Gallion testified that about January 5 Harp had told him he would kill anyone who testified he had been seen to get out of a car with Jones at Bonita.

Judge Odom asked if Harp's statement had been made since the hearing had got under way.

"It was about the time the hearing began," Heart replied.

Rev. Dr. L. N. Holmes, a Baptist minister, testified he spent the night of August 24 at the home of Newt Gray. The minister said so far as he knew Gray did not return home that night, but he saw him the next morning, and, having learned of the kidnaping the night before at Church, had twitted Gray and had expressed the hope that he was not a member of the hooded band.

Gray, he said, made no comment, but said he was not held up on the highway, as were many citizens, explaining that the kidnaping had been abandoned when he arrived at the scene on his return to Bastrop.

The hearing proceeded slowly. The list of witnesses is nearly exhausted.

It was officially announced tonight by Atty.-Gen. Coco that the hearing would be concluded tomorrow. He and his staff of assistants made reservations tonight for their return to New Orleans tomorrow afternoon.

The detachment of cavalry brought here several weeks ago to relieve infantry and machine-gun troops prepared to leave for Jennings, its home station.

GERMANY GROWS MORE INSOENT

sentiment in favor of coming to an understanding with France than is publicly admitted. The leader showed a letter from Deputy Reynauld of the French chamber, who proposed a 25 per cent participation in the big German industries. Despite the declaration, representatives of the iron and steel industries asserted that not a single industrial would negotiate with France before the evacuation of the Ruhr.

Directors of the Ruhr mines supported the latter view in a new resolution wherein it was announced that "further arrests will not prevent us from obeying the orders of our government. If the occupation authorities think they can scare us into obedience they are biting granite."

The Deutsche Allgemeine Wirtschafts Verband Union, comprising German labor unions on one side and leading industrial leaders, including Hugo Stinnes, on the other, voted today to devote one hour's wages or profits daily to finance workers and others suffering through refusing to obey French orders in the Rhur or who are striking or carrying out other manifestations of passive resistance. This is expected to raise more than 20,000,000,000 marks monthly for the Ruhr sufferers.

There was a rift in the complacency of the Foreign Office today when information from the Ministry of Construction was received that England intends to cancel its contract for the delivery of coal to Germany. The report stated that England officially was basing its move on the ground that delivery of coal to Germany was disloyal to its ally, but the real reason is that France also is buying large orders but on better terms.

The newspapers throughout the country have begun a campaign for funds for the Ruhr population. A Munich paper after the first day of its appeal gave 1,000,000,000 marks. This is an example of what the others are doing.

QUEST IN TOMB IS NEARING END

Pharaoh Treasures Taken From Outer Section

Excavators to Open Sealed Chamber Soon

Few Historical Data Have Been Found

BY ARTHUR WEIGALE

[Copyright, 1923, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

LUXOR (Egypt) Jan. 23.—Excavators at the tomb of Pharaoh Tutenkhamun, who lived in regal splendor 3270 years ago, had a day's rest today, no work being done on the tomb. I have been out all day in company with Engelbach, who succeeded me as inspector-general of antiquities, and made a long tour of the whole Theban necropolis. I was much struck by the amount of work both in excavation and conservation carried out under his direction.

As we rode along the sunbaked embankment which serves as a road to the necropolis we encountered a rolling and bumping Ford car, the first ever seen on this ancient soil, which proved to contain an excavating party, Mr. Carter, Mr. Burton and Mr. Lucas, on their jolting way down to the river to spend a quiet day at the Winter Palace Hotel, on the other side of the Nile. On their return at sunset I met them again, surrounded by an admiring crowd of tourists and about to bolt back to the peace of their houses among the desert hills.

ANTIQUITIES REMOVED

Mr. Carter tells me he had a most difficult time keeping inquisitive visitors at arms length, but I hear he has kept his temper admirably in often trying circumstances.

Most antiquities from the main chamber have now been removed to the workshop and the way is nearly clear for the opening—soon after Lord Carnarvon's arrival this week-end—of the sealed chamber where the royal mummy may lie. Besides this chamber there is another side room full of boxes, furniture, and musical instruments, but these are not being disturbed at present.

What the sealed chamber contains is a subject of excited speculation and excavators are wondering whether Tutenkhamun alone, or his predecessor Smenkhkara, is also there, for the latter's name occurs, though not prominently, in inscriptions found. Most of the inscribed objects give only the names of Tutenkhamun and his queen, but the queen is unlikely to be found because she was still a girl at her husband's death. On the other hand, three great state couches found in the tomb suggest three burials and there are more than one of other objects.

TOMB WAS ROBBED

The tomb undoubtedly has been robbed and a few years later closed by priests or necropolis officials and these pious personages have evidently gathered up the royal linen and ornaments scattered about by thieves and crammed them back hurriedly into boxes and caskets.

There is a general feeling of disappointment so far that the tomb has not provided much new historical information but all agree that artistically, many of the objects are astonishing. Mr. Carter is a very tired man and as he left the Terrace Hotel, where the band was playing and fair ladies were sipping tea, to return to those silent Theban hills which rose hazy and mysterious out of the sunset across the Nile he told me he wished the job was finished.

TURKS GIVEN ANOTHER PROD

tives whether the identity of American rights is associated with a commercial or any other American interest.

Ambassador Child concluded by saying that Lord Curzon's reference to a certain corporation afforded an opportunity to suggest that where there were conflicting claims already in existence concerning legal rights to resources some means should be provided for a juridical settlement of these rights which would give complete assurance of impartiality.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS

He held that such impartiality could not be provided for specifically in advance, but that under a general principle the interested parties should be satisfied as to the impartiality of the juridical determination at the time of the reference of the conflicting claims.

The British spokesman said tonight that Lord Curzon would undoubtedly send his communication in time for its consideration at the next meeting of the council of the League in Paris, which is set for January 29. They called attention to Curzon's words that if the Turkish government declined the council's invitation to state its case, then the League would probably place in operation all the penalties that exist for such emergencies. These are of an economic nature, and bind the League to boycott Turkey.

The League of Nations has never adopted definite rules for a blockade; each member is practically its own judge as to whether to institute a blockade or not.

WILL CONTINUE LABORS

The British added that the latest developments seemed to them distinctly unfavorable for the success of the Lausanne conference. The conference, however, will continue its labors, and the Turks will later be presented with the draft treaty, in which, according to the British, there will be a clause providing that the Mosul question be submitted to the League. Unless the Turks change their mind, this will be sufficient for them to refuse to sign the treaty. Then, as Lord Curzon said tonight, there may be a renewal of war in the Near East.

VICTORY FOR FRANCE SEEN

severe penalties may result in a strike by 250,000 miners while leniency probably will maintain the passive resistance—the French stand to win in the deal as their hold on the industries means the bottling up of the Ruhr and the cutting off from the rest of Germany of fuel, iron and steel.

The cessation of the mining prevents France from seizing coal and coke, which closes the Lorraine blast furnaces, but France has stored up enough fuel to continue during the winter.

The only fly in the ointment is the possibility of the United States' intervention.

The French fear that the Germans believe that if a general strike is accomplished, with the cutting off of the Ruhr's supply of foodstuffs and resulting in clashes between the famishing miners and troops in which the women and children would suffer, America might protest and this action could not be ignored.

DECLARE BARGAIN MADE

Certain Germans insist, however, that Premier Poincare has reached a bargain with Washington to ratify the naval treaties in exchange for a hands-off policy in the Ruhr while France is attempting to find a final solution for the reparations problem. It is pointed out that Wilhelmstrasse has not obtained the slightest expression of opinion from the Washington administration since the occupation of the Ruhr.

It is conceded everywhere that the Ruhr occupation is little more than a political question affecting France, but is a most vital economic problem concerning Germany as the coal supplying 70 per cent of the German state railways' needs is mined here. Even with the strictest economy there will not be enough coal on hand shortly to keep the trains moving, the streets illuminated by gas and electricity and industry operating in the unoccupied territory if the Ruhr production is cut off.

RING OF BAYONETS

The French admit they have only seized the smallest quantities of coal and coke thus far. They explain that they are preparing their elaborate arrangements to control every outlet to the Ruhr, which will require a ring of bristling bayonets as well as officials, and take control of outgoing shipments or to turn back trains and barges to France. Furthermore, the French explain that they wish Berlin to have time to accede to their reparations demands before applying the sternest measures.

Threats of strikes leave the French cold whereas the operators are fearful of seeing their properties closed and wrecked since the Berlin government has assumed responsibility for paying the wages of the miners. The owners realize that tremendous losses will be entailed by the closing of the mines, even for a few weeks, as water would have to be pumped out and rusted machinery replaced before the vast organization of the works could be put in operation again.

The attitude of the owners has not changed since the French will provide sufficient skilled labor to continue the operations if the higher class of technical workers walk out.

The miners generally hesitate to strike, fearing that a complete tie up of the works will result in the isolation of the Ruhr and prevent shipment of paper marks from Berlin which will result in the suspension of wages through the collapse of the company's organizations. The daily pay roll exceeds 2,000,000,000,000 paper marks —there are 600,00 miners and they average 3300 marks apiece daily.

The workers prefer to be assured of their wages without having to work hard under the present regime rather than striking and risking no payment and French machine guns if they protest too strenuously.

An indication of this was the sudden ending of the Dortmund rail strike when itwas seen that the action prevented the arrival of food supplies as well as the departure of coal.

Production in the Ruhr has decreased 30 per cent. When their organization is perfected it is expected that the French will seize most of the production, leaving Germany practically nothing except the upper Silesian mines whose output of 1,000,000 tons monthly will not be sufficient despite the 11 o'clock curfew for theaters, movies and restaurants.

The mines are awaiting the court-martialing of the magnates before deciding to strike.

According to whether they walk out, paralyzing the Ruhr or continue to work, gradually reducing the output and thus automatically restricting the fuel available to Germany, depends on how long Berlin will be able to hold out while the poilus are tightening their grip on the Ruhr and gradually throttling the nation.

THYSSEN MEN OUT IN STRIKE

dumped near Ludwigshafen awaiting French crews to take the barges to Strasbourg.

The Duesseldorf Nachrichten, which was suspended, will be permitted to resume publication on February 1, provided the editors enter into an understanding to refrain from printing articles criticising the French occupation forces.

The absolute necessity of transporting foodstuffs into the Ruhr to feed their compatriots is the main cause of the failure of the railway men's strike, as the French permitted it to be known that complete isolation of the Ruhr from the outside world would follow a general strike, and the railroaders would be responsible for famine and starvation. Up to the present the French have requisitioned no foodstuffs and have forbidden the soldiers even to buy provisions in the open market.

EPISCOPALIANS MEET IN THREE-DAY SESSION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MODESTO, Jan. 23. — Representatives of the Episcopal churches of the San Joaquin diocese, extending from Lodi to Bakersfield, gathered in Modesto today for their 1923 convention.

The convention will be in session for three days. Election of officers and the adoption of resolutions will be the principal business tomorrow.

THE MISTAKES OF THE KAISER

AN ANSWER TO THE KAISER'S MEMOIRS

BY RENE VIVIANI

Premier of France When the War Broke Out

XXXVIII.—AUTOCRACY—ANARCHY—DEMOCRACY

In accumulating upon the head of the Kaiser the tremendous and merited burden of crimes committed, one must see to it that history is not deflected from its true course; that, amid the huge mass of personal guilt for the war, collective and general guilt be not forgotten.

We are not saying this for the purpose of keeping alive hatred at a time when the concentration of the entire virile strength of the world is necessary for its salvation—our task, indeed, is to carry out the mission of the future, clear the way. And if—as we believe—the world is to be regenerated, it is for us to determine the moral and material role which Germany, now lying prostrate, is to play some day in that regenerated universe.

The responsibilities for the war are not the same nor of the same degree, and throughout Germany, there are strong elements which shared the moral and material leadership of the nation, but which, for a variety of reasons, are calling their share of the blame into question.

The capitalists, the men who had created a sort of commercial and industrial Pan-Germanism, stood around the Kaiser at the last moment. As they stand today, amid the misery of the German proletariat and the lower middle class, gazing upon their wealth placed in safety in foreign banks, they may say to themselves that they condemned their country to ruin and led it consciously to the downward path of war.

RUIN HIS AIM

To aim at dominating the world by ruining it; to ruin it by distributing at low prices the products of German industrial activity; to recoup the losses occasioned by such sales by the high prices charged at home—all this is equivalent to condemning the mass of men not only to forced labor, but to labor bound to bring them to impoverishment and bankruptcy. In fact, the more Germany produced (and how splendid were the prewar statistics telling of the magnificent but illusory results achieved by her!) the more she lost in foreign countries whose competition she hoped to crush, in order that she might, after this competition had been killed or weakened, be the supreme ruler of a ruined world.

From this dream only two awakenings were possible: either Germany must hold firm until her competitors had been exterminated, whereupon she could take their place and raise prices, or else she must perish in her attempt, which she was bound to do if her rivals resisted, managed to survive, defended themselves—for instance, by raising, against economic invasions, the barrier of customs duties.

In 1913 the second alternative began to loom up as the more probable before the worried and far-seeing eyes of German manufacturers. From that day they set their gaze upon war—that is, upon easy and prompt victory, upon economic and colonial conquests, upon the seizure, doubtless, of our Northern Africa, that jewel of the Mediterranean, and a formidable rival. Her Von Bethmann-Hollweg, in his talk with the British Ambassador on July 29, made himself the spokesman of German industrial interests. Of course, such seizures as those outlined above would have been the minimum.

STRONG POSITION

Germany's position in the world was admirable. Commercially, she was colonizing civilized countries by her banks and her business firms, even going so far as to lend a foreign appearance superficially to what was, in reality, something quite German, though hidden inside the offices of these German outposts. At the last moment capitalism at bay sought to save itself through war. That was the fateful moment. Capitalism, rallying to the support of the idea of waging war, advanced the hour of the militarists.

The latter had been ready fifty years and more. The dream of old Moltke had been to sow the seeds of permanent conflict between France and Germany, by seizing Alsace-Lorraine and making an open wound, and since peaceful France, though forgetting nothing, demanded nothing, and gave proof of her sound good sense, there was much to be done before war could be brought about.

So war plans were hatched; murderous designs plotted; discipline carried to extremes; the army systematically increased from 1905 onward; an entire network of railways built converging upon the French frontier; Luxemburg subjugated; Belgium condemned to death simply and solely because she existed, and an ultimatum launched on July 26, 1914, in cold blood, in the very midst of peace. But why recall what the world will not forget; that frightful irruption of the German soldiery?

SPUR ON MILITARISM

This irruption was backed all through last century, all through this century, ever since 1870, even after 1918, by the authority emanating from the German universities. If there is ferment in the barracks, if soldiers are conscious of having been born for battle, then it is the business of the universities to spur them on. Never before was any nation brought to ruin by such an outburst of savage hatred, of bestial frenzy, of cynical provocation. For the honor of the human mind, indeed, one must refrain from telling or reading the whole story over again.

German philosophy set about to justify violence and murder, provided they were committed collectively; it sought to condone violation of treaties, setting up a special code of morality which poisoned an entire nation. Such was the terrible crime of that epoch of German history.

Social democracy did not play its role, that splendid role vouchsafed by their very mission, to those aiming at leading the proletariat toyard a peaceful and invigorating future. German social democracy should not be judged either on he day of war nor on the eve of war. It tolerated everything, acquiesced in everything, and, though buttressed with a press of its own, controlling hosts of ballots, swaying the vote of nearly four millions of Germans, it failed to see that the internal force of autocracy would destroy it—or, even though it saw, it was powerless to prevent it.

KAISER SUPREME

To be sure, now and then—the day after the Zabern affair, for instance—it protested but it did not take up an impregnable position. Which explains why Kautsky, questioned in 1913 at Dresden by Jaures, told the French Socialist in order to leave him absolutely without illusions: "Do not count upon my comrades in case of an attack upon France." And I have also heard an older and more ominous saying of old Bebel, uttered in 1904, at Amsterdam. Jaures asked him what the good was of millions of votes piled up in ballot boxes, what use the German Socialists could make of these against an autocratic government thinking of leading them to war. Bebel replied: "The Kaiser is above classes."

One's country is above classes—but the Emperor . . .! Bebel's words show how the Germans deliberately acquiesced in their absorption by one man as something legitimate—nor was it absorption by a man risen from among themselves, but by a monarch imposed upon them! How could German Social Democracy reconcile this doctrine of political enslavement with the doctrine which it held, at the some time, of liberation of the economic world?

And now? No longer is the Kaiser above classes. And it is said that Scheidemann, Undersecretary of State in 1918, announcing the Kaiser's abdication to the people, said—in words which I have not as yet been able to verify: "The German people have won all along the line; the old rottenness has fallen away of itself, the era of militarism is past, the Hohenzollerns have abdicated!" Which is all very well—but what is the result to be?

TREATY ACCEPTED

The treaty of peace was accepted by Germany, after nearly a year of debate, and she renewed this acceptance through the Reichstag vote of March 10, 1921. The treaty is severe, she says, and yet it does not impose upon the vanquished the costs of the war, though France had them imposed upon her in 1871, and, owing to this, profound financial and economic disorders still unsettle the Allied nations, crushed under the arrears of their debts.

What of the French occupation of the Rhineland? Well, for three years forty-five of the French departments were occupied, nor did the German troops evacuate them until the war indemnity had been paid.

What of the indemnity exacted from Germany? Is it not too heavy? I am not going to immerse myself in calculations, now that time has elapsed and the value of money has diminished, but it seems that, comparing thewar of 1870 with the great war in duration, scope, cruelty and cost in men and material things, the 5,000,000,000 francs of 1870 are, proportionately, an enormous sum compared with the sums of today.

Moreover, have the Germans thought about the damage caused? Let us set aside the dead, and speak only of things and of the living.

DAMAGE GERMANS DID

Ten French departments, representing, because of their industrial, mining, agricultural and commercial wealth, one-half or, at least, one-third of the wealth of France, have been destroyed and pillaged. Even the very tools have been smashed; the very horses and cattle, the very garments of the inhabitants, have been carried away into Germany. When French soldiers, natives of this part of France—peasants, laborers, industrial workers, owners—returned to his region, what did they find?—nothing but a desert, nothing but death!—anarchy even among the ruins!

Germany ought to pay. She has systematically brought herself to ruin as a nation, organizing her own bankruptcy. During this time France, who had borrowed money for her defense, has borrowed money to rebuild herself. During four years she has spent, for Germany's account, 95,000,000,000 francs, on rebuilding her ruins and paying the pensions of her widows and crippled soldiers.

And what of the German soldier? He returned home to find his home untouched, the factory still standing, the fields unimpaired. It is France who pays—though Germany is guilty and vanquished. It is impossible to look on at this spectacle with indifferent eyes.

LIBERTY HAS DAWNED

The Allies presented humanity with the immense gift of millions of soldiers who overthrew autocracy. The ancient dream of disarmament comes every day nearer to reality, and we should be closer to its realization if Germany, tortured like a volcano, did not still wrap her plans in mystery, if she were not still subject, in her condition of uncertainty, to sudden convulsions.

The reparations demanded by history have been paid. Upon the ruins of autocracy, liberty has dawned for little nations. But security is lacking. France is calling for it; France, who, as always, is hostile to conquests, to wars, to adventures. But all this cannot be brought about unless there be in Germany men who think and have the power to make others think.

Economically, the situation is still serious. The fall of the mark is a brutal fact. But one must not allow it to be said that this all is a result of the treaty of peace, and I believe that even in Germany there are writers who admit this no more than we French do.

The day after the Armistice and the day after the signing of the peace treaty the condition of the mark was quite different. What has happened?

First, there has been speculation in the mark; it has been purchased below its normal value with the idea of forcing it upward and closing such hazardous ventures by pocketing a profit. German financiers, together with others in other countries, acted thus, and the result was terrible: the mark fell, and, when its fall had definitely set in, it was accelerated by the dumping on the world's money market of depreciated marks which had been held back for profitable speculation.

ANOTHER REASON

And there is yet another reason: during the war Germany developed her industrial equipment, fortified her industries, which have lost nothing. Hence, she had in hand big reserves, which we lacked, as did also the other nations attacked. Counting upon improvement of conditions and hoping to accelerate them by exports, Germany multiplied her exports. Resorting, as she had done in earlier years, to excessive dumping, Germany, already weak, has weakened herself more, just as a strong Germany would also have weakened itself. She dumped her products upon the world, leaving in foreign lands the money accruing from these operations. STANDARD OIL DENIES RUMOR

Gulf Corporation Acquisition Report Hit

Senate Committee Told of Company Earnings

Witnesses Assert Profits Are Not Excessive

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Inauguration by the Senate Oil Investigating Committee today of its examination of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was marked by a denial of the recently current reports that the Standard company was negotiating for the acquisition of the Gulf Oil Corporation.

Robert W. Stewart of Chicago, chairman of the board of the Standard of Indiana, was asked concerning the reports in the course of a detailed interrogation as to operations of his company, and in reply asserted positively that "there are no negotiations."

Mr. Stewart indicated that his company, one of the largest in the Standard corporations, would like to acquire the Gulf corporation, but said he did not know whether a proposition could be arranged satisfactory to both and that "it remains to be seen whether I can get the Gulf to see things my way."

The Standard of Indiana and the Gulf are not competing companies.

The examination of the Standard of Indiana, which was conducted today exclusively through Mr. Stewart, consisted in the presentation of figures as to stock and cash dividends, net earnings and surplus, both before and since the Supreme Court decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company became effective in 1911. The figures produced showed that the Standard of Indiana since its divorce from the parent corporation and up to the end of 1922 had paid approximately $89,560,000 in cash dividends, in addition to two stock dividends aggregating 250 per cent.

The profits of the Standard of Indiana were held not to be excessive by Mr. Stewart during an interchange with Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, one of the committee members. Senator Brookhart pointed to the list of dividend declarations and suggested they be compared with the profits of the farmers of the country in the last two or three years.

Mr. Stewart, replying, said he did not believe that "there is a big business man in the country today who thinks the farmers have received a square deal," and that he, having been born and raised on the farm, sympathized with the farmers fully but that in his opinion the farmers made more money during the war than the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

PIG EYEBALL GRAFT IS MADE

Unusual Operation Tried to Save Sight of Youth

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PATERSON (N. J.) Jan. 23.—Parts of the eyeball of a six-months-old pig today were grafted on a human eye by Dr. Edward B. Morgan of this city, and three assistants in an effort to restore sight to Albert Lemanowicz, 18, of Lyndhurst, blinded in a Fourth of July fireworks explosion.

During the operation, which lasted forty minutes and which was performed with the use of only a local anaesthetic, four stitches were made in the human eye.

RAILROAD MERGER HEARINGS SUSPENDED

WITNESS SPEAKS AGAINST PROPOSED SANTA FE UNIFICATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission on possible mergers of western railroad systems which may result from the government's plan for general rail consolidation were suspended temporarily today, but will be resumed on dates and at places which the commission will announce later. Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and J. E. Gorman, president of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, were among the witnesses heard at the final session.

Inclusion of the Colorado and Southern system along with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe lines in one of the greatest rail mergers suggested by tentative plans of the commission, Mr. Holden said, might have the effect of reducing competition in railroad service in southwestern areas. The Colorado and Southern, he pointed out, would also be divorced from the Burlington, whose lines would be thrown into one of the northern railroad mergers contemplated.

Mr. Gorman declared that assuming consolidations were eventually carried through, the Rock Island could well be attached to the Southern Pacific system, as the commission plan has proposed. While his road was not urging consolidation, he added, in case the plan should be put through, Wabash railroad lines west of Chicago should be added to the Southern Pacific and Rock Island consolidation to make it a railroad unit able to compete and serve transportation users, as well as the other great systems beside which it would be located after the mergers.

MANY BUILDERS ARE EXPECTED

Leaders in Field Coming Here for Convention

Sessions to Begin Monday; Last One Week

Delegates' Special Train to be Met at Riverside

More than 500 of the nation's builders, members of the Associated General Contractors of America, will assemble in Los Angeles next week to attend the national convention of the association, which will be in session from Monday morning, the 29th inst., until Saturday evening, February 3. From all parts of the United States men prominent in the building industry, the largest single industry in the country, will come to view Southern California, and to make plans for a bigger and better year in 1923.

On Sunday afternoon, the 28th inst., a special train from Chicago will arrive at Riverside. Prominent Los Angeles contractors, including among their number Arthur S. Bent, of Bent Brothers, incumbent president of the organization, will meet the train at Riverside, where an informal reception will be held.

On arrival at Los Angeles, as many of the delegates as possible will be established at the Clark Hotel, the convention headquarters. The general sessions will be held at the Philharmonic Auditorium, which has been obtained for the week.

WILL SUCCEED BENT

Among the prominent contractors who will attend the meeting will be John W. Cowper, president of John W. Cowper Company of Buffalo, N. Y. Mr. Cowper is slated to succeed Mr. Bent as chief executive of the organization. W. E. Wood of Detroit, Mich., who was originally intended as Mr. Bent's successor, was recently killed in an automobile accident.

The program has not been definitely arranged, but matters of interest on a wide variety of subjects will be discussed by competent authorities. Among the subjects which will be taken up will be standard contract forms, relations with highway officials, the work of the National Board of Jurisdictional Awards, and the American Construction Council, and the work of the National Chamber of Commerce. Legislation affecting immigration and day labor will be given special consideration, as will also ways and means of meeting construction problems.

For the ladies a special program has been arranged which will furnish a wide range of entertainment for the wives and daughters of the delegates. The ladies' program will open Monday afternoon with a reception at the Hotel Clark, and in the evening a dinner to wives of members of the executive board, the advisory board, and presidents of associated organizations will be held at the Elite.

PLAN AUTO DRIVES

On the following days the ladies will be taken on automobile drives through Pasadena, San Pedro, Long Beach, Beverly Hills and other near-by communities. Wednesday afternoon they will be the guests of Col. Tilton at Fort MacArthur, and on Friday afternoon they will be guests of Fred Miller at the California Theater.

Among prominent figures in the industry, who are expected to attend are Gen. R. C. Marshall, general manager of the association; G. W. Buchholz, secretary; Leonard C. Wason, president of the Aberthaw Construction Company of Boston; E. G. Holladay, president of E. G. Holladay Construction Company, Nashville, Tenn.; Sumner Sollitt, president Sumner Sollitt Company, Chicago; J. H. Ellison, vice-president Winston-Dear Company, Minneapolis, Minn.; Edward Haupt, president Strobel Steel Construction Company, Chicago, Ill.; W. E. Wood, president W. E. Wood Company, Detroit, Mich.; Stanley D. Moore, president Moore-Young Construction Company, Waterloo, Iowa, and others.

Turks Demand Plebiscite in Mosul Dispute

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LAUSANNE, Jan. 23.—Turkey today demanded that disposition of Mosul, which Great Britain holds under mandate of the League of Nations, be settled by a plebiscite.

Ismet Pasha, Turkish nationalist representative at the peace parley, informed Lord Curzon that the British plan of submitting the question of the rich oil region to the league was not acceptable to his government.

The Turkish delegate stated that Great Britain wanted to keep Mosul because of large stores of oil in the territory.

Lord Curzon countered by saying that the question of oil has nothing to do with British demands, and that his country could not relinquish control of Mosul. Lord Curzon further stated that it is generally conceded it would be impossible for Great Britain to have a monopoly of the oil fields under the terms of the mandate.

Scenic Highway to Devil's Gate in Arroyo Seco

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 23.—A scenic highway through Arroyo Seco from Los Angeles to Devil's Gate is planned by the cities of Los Angeles, Pasadena and South Pasadena, and work on the Pasadena link will start in the near future, it was stated today by W. C. Earle, City Engineer.

The first work to be done, Mr. Earle stated, will be widening San Pasqual Road and lowering the grade from Brookside Park to Devil's Gate. This will be started when the city has completed the Brookside plunge.

Van Ess—A Scientific Scalp Treatment
For the Promotion of Hair Growth

Science proves that only 5 in every 100 need ever be bald. But thousands of men, and women, too, are greatly concerned by falling hair, which leads to baldness. This is positively unnecessary, for Van Ess, the new scientific liquid scalp massage, is all that is necessary to remove dandruff, stop itching scalp and grow new hair. Van Ess, through its scientifically designed applicator, goes to the roots of the hair. It cleans out the infected Sebum, which causes all of the trouble. Tones, cleanses and nurtures the hair roots, which still live, and in a short time develops a growth of new, healthy hair.

The Application

You can see from illustration that Van Ess is not a "tonic." It combines a massage and lotion in one treatment. Each package comes with a rubber massage cap. The nipples are hollow. Just invert the bottle, rub your head, and they automatically feed the lotion into the follicles of the scalp, where it does some good. At the same time the nipples give your scalp a massage.

The Manufacturer's Guarantee

The Van Ess treatment is guaranteed to stop falling hair in two weeks and to grow new hair in 90 days. If it fails, your money will be refunded without argument. The manufacturer supports The Owl Drug Co. in this guarantee.

CRYER APPEALS TO SOUTHLAND

Mayor Asks United Front to pel Reapportionment

Says Los Angeles is Not Only County Interested

City Hall Opinion Unanimous for Action

> City governments, civic societies, clubs and individuals in Southern California should address their letters or telegrams demanding our rights in reapportionment to their respective Senators and Assemblymen or to Senator Charles W. Lyon, chairman of the Southern California delegation at Sacramento, asking him to bring the matter to the attention of his colleagues.

Mayor Cryer yesterday issued an appeal to the officials and citizens of all Southern California cities and counties to join Los Angeles in her fight for fulfillment of the constitutional requirement that the Assembly representation shall be adjusted in accordance with the population as shown each ten years in the Federal census.

The Mayor pointed out that Los Angeles was not the only community whose population had increased enormously, and promises to continue to increase, and that while Los Angeles county now would profit most by the just equalization, other southern cities should join in the fight so as to prevent a recurrence of the present legislative blockade ten years hence, when, it is expected, the south generally will have outstripped the north in population gains in even a greater degree than the 1920 census shows.

OUTSIDE OF LOS ANGELES

Southern California outside of Los Angeles county, however, would get three more Assembly districts under a proper reapportionment by the present Legislature, which, like its 1921 predecessor, refuses to fulfill the constitutional requirement for no other reason than that the south, with her population gains, would profit to the detriment of the north, where progress in population has been so much less.

Los Angeles in particular and the south generally thus would continue, if the northern legislators have their way, to pay the lion's share of taxes based on property which increases in proportion to population without a proportionate increase in representation on a population basis, as specifically required in the State constitution and by the theory of American representative government. Los Angeles county, by the legal adjustment, would get six more Assemblymen, making a total of twenty-one, and two more Senators, totaling ten.

Mayor Cryer's appeal to the citizenry of the Southland outside of Los Angeles reads as follows:

"Other cities and counties should join Los Angeles in this fight for reapportionment. First, there can be no question about its being our legal right, within the letter and spirit of the California constitution, and also as a matter of common justice. Second, because the rest of California will profit by a just and legal reapportionment, now and in the future.

NUMBER NOT THE ISSUE

"That the legal reapportionment would give the other southern counties only three additional Assemblymen while giving this county six more Assemblymen and three more Senators is not the issue. The Southland cannot be so shortsighted. Los Angeles county is now making a fight for compliance with the very specific provisions of the constitution that the representation be in accordance with the population shown in the Federal census each ten years.

"Los Angeles is not the only fast-growing community in the south. If this matter can be settled now, it will doubtless be settled for all time, so that no future legislatures will dare attempt to block the functionings of constitutional government.

"In ten years San Diego or some other fast-growing city will, unless the present fight for reapportionment is won now, find herself in a similar position to that in which Los Angeles now stands. Our fight is not merely for our own rights. It is the fight of all the south, which is the fast-growing part of the State.

"I therefore solicit the support of all of our sister cities and counties and individuals generally in this battle for the very elemental rights of American citizenry."

The fight for reapportionment is attracting great interest at the City Hall, and opinion was unanimous among Los Angeles city officials that Los Angeles and the entire southern part of the State should be given a square deal by the Legislature. There was not a dissenting opinion expressed.

CONSTITUTION'S PROVISIONS

City Clerk Dominguez said: "The constitution expressly provides for reapportionment at this time, and it is unthinkable that legislators who take an oath to observe the constitution, should fail to carry out the constitutional provisions."

City Attorney Stephens and Deputy City Attorney Eberhart are now in Sacramento to take an active interest in all legislation of interest to Los Angeles, and they are expected to take a leading part in the battle for reapportionment.

Councilman Sparks said yesterday: "It will be a crying shame if reapportionment does not go through. It appears that legislators from the northern part of the State, jealous of our growth in population, are trying to flim-flam us out of our rights. All Southern California should resist these attempts and if we present a united front, we shall win our battle."

Similar opinions were expressed by Councilman Mushet and other members of the City Council.

W. T. Bishop, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, declared against the inequality of the county's representation in the Legislature and strongly protested against any possible compromise that would not give the county, and the Southland their just and constitutional rights.

"Southern California only asks for what is due us," Mr. Bishop said, "and for which we are entitled by the Constitution of the United States, in asking for reapportionment of the State. Los Angeles county has a valuation for taxation for county purposes of $1,500,000,000, a State total of fifty-eight counties of $5,000,000,000. Our county having a population of 1,250,000 out of the State population of 3,500,000, we have taxation without proportionate representation."

ENTITLED TO A CHANGE

Judge Arthur Keetch of the Superior Court, formerly deputy Attorney-General and private secretary to former Gov. Stephens, declared that Los Angeles county and Southern California were entitled to reapportionment under the constitution.

"It is not a question of compromise," Judge Keetch said. "It is not an issue that justifies a compromise. We are entitled to the full letter of the law and it is the duty of the Legislature to uphold and enforce the constitution."

Victor Rossetti, vice-president of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, said he was against any compromise with what is legally and constitutionally right.

"The constitution is explicit," Mr. Rossetti said. "The legislators took an oath to support the constitution. That they are violating their oath by refusing to grant to the south and other portions of the State their just and equitable representation is very apparent. We can't compromise on a question like this. Some legal recourse should be available in a case like this to compel the Legislature to act. The issue is a vital one; nothing should be left undone to get the Legislature to recognize the constitution."

MAKES PERSONAL CAMPAIGN

Victor Girard, community builder, is conducting a personal campaign to arouse his business associates to the necessity of action in forcing the Legislature to give Southern California its rights. In stressing the point that it is not only the fight of Los Angeles county, but also of all the south, Mr. Girard said yesterday:

"The eight counties of Imperial, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego, Santa Barbara, Ventura and Los Angeles pay more than 40 per cent of all State taxes, and have more than 40 per cent of the entire State's population, yet these eight counties have not nearly a 40 per cent representation in our State Assembly and Senate, and when we consider that Los Angeles county has 27 per cent of the State's population, and pays 30 per cent of the State's taxes, and when we further consider that this county has only eight out of forty Senators, and fifteen of eighty Assemblymen, it all seems like taxation without representation.

"I cannot fathom the purpose of any man who tries to stand between Southern California and its constitutional rights. They are not true Californians, but puppets in the hands of penny politicians. Our Southland's prosperity undoubtedly has incited jealousy in the hearts of citizens of the northern part of the State, but that should only resolve itself into a friendly rivalry, and not into a fight which will belittle this, the most broadly advertised State in the Union, in the sight of its sister commonwealths."

FLOOD RELIEF BILL SIGNED

Palo Verde Valley May Go Ahead With Bonds; Legislature Hits Drug Evil

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—One bill was made into law here late today when Gov. Richardson affixed his signature, approving Senator Eden's bill for the validation of flaws in the levee land law, so that the Palo Verde Valley of Riverside county may go ahead with its flood repair, work, and get a crop this season.

The bill was introduced in the Senate about a week ago, and as it carried an urgency clause and was unopposed it passed both houses by unanimous vote and went today to the Governor, who promptly signed it.

This was the first bill to be signed by the present Governor, and the first to pass both houses of the Legislature. There were numerous others on the way, however, as there have been 248 bills introduced in the Assembly, of which thirty-two were received today, and 114 in the Senate, of which twelve were received today.

Other than the introduction of bills, the brief sessions today were unproductive of results. Each house advanced some of its own urgency measures, and in the Assembly a resolution against the narcotic traffic by Erb of San Francisco, was adopted. Committee meetings occupied the afternoon and evening.

The Jones committee from the Senate, which has been organized to investigate the cost of campaigns for and against measures on the last general election ballot, organized and set a schedule for hearings. It also communicated an offer to Francis Heney of Santa Monica and San Francisco, asking him to serve as its counsel. Response from Mr. Heney had not been received tonight. The hearings of the committee will start tomorrow.

House committees scheduled for today met briefly. The Oil Industries Committee, which had a resolution to investigate the prices of oil and gasoline under consideration, adjourned its hearings until Monday to give independent refiners an opportunity to appear. The Assembly Committee on Commerce and Navigation gave its approval to a Senate bill for a tube from Oakland to Alameda, and passed it out for Assembly action tomorrow. The Highways Committee organized tonight.

Both houses adjourned until their usual hours tomorrow. Only routine work was in view for that time.

When A. E. Warmington, of Los Angeles, went into the executive office to get the Palo Verde Valley relief bill signed by the Executive, he took along a nice new gold pen, and a neat holder, to grace the occasion.

"I'm a bookkeeper," said the Governor, "and I never used a gold pen." Mr. Warmington suggested that, once used, it was a time saver, and the Executive was persuaded. He tried, but the pen was obdurate. It scratched, and spluttered, and stuck, and did everything but write smoothly.

So the Governor signed the first bill with his steel pen, and laid aside the gold one to practice with on a less momentous occasion.

HOOVER URGES RIVER PACT RATIFICATION

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE IN MESSAGE OF ADVICE UPHOLDS PROJECT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, today telegraphed Assemblymen Isaac Jones and J. J. Prendergast of San Bernardino county urging the Legislature to ratify the Colorado River pact recently entered into at Santa Fe and deprecating any other plan of procedure. The message was in response to one from the two Assemblymen, whose district touches the river, in which they asked his views on the question of State ratification. The Secretary said:

"I should deplore anything that would delay the ratification of the Colorado River compact, because I have the feeling that it is the first step in securing the unity of action before Congress, the protection of the Imperial Valley and other works for California. I am convinced that the years of delay which have been due to friction in the basin will only be extended unless the compact is ratified. The compact itself amply protects California interests and makes for constructive handling of the entire problem.

for a district. Dividing the total population by eighty shows the average for a district. Dividing the total population by eighty shows 42,846 for each Assembly district.

"San Francisco is 7476 short of enough population for twelve Assemblymen. Los Angeles is short 6174 of enough population for twenty-two Assemblymen.

"With the larger counties and the smaller the constitution can be followed by the use of mathematics. San Francisco, Los Angeles, Alameda and Fresno, when divided by the average factors, show the number to which they are entitled under the constitution.

"The loss of a number of the mountain counties in representation is a matter of regret, but the Constitution seems to have no heart or sentiment in the matter."

Under the State Constitution, apparently, a Governor of California has no authority directly to admonish the Legislature in a matter relating strictly to legislative procedure, but the outspoken manner in which Gov. Richardson today discussed his attitude on reapportionment cannot fail to have a powerful effect upon Senators and Assemblymen when his views become known.

His own reapportionment plan, adhering carefully to the provisions of the Constitution is, in many respects, the most comprehensive rearrangement of the various legislative districts thus far proposed. Although compiled two years ago, the Governor's tabulations are based on the same figures used by Assemblyman Baker of Los Angeles in drafting his reapportionment bill and, with a few minor exceptions, the Governor's plan and the amended Baker bill exactly coincide.

In a tabulation of the population of each of the State's eighty Assembly Districts, based on the 1920 census, Gov. Richardson's figures strikingly show the unfair discrimination which the reapportionment of 1910 imposes upon Southern California and particularly upon Los Angeles county.

The fifteen Assembly Districts in Los Angeles county, according to the Governor's population statistics, have an average population of 62,429, while the average for the State is less than 43,000. Eighteen Assembly Districts, located in the northern part of the State, are shown to have population units of less than 31,000, among them districts with a population under 20,000.

And the Richardson figures show further, that aside from the fifteen Assembly Districts in Los Angeles county, but nine districts have population units far in excess of the average for the State, 43,000.

No action on reapportionment will be taken in either house prior to the thirty-day recess, which will occur, it is believed February 9. It is probable that a compromise bill will be introduced in the Senate this week by Senator Boggs, proposing to give Los Angeles county four assemblymen instead of six as required by the Constitution and one new Senator instead of the two additional Upper House Representatives which the Constitution specifies.

SCHOOL TO AID LABOR SUPPLY

Classes in Building Trades Planned at Fresno

Daniel Polin Sought Again on Bigamy Charge

Subcontracts Are Awarded for Office Structure

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Jan. 23.—Classes in various building trades, to help meet a shortage of workmen, will perhaps be opened in the Fresno Technical School as a result of a conference Friday attended by business men and educators, according to an announcement made today by Principal F. H. Sutton. Plastering, brick laying, plumbing and house wiring will be taught if the tentative plans are carried through.

Work in this direction is being done in a school conducted here by the Valley Industrial Association, and graduates are accepted on jobs under an understanding with union-labor officials.

Preliminary to a final decision on including this training in the public school courses here, an industrial survey of the city will be made, Principal Sutton said. Mechanical trades now taught in the technical school are overcrowded, he added, and the students wish to work into building trades, in which the wages are high.

Walter C. Adkins, secretary of the Building Trades Council of Fresno, participated in the meeting at which plans for the proposed courses were discussed.

POLIN BEING HUNTED AGAIN

Daniel Polin, alias David Polinsky, chief figure in the troubles that recently enmeshed D. P. Bates, Fresno policeman, at Calexico, is being vigorously hunted a second time to face a charge of bigamy here. Police Judge J. G. Crichton yesterday declared Polin's $500 cash bail forfeited and issued a bench warrant for him.

Polin was arrested at San Luis Obispo some time ago, accused of having married a Visalia woman while a San Francisco woman was still his wife. He was released on his own recognizance and went to Mexico. Venturing across the border, he was arrested at Calexico as a fugitive. Bates was sent to return him to Fresno. Officer and prisoner went into Mexicali—to get property belonging to Polin, Bates said—and were arrested, deported and detained at Calexico. Bates has been charged there with aiding a prisoner to escape.

Polin was brought here, admitted to $500 bail by Justice of the Peace G. W. Smith, and freed. Police Judge J. G. Crichton was absent from the city at the time. When he returned he raised the bail to $2000 and issued a bench warrant for Polin. It has not been served. Forfeiture of bail and the issuance of a new warrant yesterday followed notice to Polin's attorneys that he must be produced in court. They said they could not produce Polin.

FRESNO FIRMS REWARDED

Fresno firms participated largely in the award here yesterday of subcontracts for the construction of the office building of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation, to be erected at the intersection of J and Tuolumne streets. The total cost of the building will be more than $800,000. Of the fifteen contracts let yesterday eight went to Fresno firms.

Construction began today and every effort will be made to have the structure ready for occupancy in eight months.

NEW POULTRY ASSOCIATION

A Fresno county poultry association was started yesterday at a meeting of fifteen members and directors of the County Farm Bureau Federation in the offices of Farm Adviser John P. Benson.

I. N. Foss, manager of the Tulare Co-operative Poultry Association, told of the organization of that body and its methods of handling poultry products.

FEDERAL AGENT TO FIGHT PESTS

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 23.—Porterville may have an experiment station for work of the United States Department of Agriculture in studying control of thrip and other diseases of citrus trees. A Fleibut, plant entomologist, who has been with the Fresno branch for the last three years, will be sent to this section of the valley and will locate in one of the Tulare county towns.

Mr. Fleibut is said to favor Porterville as a location and the Chamber of Commerce and prominent orange growers are trying to secure adequate quarters, which will also combine ground for experimental purposes and a few orange trees for study.

MERCHANTS UNITE

Organization of a Porterville Merchants' Association, with a credit bureau and other departments, has been perfected. Constitution and by-laws drafted by a special committee have been accepted. Bert Kessing, J. Frank Wright, Donald Jones, George Williamson and N. O. Brown have been named directors and will elect officers. Credit bureaus, systems of credit and methods of operation were discussed at a recent session. Success of Porterville's newest organization, with a charter membership of forty professional and business men, is predicted.

POULTRYMEN MEET

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Porterville Cooperative Poultry Association will be held on Monday, the 28th inst. Reports of the year's work will be given and a program outlined for future development. Interesting talks will be given by several leading poultry experts and a banquet will be served.

While in organization only about a year the local association has proven most successful and a real benefit to poultry raisers of the district. Interest in the industry has increased and it is expected that growth in the near future will be marked. This section of the State is particularly adapted to the raising of fowls commercially and is winning recognition in other sections.

PLANT EXPERT BUSY

LINDSAY, Jan. 23.—Dr. P. A. Boncquet, former Tulare county plant pathologist, has opened offices as consulting plant pathologist in Lindsay. He has signed up 650 acres in oranges, grapes and prunes. He states that he will later do soil analysis.

Dr. Boncquet will personally direct an orchard superintendence department here. He will also take up appraising of lands, providing reports to absent owners.

RAIN BELOW NORMAL

VISALIA, Jan. 23.—Although starting out as if it intended to race away from all records, the rainfall table at present shows nearly an inch and a half below last year with no immediate indications of picking up. At this time last year 5.87 inches of rain had been registered here, while only 4.45 have fallen this season.

Two weeks ago the record showed nearly twice as much as in the season previous, but during the last three weeks none has fallen, whereas a year ago occasional precipitation kept up the record.

UNITED STATES SHIP WORK RANKS FIFTH

LLOYDS REPORT SHOWS 1922 POOREST BUILDING YEAR IN WHOLE DECADE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23. — The United States last year dropped from second place to fifth in the ranks of shipbuilding nations, according to the Lloyds Registry of Shipping, which, in its annual report, issued otday, declared 1922 the poorest shipbuilding year since 1912 with 2,000,000 tons less production than in 1921.

Shipbuilding in every nation except Germany decreased in 1922 but the American falling off was most considerable, the report showed.

The line-up of great merchant marines last year was: Great Britain, Germany, France, Holland, the United States, Italy and Japan; instead of, as in 1921, Great Britain, the United States, Germany, Holland, Japan, France and Italy.

New American tonnage last year was 119,138, as compared with 1,006,413 in 1921. The British total was 1,031,081, as compared with 1,518,052, making the American loss 837,000 tons the British 507000 tons and the loss of all the other powers 480,000 tons.

The progressive decline of American shipbuilding, the Lloyds report shows, is illustrated by the fact that while American yards launched 532,000 tons less than British yards in 1921, the margin was widened to 911,000 last year. In 1921, the shipyards of this country launched 790,000 tons less than other countries excluding Britain but last year the gap was increased 1,200,000 tons.

The volume of world shipbuilding 1922 was a third of that for 1919. A quarter of the production was carried out in Germany, the only nation to show an increase from last year and from prewar years.

Imperial Valley Town Scene of Gambling Raid

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, Jan. 23.—Fourteen tempters of the goddess of chance were taken into custody last night at Heber, a station between here and Calexico by Sheriff's deputies and agents from the District Attorney's office. The arrests were made in the only hotel in the little town in a room that was fitted up with gambling paraphernalia.

Games of blackjack and stud poker were in progress when the officers dropped in, they reported. About $100 was taken from the tables to be used as evidence. The gamblers were a mixture of Mexicans and Americans. About half of them are out on bail today and the other half are trying to obtain bail. Hearing has been set for next Thursday. J. H. Cox is being held as proprietor of the place.

Ruhr Situation Worrying Pope; May Ask Peace

BY WIRELESS AND EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

ROME, Jan. 23.—According to information obtained in Vatican circles, Pope Pius views the Ruhr situation with the greatest apprehension.

He follows every movement with anxiety, reads the papers and gets private information through his own diplomatic channels.

It is rumored here that the Pope is meditating intervening unofficially in the tangle with the hope of bringing about a compromise.

ROQUE TOURNEY IN LONG BEACH

Champion Jimmie Keane is Sensation of Meet

Over Two Hundred Entered at Big Tournament

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Jan. 23.—Jimmie Keane of Chicago, 17-year-old National roque champion, showed his stuff during the second day of the national roque tournament here today. His marvelous bank shots and sdt shots brought forth profuse applause from a gallery of nearly 1000 persons gathered at Pacific Park to see the play. In the morning Jimmie easily defeated F. C. Turner, once holder of the national medal, 32 to 19, and in the afternoon defeated Barnett, 32 to 26. An exhibition game with Buffum was corralled by the young red-headed roque wonder by a score of 32 to 4. Buffum got few chances to play at all. The day's games were enlivened by a visit from a police detective, who said they were apparently violating the city gambling ordinance and must come over to the jug to explain why they were not, which the roque players did and were allowed to proceed. The complaint was made on behalf of a number of Merchants on the Pike, who were prohibited from running games on account of the ordinance. The roque players were giving prizes and that caused all the rumpus.

WHAT HO, THE MAYOR!

Soon after this row Mayor Buffum, Councilman Beck, City Manager Windham and City Attorney Hoodfpyl appeared on the scene and formally welcomed the roque players from far and wide. The city "dicks" were squelched and the game went on gambling or no gambling.

There are more than 200 players entered in the tournament and it has been found necessary to separate them into three divisions, as each player plays every other roquer, as in round-robin tennis tourneys, and it is feared that the tournament will extend into the middle of next month and agitated officials are trying to find some way out of the difficulty. Trying to satisfy every roque player in the country that he cannot beat Jimmie Keane seems to be some job.

KEANE THE CLEVEREST

"Keane is the cleverest man at the game there ever was and it will be a long time before anyone gets the diamond medal away from him," said Job Barnett, head of the Long Beach association.

"His great shot is a split shot for the center wickets. He hits the ball in such a way that it twists around one wicket, goes through and lays in position for the other one. He beat me on two marvelous bank shots the like of which were never seen before."

The results of the day's play were as follows:

Championship division—Keane 32, Turner 19; Keane 32, Barnett, 26; Buffum 27, Turner 32.

First division—Pollock 32, Ennis 26; Graves 32, Allison 5; Chappelar 32, Allison 26; Hudspetch 32, Scobey 25; Newkirk 32, Ware 26; Chappelar 32, Barr 0; Pollock 32, Pennington 10; Graves 32, Ware 27; Thompson 32, Ennis 6; Allison 6, Ennis 32; Ware 32, Barolo 20; Thompson 32, Newkirk 26.

Second division—Fitts 32, Brown 20; Hoy 32, Hall 15; Grant 32, McLaren 24; Denny 32, Galloway 6; Lucraft 32, Olcott 1; Payne 32, Haynes 27; Galloway 32, Buckmaster 30; Lawton 32, Hall 7; Denny 32, Wassen 9.

Third division—Whissen 24, Milligan 9; Miller 32; Eggleston 4; Schwartfager, 19, Hoyt 16; Gipe 6, Horn 20; Thomas 12, Mansfield 8; Schwartfager 15, Milligan 6; Hattery 15, Horn 7; Mashley 15, Mansfield 6.

SAMSONS TO PLAY ST. GEORGE

Soccer Teams Clash in Hot Tilts at Vernon Sunday; Double-Header

When the tailenders so-called had their innings last Sunday, in the Southern California soccer league they started something. Fandom today is much "at sea," and those clubs who had considered themselves impervious to attack from any and every angle are worried.

One week ago the L.A.A.C. were leading the rest, full of confidence that they had clear waters before them to the end. What happend? They were sent against Long Beach, a 3-to-1 favorite. And they met their Waterloo. While this was happening, the Overseas were holding the Scots to a scoreless tie at Hazard field. Surprise number two. At Pasadena, the Sons, as if to make the day a gala one for the "also rans," gave the Millionaires the game of their life although they lost by the odd goal.

Having this in mind the Samsons and the Clubmen are looking forward with trepidation to their battles next Sunday at Maier Park against the Sons and Overseas respectively. The winged foot athletes meet the Overseas in the first of the twin bill starting at 1 p.m. with the second contest scheduled for 3 p.m.

The clubmen have a half-game lead, with the Samsons and Uniteds tied in second place, and they can be relied on to play hard to retain their slim advantage.

OIL MAGNATES WILL JAUNT TO TIJUANA

Local oil magnates, producers, drillers and workers generally are getting ready for a big exodus to Tijuana next Sunday, where the Petroleum handicap will be the feature event on an eight-race program at the Coffroth merry-go-round.

In order to accommodate the crowd, the Santa Fe railroad will add several coaches to the ever popular special train which will leave Los Angeles Sunday morning and run direct to the track.

The Petroleum handicap will be run at a mile and a sixteenth, and "Sunny Jim" Coffroth has hung up a purse of $2000 for the winners. Seven other races, including a handicap for sprinters, will also grace the card.

CHESTERFIELDS WIN

Hitting the pins hard and often in the third game, the Chesterfield Cigarette team won a two to one match from the mighty Angelus Lunch team, Monday night at the Angelus Academy.

TIJUANA RESULTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 23.—Horses ran strictly to form today at Tijuana with the exception of the seventh race when Tule, paired off with Lorena Moss in the field, came from behind to win at outside prices, a length and a half ahead of the hot favorite, Phrone Ward. The latter set the pace and led until halfway into the stretch when Tule came on with a rush that carried him to victory.

Knighthood, from the stable of A. Bostwick, New York turfman, won the feature event, defeating such consistent performers as Coca Cola, which placed, and Dr. Corbett, which ran third. Knighthood benefited by the light poundage of ninety-two.

Duc de Guise took a nose verdict from Neg in the fourth.

First race, four and one-half furlongs—Norfield (Stevens,) won; Norford Honey (Studer,) second; Queen Cup (Petzold,) third. Time, .54 4-5.

Second race, six furlongs—Lewis B. (Claves,) won; W. C. Dooly (Wilson,) second; Pink Twenty (Kensinger,) third. Time, 1:15 2-5.

Third race, six furlongs—Sheka (Long,) won; View (Thompson,) second; Cannon Ball (Stevens,) third. Time, 1:15.

Fourth race, five furlongs—Duc de Guise (Ralls,) won; Neg (Stevens,) second; Mayflower (Thompson,) third. Time, 1:01 1-5.

Fifth race, mile and seventy yards—She Devil (Martin,) won; My Rose (Long,) second; Irosity (P. Hurn,) third. Time, 1:45 4-5.

Sixth race, six furlongs—Knighthood (Long,) won; Cocacola (Stevens,) second; Dr. Corbett (Seremba,) third. Time, 1:12 1-5.

Seventh race, five and one-half furlongs—Tule (Walls,) won; Phrone Ward (Martinez,) second; Florence Deen (Petzold,) third. Time, 1:07.

Eighth race, mile and a quarter—Fireworth (Stevens,) won; York Lassie (P. Hurn,) second; Little Dear (M. Anderson,) third. Time, 2:08 3-5.

GOV. HUNT MILD IN PACT STAND

Expected Strong Opposition Fails to Develop

Merely Urges Going Slow on River Project

Arizona Miners Themselves Swat Union Bills

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, Jan. 23.—With the galleries jammed in anticipation of something exciting, Gov. Hunt this afternoon personally placed before the Arizona Legislature an official copy of the compact concerning interstate distribution of the waters of the Colorado River basin. His message was both mild and short and contained little more than the Governor had said before.

The compact was not directly attacked, but the Legislature was advised of the Governor's judgment that the document should have careful legislative study and that, before action is taken, there be a gathering of information, data and statistics, for which the Legislature make suitable provision.

STDESSES ISSUE'S IMPORTANCE

The Governor declared "it is doubtful if any other question will ever arise in Arizona which will mean more to the people and have a greater influence on the development of the State than your action on the proposed compact.

"The deplorable lack of adequate and reliable information in connection with the potential acreage in Arizona which might be watered from the Colorado adds to your difficulty in determining the wisest and best course for Arizona to adopt.

"Reference is made to a survey now being made along the river by the geological survey, though this survey will not be ready before July 1. There is inference from the message that the Governor believes it would be well to await this report with the possibility of a special legislative session for action thereafter.

DEMOCRATS INCONSISTENT

One of the issues of the last campaign was the action of the Republican administration in the issuance of tax anticipation bonds and Gov. Hunt's message to the Legislature declared such procedure archaic and unwise. Yet today the State Loan Board, including Gov. Hunt, after consultation with a number of Phoenix bankers on the possibility of raising funds by some other method, determined to ask the Legislature for an act that will permit issuance of at least $2,000,000 in short term bonds in order to sustain the credit of the State 'till such time as there may be collection of nearly $4,000,000 taxes now deliquent.

About $1,250,000 will be needed before the spring collection reaches the State Treasurer, who now has on hand, in funds not otherwise appropriated, only $217,000. Nearly a half million dollars of State funds are tied up in depository banks that closed last year.

WRONG MAN ACCUSED

The Senate Special Banking Committee today took official notice of a charge that from it had came a charge, printed locially, that P. R. Spilsbury, president of the Arizona Industrial Congress, had borrowed $10,000 from the Central Bank of Phoenix, now closed, on security of worthless oil stock.

Mr. Spilsbury promptly took the matter up with the committee, with showing, attested by the bank receiver, that he owed the bank no money and had never done business with the bank. Now denial is made by the committee members that they started the report, though regret was expresesd that a confusion of names should have been responsible for a mistake that is laid wholly upon the local publication.

UNION BILLS OPPOSED

Opposing groups of mine employees are appearing before House committees with reference to labor union bills that seek to eliminate the company store or deduction of pay for debts incurred by any employe. Today about 50 miners, mainly from the Globe-Miami district appeared in opposition to the bills. The House has made favorable recommendation of the bill raising to $16 a week the minimum wage to be paid women. Mrs. Ivy offered a bill providing a police matron in towns of more than 10,000 and in counties of the first class.

In the Senate favorable report has been made on a bill against nepotism, but making the offense a misdemeanor, instead of a felony. Unfavorable report has been made on a bill that would strike out the remarriage limit to a year after divorce.

STATE BANKS SHOW INCREASE IN ASSETS

HAVE GROWTH OF MORE THAN $115,000,000 DURING LAST TWO MONTHS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—Assets of State banks were increased by $115,953,000 in the period between Sept. 15 and Dec. 29, 1922, according to a report today by Jonathan S. Dodge, State superintendent of banks. Deposits alone were increased by more than $12,000,000 the report said. Notes against the banks were reduced by nearly $6,000,000.

The number of depositors on December 29 was 2,661,648 of which 1,653,222 had savings and 1,008,371 had commercial accounts.

"The great increase in assets and deposits may be taken to mean that the marketing of crops has proceeded in a satisfactory and orderly manner and that our banks are well prepared to meet the coming season," the report concluded.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS

John Philip Wingate, a prominent figure in New York's Wall Street, has an enemy of years' standing in Peter Phipps, who heads British and Imperial Granaries in England. The B. and I., as Phipps's company is known in the stock market, has for its purpose the cornering of the country's wheat, and to date has succeeded, with a consequent shortage of bread throughout England. Wingate comes to England, meets Kendrick, his London broker, and announces his intention of breaking Phipps on the market. At a social gathering, Wingate renews a war-time friendship with Lady Dredlington, whom he met in France. The fact that Lady Dredlington is unhappy does not escape the attention of Wingate, and because he secretly loves her he searches for the cause, and finds it in Lord Dredlington, her husband, a member of the B. and I. board. Wingate meets Andrew Slate, a friend of his college days, whose business of law practice is confined to the manipulation and defense of questionable characters, and retains him as a part of his future plans. Next day Wingate has a self-invited luncheon guest in Flossie Lane, a musical-comedy stra. Later in the day Lady Dredlington calls at Wingate's apartment to discuss with him the part she is to play in the undoing of Phipps and the B. and I. The visit provides Wingate with an opportunity to make known his true regard for her.

For the first time Lady Dredlinton showed some signs of that faint and growing uneasiness in his presence which brought with it a peculiar and nameless joy. Her eyes failed to meet the challenge of his. She glanced at the clock and changed the subject abruptly.

"Do you know that I have been here all this time," she reminded him, "and we have not said a word about our campaign?"

"There is a great deal connected with it, or rather my side of it," he declared, "which I shall never tell you."

"You trust me?" she asked a little timidly. "You don't think that I should betray you to my husband?"

He laughed the idea to scorn.

"It isn't that," he assured her. "The machinery I have knocked into shape is crude in its way, but the lives and liberty of those underneath depend upon its workings."

"It sounds mysterious," she confessed.

"If you say that it is to be an alliance, Josephine," he decided, "it shall be. I need your help enormously, but you must make up your mind, before you say the last word, to run a certain measure of risk."

"What risk is there for me to run?" she asked, with a smile of confidence. "What measure of unhappiness could be crowded into my life which is not already there? I insist upon it—John—that you accept me as an ally without any more hesitation."

He bent and kissed her hands.

"This, then, is final," he said. "Within the next twenty-four hours you will be ready if necessary?"

"I am ready now—any time—always," she promised him.

CHAPTER XI

"My dears," Lady Amesbury said, as she stood surrounded by her guests on the hearth rug of her drawing-room, "you know what my Sunday night dinner parties are—all sorts and plenty of them, and never a dull man or a plain woman if I can help it. Tonight I've got a new man. He's not much to look at, but they tell me he's a multimillionaire and making all the poor people of the country miserable. He's doing something about making bread dearer. I never did understand these things."

"Heavens, you don't mean Peter Phipps!" Sarah exclaimed.

"His very name," her aunt declared. "How did you guess it, my dear? Here he is. Be quiet, all of you and watch Grover announce him. He's such a snob—Grover. He hates a mister, anyhow, and 'Peter Phipps' will dislocate his tongue."

Lady Amesbury was disappointed. Grover had marched with the times, and the presence of a millionaire made itself felt. His announcement was sonorous and respectful. Mr. Peter Phipps made his bow to his hostess under completely auspicious circumstances.

"So kind of you not to forget, Mr. Phipps," she murmured. "My Sunday parties are always viva voce invitations, and what between not remembering whom I've asked, and not knowing whether those I've asked will remember, I generally find it horribly difficult to arrange the places. We are all right tonight, though. Only two missing. Who are they, Sarah?"

"Josephine and Mr. Wingate," Sarah replied, with a covert glance at Phipps.

"Of course! And thank goodness, here they are! Together, too! If there's anything I love, it's to start one of my dinners with a scandal. Josephine, did you bring Mr. Wingate, or did he bring you?"

Josephine laughed. Then she saw Phipps standing in the background and she raised her voice a little.

"Mr. Wingate called for me," she explained. "Taxis are so scarce in our part of the world on Sunday nights, and when one does happen to know a man who makes enough money on Friday to buy a fleet of motor cars on Saturday—"

"My doing," Kendrick interrupted. "I'm his broker. Did you buy the Rolls-Royce, Wingate?"

"I brought it away with me, chauffeur and all."

"The most delightful car I ever rode in," Josephine pronounced.

Phipps maneuvered his way to her side. There was a frown on his forehead as he leaned towards her.

"So a Rolls-Royce is your favorite make of car, Lady Dredlinton," he remarked.

"Absolutely! I can't conceive of anything more comfortable. Mr. Wingate has promised to let me try it in the country next week."

"So my Wolseley is to be scrapped?" Phipps asked, under his breath.

She looked at him pleasantly enough, but with a dangerous light in her eyes.

"Have you a Wolseley?" she murmured. "Oh, yes, I remember! You offered to send it around to take me shopping."

"I sent it around three mornings," he replied. "You did not use it once. You did not even open the note I left inside."

"I am not very fond of using other people's cars," she said.

"It need not be another person's car unless you like," he muttered.

She looked at him for a moment thoughtfully. Phipps was a man of brass, without sensitiveness or sensibility. Nevertheless, he flushed a little. Just then dinner was announced and Lady Amesbury bustled once more into the midst of her guests.

"My dears," she told them all, "I've forgotten who takes anybody down! Scrap along as you are, and you'll find the cards in your places downstairs. Pick up any one you like. Not you, sir," she added, turning to Wingate. "You're going to take me. I want to hear all the latest New York gossip. And—lean down, please—are you really trying to flirt with Josephine Dredlinton? Don't disturb her unless you're in earnest. She's got a horrible husband."

"I admire Lady Dredlinton more than any woman I know," Wingate answered. "One does not flirt with the woman one really cares for."

"Hoity-toity!" Lady Amesbury exclaimed. "That's the real divorce-court tone. There was a young man—I don't know how many years ago—who used to talk like that to me at the time Amesbury was Ambassador at Madrid and took up with the Lola de Mandoza woman. Neither affair came to anything, though. Amesbury got tired of Spain, and my young man married a rich grocer's daughter. Still, I recognize the tone. Here we all are. Now you play a sort of hunt-the-slipper game, looking for your places, all of you. I know mine, thank God! Now let's pray to Heaven the soup's hot! And don't any one talk to me while I'm eating it. The present generation are shocking soup eaters.

Wingate found Josephine on his other side and was happy. Phipps was just across the table. His hostess proceeded to give the latter ome of her attention.

"Mr. Phipps," she said, "they tell me you've taken that scoundrel of a nephew of mine—Dredlinton—into your business, whatever it is. He won't do you any good, you know."

"I'm very sorry to hear that," Phipps replied. "He seemed to me rather a brainy person for his order."

"One for me," Lady Amesbury chuckled. "I don't care. If I chose to come on the Stock Exchange, I've got brains enough to ruin most of you. But I don't choose. I like to hear of the rest of you tearing yourselves to pieces, though. If you could keep Dredlinton out of mischief for a year, Mr. Phipps, I'd think you were the most wonderful man I ever met. He's a bad lot, but I tolerate him because I love his wife."

Phipps scowled across the table where Wingate's head was nearly touching Josephine's.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—[Advertisement.

Thin? Run-down? Sure Way to Get Right Weight

Increase Your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the Sure Way! S. S. S. Builds Blood-Cells; This Means Strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a calamity-looker. You inspire confidence. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a peaky, bony face doesn't make you look very important or pretty, does it? Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again

Ruddy Cheeks — Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for Calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.—[Advertisement.

NEWS OF MIDDLE WEST IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 23.—Senator Laing of Russell, Kan., has a plan which he thinks may have a wholesome effect upon the speeders of Kansas. He has introduced a bill which would authorize the judges of the District Court to exact the penalties of a fine and a jail sentence and order the Sheriff to lock up the car of the offender for from thirty days to six months for each offense.

The State Supreme Court overruled the motion to quash summonses in the Ku Klux Klan ouster suit. Seven alleged officers of Klan locals in various cities, including Winfield, Coffeyville, Arkansas City and Caney, were summoned in the State's ouster proceedings against the organization. They were given twenty days by the court in which to appear in answer to the summonses.

Two children, 3 and 5 years old, of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, were burned to death when fire destroyed their home near Caldwell. The origin of the fire has not been determined. The father was burned severely in attempting to rescue the children.

AKRON

AKRON (O.) Jan. 23.—Deaths from fire in Ohio last year totaled 376, of which 138 were babies, 219 youths and middle aged persons, and 46 old persons, a report of State Fire Marshall Dykeman shows. This is an increase of thirty-three over that of 1921.

The plant of the Ames-Holden Tire Company at Kitchener, Ont., has been purchased by the B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron. The plant has a capacity of 1000 tires a day and will manufacture a full line of Goodrich tires.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 23.—Ten persons were hurt, six seriously, when an automobile plowed into a crowd of forty of fifty persons going home from a dance, who were waiting to board a street car at Twelfth and Washington avenues, South. A police squad arrested the driver of the car and lodged him in jail. He gave his name as Ben Pearson, 2636 Johnson street, Northeast.

Construction work has started on an addition to the Eugene Field school, 400 East Forty-seventh street. The addition will cost approximately $110,000.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23.—The possibility of becoming a millionaire in German marks for $46, the lowest price yet touched, did not bring any increase of buying on the part of St. Louisans, according to the Foreign Exchange Departments of the downtown banks.

Property owners in the Chouteau-Lindell District of North St. Louis have signed new restriction agreements aimed, among other things, at preventing sale of property in the district to negroes, it was learned yesterday. This action follows the sale last summer of the home at 4257 Kennerly avenue to a negro, which the Chouteau-Lindell Improvement Association tried to have set aside.

ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, Jan. 23.—A thick bed of iron ore has been discovered 137 feet under the village of Calumet in Itasca county. The strata of ore, eighty feet thick and of a merchantable grade, was found when drillers were sinking a new township well. The ore is believed to under lay a fairly large part of the town.

Robert L. Gale, 63 years of age, president of the Gale Company, cold storage and produce firm of St. Cloud, died of carbon monoxide gas poisoning in his garage. Mr. Gale was one of two receivers appointed for the Pan Motor Company. He was a prominent business man.

INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 23.—New cases of smallpox reported by health officers of Indiana last week totaled only about one-half of the cases reported in the week before, when a marked increase in the disease was noted, according to a compilation of the reports. Fifty-four new cases were reported last week.

Farm labor is plentiful but farmers are not willing to pay the wages demanded, says George C. Bryant, State Agricultural Statistician, in a semi-monthly report on Indiana crop condition to the United States Department of Agriculture.

MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 23.—Dr. W. G. Wheeler, 65 years of age, found guilty by a jury at Racine on a charge of performing an illegal operation, has been paroled to the State Board of Control for four years by Judge Burgess, due to his old age.

After a three weeks' shut-down, the plant of the Malleable Iron Range Company, Beaver Dam, has resumed operations, employing over 400 men. All manufacturing plants are running in that city at present.

DETROIT

DETROIT, Jan. 23.—The one-man street cars ordered placed on the Michigan United Railways lines in Lansing by the Federal Court were put in service yesterday. More persons are employed in Detroit now than ever before in its history, according to figures given by the Employers' Association. The seventy-nine firms reporting to the association gave the total on their combined payrolls for the week ending January 16 as 149,617 men and women. With those firms not reporting to the association this means a total of 300,000 for the city, it is estimated.

OMAHA

OMAHA, Jan. 23.—Members of the American Legion in the Nebraska House of Representatives introduced a bill providing for a $10,000,000 soldier bonus to be paid by the State within the next two years to all ex-service men and women who served in the World War based on a rate of 50 cents

Loos is Still Backing Jock to Cop Title

BY EDDIE LOOS,
Rancho Golf Club Pro

Despite the fact that Tom Stevens set a new official record for the Flintridge course yesterday with a splendid 69, and now leads the entire field in the Southern California open championship, I still pick Jock Hutchison as the ultimate winner.

Jock had a bad round yesterday, and yet only took a 75, and when the final scores were in was only three strokes behind Stevens. He is still decidedly in the running, and the man who figures he is out of things has another guess coming, that's all.

Four amateurs had good rounds yesterday, Fred Wright with a 73, Dr. Hunter with a 74, Fred Barber with a 74, and Jack Neville with a 76 are still in the running. Wright and Hunter are both familiar with the Flintridge course. Wright has a total of 147, is four strokes behind Stevens and should score well today. Dr. Hunter has staged a good comeback and by shooting a 74 yesterday established the fact that he should not be overlooked.

John Black, whose play was the sensation of the open tournament at Skokie last summer, has fully recovered from the accident which so nearly cost his life shortly after the tournament. Yesterday he shot a 72 and with a few breaks on the putting green would have shaded a 70.

If Tom Stevens, who was connected with Annandale Country Club last year, can play as good golf today as he did yesteday he will walk off with everything in sight. Tom was playing splendid golf yesterday, was hitting his shots well and was sinking putts in wicked fashion. He will be worth watching today.

Danny Nunes Gets Decision Over Ridley

BY ED O'MALLEY

Little Bud Ridley, conceding from six to eight pounds to Danny Nunes and putting up a gallant fight at every foot of the journey, lost the decision to Nunes at Doyle's boxing pavilion last night. A roar of disapproval greeted the verdict, many of the disgruntled fans claiming that the worst Bud should have gotten was a draw. Nunes took the opening round rather handily. His left reached the mark often, both to the face and stomach, and occasiona ly he landed a right cross.

Nunes was going along nicely for a while in the second round, but suddenly as he rushed at Ridley he was caught with a right cross to the jaw which jarred him to his knees. Danny was up in an instant, but Ridley, assuming a fierce aggressiveness, landed sevtral more rights to the jaw, which pleased the crowd. Buddy had much the better of the in-fighting, volleying Danny hard with short rights and lefts to the dining car.

The third was a humdinger with Nunes having the lead in the early part, but toward the end Ridley soaked him hard with a right to the face that made Danny wince. In the first part of the fourth Ridley jabbed a hard left to Danny's right eye drawing the blood. Nunes fought desperately and looked to have a shade until nearing the end when Ridley again nailed him hard with a right to the jaw. Ridley had much the better of the close work in the final round.

The other bouts resulted as follows: Tod Morgan beat Danny Dillon, Al Grunan beat Abe Mishkind, Steve Biss trimmed Steve Dalton, Bud Manning and Benny Marks drew, Benny Shannon defeated Packy McMullin and Johnny McGraw put out Eddie Morey in the second round.

The feature game is between two A. A. U. squads.

READY FOR ALL COMERS

Dempsey Ready to Fight Anyone and Take Them on in Order of Gate Receipts

BY HUGH FULLERTON
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Jack Dempsey reached New York tonight and stepped knee deep into the fight situation. The champion of the whites who also claims to be champion of the browns and blacks, made an opening statement, preceding the arrival of his manager, in which he said he was ready, inside of three weeks to fight anyone in the world, and to take them in the order of the gate receipts.

Harry Wills moaned a couple of jazz notes and said he was ready.

Meantime the analysts are hatching up an alleged battle between Jess Willard and Dempsey as the starter of the open-air season of fighting. And, while there are indications that Tex Rickard is weakening on the proposition of staging a Willard-Dempsey battle in Jersey, the fact remains that Willard has been promised a fight with the champion for the early-June slaughter season, and Mister Wills, who is heaving tubs of lard and barrels of pork into freight cars, is wondering where he gets off.

THE PROGRAM

The program of the boxing promoters in New York seems to be this:

First, a match between Senor Firpo of the Argentine, a pretty fair boxer and a strong man, against Senor Bill Brennan of Chicago, who is a wily old codger who is willing to take it or give it. In other words, they are getting ready to build up Firpo into a good match for Dempsey.

Meantime, the program of the promoters is considerably balled up because of charity—which begins at home and never ends.

The promoters were busy building up Floyd Johnson to meet Dempsey. Mr. Johnson is the protege of one of Mr. Hearst's bright young men, who was bringing him along the primrose path of pugilism to a big, juicy match when charity intervened. It became necessary to use pugilism to bring in funds for the milk fund in which Mrs. Hearst is interested, and Willard refused to take $25,000 to box Johnson and Johnson was matched to box Tom Gibbons, spoiling the program, as Gibbons will probably eliminate him and ruin a carefully built-up campaign.

DEMPSEY WOULD WIN

The next step is a fight between Willard and Dempsey early in the spring, which, of course, Dempsey would win. Then a match between Dempsey and Firpo and finally a match between Dempsey and Wills—unless some one shows up with more promise of drawing gate receipts.

Dempsey said today very frankly that he would fight the fellow who could draw the biggest gate receipts and he looked pretty good. But the Willard affair, which seems to be the crux of the situation, is in the balance. The State Athletic Commission refuses to let Willard do—yet he is going ahead with his training for Dempsey. He has the promise from Rickard and his powers of a fight in June in Jersey. The New York Boxing Commission says Jess is too old to fight. The Jersey politicians are hungering and thirsting for another big fight in Boyle's Thirty Acres. Until yesterday Rickard and his allies were unwavering in their desire for a fight, but they too seem to be getting cold feet, not because of any laws, but because they are wondering whether such a battle, exposed as it has been as one of the crudest robberies of the public ever attempted, not even excepting the Carpentier affair, will draw a crowd.

ALHAMBRA KIWANIS DEFEATS CYCLONES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 23.—The Alhambra Kiwanis Club basketball club defeated the San Fernando Cyclones, 44 to 26, after a speedy game played here tonight. Fox, Treanor and Casey were in fine form for the winners and rolled up point after point. Charles, at forward for the Cyclones, played a good game.

Local Stars Win Women's Golf Event

One of the most brilliant foursomes that has graced the course of the Los Angeles Country Club for some time yesterday held a private match on the above course. Miss Cameron and Miss Kavanagh defeated Miss Hollins and Mrs. Letts in a snappy eighteen-hole contest, 5 and 4.

Miss Cameron was playing in excellent form and looked better than when she last played in tournament. Miss Kavanagh also looked good to the gallery. She is doing a lot of practicing and the results were shown in yesterday's play.

Although on the losing end of the score the two other women showed a lot of class and gave the winners a good run for their money.

LOS ANGELES DAY SHOOT AT VERNON

A trapshooting event to be known as Los Angeles day shoot, will be held at the Vernon Gun Club next Sunday, according to announcement yesterday by President A. W. Bruner.

The shoot will be at 100 targets in four events from the sixteen-yard mark. Take home trophies will be up for the triumphant dead eyes. Double bird events will be held following the program.

BUSHERS PICK NEUTRAL FIELD

Brookside Park, Pasadena, has been selected as the neutral field, upon which will be staged the Shell Oil versus Sawtelle baseball game next Sunday in the elimination play-off for the championship of the Triple A division of the Managers association. The selection of the diamond was made after much wrangling, but it was finally agreed that the Crown City Park was the ideal site for staging such an event inasmuch as some 10,000 fans can be accommodated.

LONG POSTS FORFEIT

ROCKFORD (Ill.) Jan. 23.—Eddie Long, manager of Sammy Mandell, today mailed a certified check for $3500 as challenge money for a bout with Johnny Kilbane, world's featherweight champion.

difference—

THE difference between a Studebaker Certified Six and an ordinary second-hand car is a matter of addition rather than subtraction.

To every Certified Studebaker we have added the necessary work and parts to compensate for the miles it has traveled.

By replacing tops and tires if they are not in excellent condition and renewing paint when the finish is dull Certified Studebakers approximate the condition and appearance of new motor cars.

They are easy to buy. You can get a Certified Light-Six for less than $800 and a Certified Special-Six of 1921 for a little more than $1000. Sometimes we have a Big-Six only a season old—at $1150 they are snaps.

There are always some good bargains in other makes than Studebakers in our Used Car Department.

Coach Cady Lines up Snappy Bill for Tonight

Redondo Water Poloists to Face Local Team

Fred Cady

Coach Fred Cady of the Los Angeles Athletic Club swimming team will serve a program of snappy events in the club tank tonight in which the aquatic stars of Los Angeles and vicinity will be seen in action.

The Mayor Cryer Cup trophy for the all-around girls' swimming championship of Los Angeles is the main point of interest to the fair natators, who started to score points for this prize in the November meet in the club pool and piled up a few more at Redondo last week. The points counted are five for first place, three for second and one for third; diving does not score. Viola Hartman, L.A.A.C., holds first place with a score of 10 points; Helen Vernon 7 points, second; Mary Wheeler, 6 points, third; Olive Hatch, 5 points, fourth.

Girls' events tonight include a thirty-three-yard midget swim for girls under ten years of age; special girls' relay race between two L.A.A.C. teams; 50-yard sprint, 50-yard backstroke and 100-yard handicap. Girls from the Redondo and Venice teams are entered with the L.A.A.C. maids, and Coach Frank Rivas of San Diego Rowing Club has several entries.

Men's events are diving from the ten-foot board, 100-yard handicap, 800-foot relay race between teams representing Venice, L.A.A.C., Redondo and Hollywood High School, and a water polo game between Redondo and L.A.A.C. This latter event should be hotly contested. The Redondo team showed in the game last week with the L.A.A.C. squad that they are to be reckoned with. Their excellent teamwork was very noticeable.

The water polo line-up is as follows:

YOU can get a tire that's called a pneumatic—probably has air in it, too—and maybe buy it pretty cheap. But you shouldn't expect from it the long economical, trouble-free mileage you are sure to get from a Goodyear Cord Truck Tire.

Harry Hughes, rated as one of the best coaches in the Rocky Mountain district, doesn't seem to have been very deeply impressed with the three intersectional games played in California this winter. I am indebted to Jesse E. Wilson, 2415 Maricopa, this city, for a clipping from a Colorado paper, which purports to give the views of Hughes. Even though you may not agree with his views, the other man's opinion is generally worth while. This article says, in part:

"Coach Hughes states frankly that he was disappointed in the much press-agented intersectional clashes. He says that the brand of football, though superior to Rocky Mountain conference football, was surprisingly poor for the brand it was claimed to be. West Virginia vs. Gonzaga, the opening game, showed the easterners far above the westerners, the coach states, showed both teams well versed in passing. The teams, he says, had been drilled for an extra month and had their signals and their execution down to a fine point, but in spite of their technical ability they seemed to be below what was expected of them.

"Stanford and Pittsburg, the coach states, gave a good exhibition, were well drilled but, like the other teams, lacked the sensationalism that was expected of the midwinter game. Penn State and the University of Southern California, who really put over the surprise of the three Coast games, were fair but still lacked that element of extraordinary football that would naturally be expected of an East-West game.

"All of the teams, according to Coach Hughes, lacked the ability to punt. Punting in the three games, he states, was far below the expectations of the numerous football fans who visited the Coast to see the games.

"Rating the teams, Coach Hughes stated that he believed the University of Southern California far outclassed the other teams, that West Virginia was second with Pittsburg third and Penn State a close fourth. Stanford was a little ahead of Gonzaga in Coach Hughes's estimation. This upsets the theoretical alignment of the sports dopesters a great deal, since the University of Southern California had been looked upon as an inevitable loser before the Penn State game, and Stanford, on the other hand, was expected to show Pittsburg the tussle of the Smoky City team's life. West Virginia was not credited as being an extra good team in spite of her season of no defeats due, principally, to a comfortable, although not an easy, schedule.

"Coach Hughes states that the East-West games should be of a better caliber than those displayed on the Coast this season. He said that there were at least a dozen better teams in the country than those which showed off in the midwinter games and rated the Big Ten teams and leaders in the Missouri Valley conference among those which outrated the principals in the East-West clashes."

Naturally, this fine rating by Hughes of the Trojans is easy to take here, and confirms the opinion of many followers of the game. However, this hardly dovetails with the declaration that there are a dozen better teams than those engaging in the post-season games on the Coast.

Pittsburg and West Virginia were both rated high by eastern critics, and yet Hughes places the Trojans far and away above the Panthers. U.S.C. defeated Penn State by two touchdowns, as did Pittsburg and the Army. He mentions the Missouri Valley conference. We will follow the argument as far west as Nebraska, which was so strong that it probably was more than representative of that section. The Cornhuskers, classed as one of the very best, lost to Syracuse, which, in turn, was held to a scoreless tie by Penn State. Perhaps there were a dozen teams in the country as good as those which played post-season games on the Coast, but one may seriously question whether there were a dozen better teams. Even Princeton, I believe, would have been given a pretty argument by the Trojans on New Year's. This statement isn't influenced by sectional pride or prejudice. I'm short on sectionalism, possibly too short to suit some of the loyalists.

BENCH SIGNALING IS BEST

Ned Hanlon Always Remained in Dug-Out; How Signs Are Given; Collins Good at Stealing 'Em

"MY THIRTY YEARS IN BASEBALL" ARTICLE XVII
BY JOHN J. McGRAW,
Manager of the New York Giants, world's baseball champions, 1921-22.
[Copyright, 1923, by the Christy Walsh Syndicate.]

In the palmy days of the Orioles Ned Hanlon was one of the few managers who kept to the bench, never going on the field. Other managers like Johnny Ward were active players. Though I did not realize it then I am now convinced that the bench manager has a decided advantage.

Instead of centering his thoughts on a particular play or an individual player, Hanlon was able to grasp the situation as a whole. That helped him immeasurably in building up his famous machine.

One of my correspondents, having noticed that I have stuck to the dugout for the past two seasons, writes to inquire if I ever intend to go on the field again, and would like to know why I changed my system.

What I have just said about Hanlon really answers that question. As long as I remain a manager I intend to stick to the dugout during all the championship games. I have found that my opportunities for general observation are much better. I see things on the field that would escape me if I were on the coaching lines. This is particularly true in the shifting of the outfield, which often becomes necessary in the varying stages of play on the diamond.

While coaching at third base I often found myself so concentrated on watching and directing the runner that I overlooked chances for shifting the attack at the bat. I also was too far away to discuss the situation with the men on the bench.

If one is acting as coach on the base lines he must concentrate on the efforts of the runner. Otherwise he would be no good as a coach. Therefore I find it much more advantageous to leave the coaching to others and direct the whole team from the bench.

Personally, I would prefer to be out on the field in uniform, because I always had a liking for being in the midst of the fight. To get the best results, though, I find that it is better to get in the dugout and stay there.

It is much easier to give signals — or signs, as we call them— from the bench. Moreover, they are not so obvious to opposing players and to the spectators.

This system of signals, by the way, is not nearly so elaborate as the public seems to think. Three or four good signs are sufficient. A complicated system is worse than none at all. I have seen some so complicated that the players spent more time in trying to figure them out than in making the play.

Naturally, I have no intention of making my signals public. It has taken me too long to build it up. I will say, however, that my signs are very few and very simple. It wouldn't make a bit of difference to me if the opponents should discover them. I could change them between innings. After all, there is little advantage in stealing signals. The chances of getting crossed are greater than the advantage gained by stealing them.

Signs are worked in various ways. On the old Baltimore team, for instance, our signal for the hit and run was for the batter, upon reaching the plate, to rub the palm of his hand over the end of the bat, as if wiping off the dust. That meant for the runner to start on the next ball pitched.

An old signal for stealing a base was to pull the vizor of the cap down over the eyes.

The signs from catcher to pitcher are very simple. For a curve ball the catcher can show two outstretched fingers in the palm of his mitt. For a fast ball he will show one. For a pitch-out he can slap the mitt with his whole hand. Practically all pitching signals are variations of that plan. On my club I give the sign to the catcher and he relays it to the pitcher.

DOESN'T AGREE

It is likely that fans have often seen the pitcher shake his head to the catcher. That means that he does not agree with him as to what should be pitched. You do not see that on my clubs nowadays. I give the signals myself and the players know that what I say goes. Whether my judgment is good or bad, it is final. I take the responsibility for the mistake.

Some of the great pitchers give the signals themselves. Matty often gave his own signals, also McGinnity, Wild Bill Donovan and many others. After a catcher has worked for a pitcher who is a real artist for any length of time he knows pretty well what is in the pitcher's mind. In that case he gives the signals until the pitcher shakes his head.

There have been a few players who were very expert in stealing signals. The man in the best position to do this is the runner who reaches second. He has a chance to look directly in the catcher's mitt. As soon as he catches the system he in turn signals the batter. The old Athletics were supposed to be very clever at this. Eddie Collins could solve a system very quickly, and had to be watched all the time. Incidentally, it is not considered bad sportsmanship to steal signals when it is merely a question of crossing wits. In fact, it is looked upon as quite an achievement.

The stealing of signals by mechanical means is looked upon as low and mean. Many stories have gone the rounds of men sitting in the center-field bleachers and spotting the signals by aid of field glasses. At one time there was quite a sensation about a semaphore being used in one of the parks to tip off the signs to batters. I never knew if that were true. As a matter of fact, I don't believe it to be any great advantage.

On one accasion when Al Bridwell had left us and was with another team he came to the Polo Grounds anxious to help his batting average. Nothing depended on the result of the games. The race was over.

Roger Bresnahan, who was catching, laughingly told Bridwell what was coming each time. Despite the supposed advantage of this knowledge, Bridwell couldn't get a hit out of five times at bat.

Some managers seem to dote on mysterious and complicated signals. They often carry it too far. Instead of giving these signs by moving the cap, rubbing the bat, or some such move, one of the Boston managers used to give them by certain expressions.

A FUNNY ONE

The most laughable one I ever knew was for the coach to yell out "Red Leary, the Bank Robber!" That was the cue for the runner to steal.

Getting back to bench management—I do not mean to say that I will never go on the field again during the training period. There it is absolutely necessary that the manager put on a uniform and work out with the players. To observe them carefully and study their disposition he must be right out among them.

In the spring, though I am getting a little heavier and older, I always put on a uniform and go through every practice with the players. They will testify to the fact that few of them ever beat me to the grounds. I try to get there first and stay until the last. It is rather difficult to make a young player try anything that he does not think the manager is willing to try.

The example to these ambitious youths means a lot. It peps them up to find that a manager twice their age is always on the ground ahead of them and going through the same work that they are expected to do.

It's tough on the manager, too—make no mistake about that—but he's got to go through.

Often I have been called a hard driver of men. I may be, but I never drive a young fellow any harder than I am willing to be driven myself.

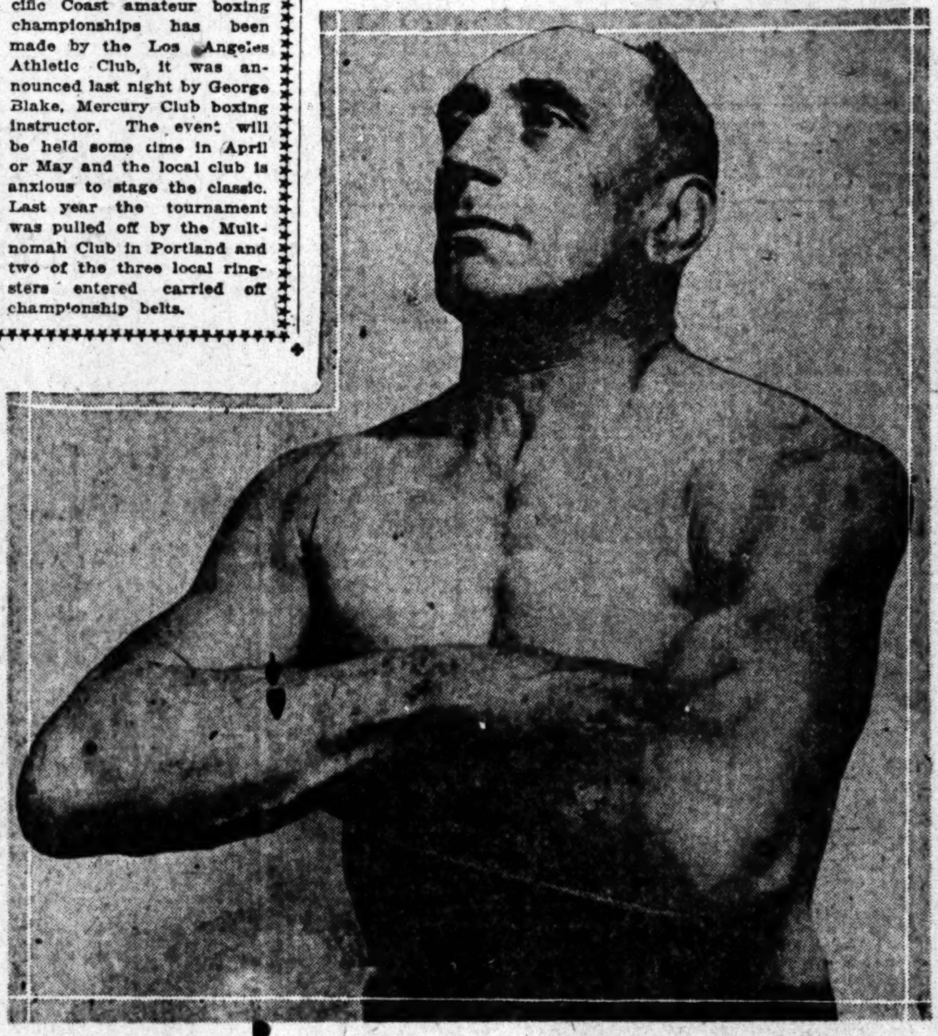
The few weeks of spring training are the most important of all. I will touch on that in the next chapter.

MERCURIES BID FOR TOURNAMENT

A strong bid for the Pacific Coast amateur boxing championships has been made by the Los Angeles Athletic Club, it was announced last night by George Blake, Mercury Club boxing instructor. The event will be held some time in April or May and the local club is anxious to stage the classic. Last year the tournament was pulled off by the Multnomah Club in Portland and two of the three local ringsters entered carried off championship belts.

ROMANOFF TO MEET LONDAS

Pole and Greek Wrestle Tonight



The Last of the Romanoffs

Here's a good likeness of Constantine Romanoff sans beaver lid and snakewood cane. Connie is stripped for action and Jim Londos, whom he faces tonight in Hollywood, can expect a tough battle.

JIMMIE LONDOS, the Greek mat champion, arrived in the city yesterday for his match with "Connie" Romanoff, the husky Pole. The sturdy son of Greece reported in good condition, having just defeated Harry Stevens last week in St. Louis, Mo. Romanoff has trained faithfully for the bout, and will be in excellent shape to match his skill and speed against the stamina of Londos in tonight's match at the Hollywood Stadium, Hollywood. The match will be a two-hour affair, best two out of three falls, catch-as-catch-can style.

Angelo Taramaschi and George Vaseli are down for a one-hour, best-two-out-of-three-falls match. Taramischi promises to make things interesting for the Greek.

The Tero Miyake-"Cyclone" Burns match will be a mixed bout, one twenty-minute round, and Burns will have to do some stepping when he tackles the crafty Miyake. Bull Montana will referee all bouts.

confident, due to the perfect golf he had been handing out all the way around. He was on the green with two long drives, then when he thought of a nice three, overputted and by the time Loos finally corraled the ball, he had run up a total of six shots and instead of a 68, he only got away with a 70. With the exception of this hole, his play was above par.

WRIGHT LEADS AMATEURS

Among the amateurs Fred Wright looked like first money. Turning in low card of 73 and low net of 147 Wright is entitled to walk away with the prize if he can keep it up for thirty-six more holes. Fred Barber, municipal champion, also came up the ladder yesterday making his total score 154 and in the running for the playoff. Dr. Paul Hunter follows Wright with a 149 net.

Low net honors for the thirty-six holes go to our red-headed friend, Maury McLaughlin, ex-world's champion tennis player. His scores were 156-16-140, second goes to Jimmy Wade, 165-21-141, and third to Fred Barber. These amateurs made a fine showing and surely earned their prizes. Fred Wright copped first honors in the amateur division for the low gross for the thirty-six holes with a score of 147.

Pacific Fleet Championships Are at Stake

Expect 3500 Officers and Men for Show

Fifteen hundred sailormen on the U.S.S. California spent their idle hours yesterday watching the tin rooster atop of Breakwater Light for advance signs of tonight's weather. Several large sighs of relief were released in unison at sunset on the big fighting craft as the wind hauled around to the west—the direction of fair weather—after two days of squalls and sou'westers.

This was all because the Navy's biggest ring carnival is due to be run off tonight on the quarterdeck of the California for the mat and ring titles of the United States battle fleet. If Mr. J. Pluvius behaves tonight, about 3500 officers and men of the fleet will be perched about the squared circle on the quarterdeck of the flagship when Joe Fischer starts hostilities at 7:15 by trying to keep Tim Renner of the Destroyer Squadron from annexing the all-fleet lightweight title.

HARSH RULES FOR LODI COURT

Bootleggers Must Keep Ten Feet Away From Evidence

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LODI, Jan. 23.—City Marshal Christensen posted the following notice today in the city courtroom:

"Reporters will await call in the anteroom. All present will remove hats in presence of the court. Blind-piggers must be kept at least ten feet from the evidence. Snowbirds and hopheads will check their guns at the door. Flappers not admitted in court unless accompanied by chaperones. Bindle-stiffs will leave cooties with the pound man. Order must and will be preserved."

MERRITT TO HEAD RAISIN ASSOCIATION

Bay City Man Will Take Full Charge of Sun Maid Organization Business

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 23.—Important changes are to take place in the management and policy of the Sun Maid Raisin Association, according to reports from the Fresno headquarters. Ralph P. Merritt, prominent San Francisco business man, Kern-county vineyardist and head of the California Rice Association, has been named managing director of the raisin association, succeeding Fred A. Seymour. Wiley M. Giffen, president, will remain in the same executive capacity, but it is understood Merritt will have entire control of the affairs.

Merritt is widely known throughout the Pacific Coast States as an organizer of unusual ability. During the World War he was called on by Herbert Hoover, Food Administrator, to direct the conservation of food in California when the rice growers of the State were threatened with serious losses through falling markets and overproduction. Merritt was selected to organize the growers and stabilize the market, and in this he was successful.

Due to the fact that some dissatisfaction has arisen among members of the Sun Maid Raisin Association as a result of failure to keep price pledges made at the opening of the season, a change in policy was made necessary. An announcement concerning future policy is expected at an early date.

PORTERVILLE MARKET TO ENGAGE MANAGER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 23. — Ranchers who have been taking advantage of the Porterville producers' free market, recently established by the Porterville Realty Board, met at the Chamber of Commerce tonight to perfect plans for greater efficiency, and to name a market director.

Their purpose is to insure the quality of goods to the public and prevent flooding the market with any one commodity to the neglect of others.

Crowds of shoppers have flocked around the autos and trucks of produce each Saturday morning, and the permanency of the market seems assured.

VISALIA, Jan. 23.—That Tulare county officers and police of Tulare county believe they are working on definite clews leading to apprehension of at least some of the dring robbers who have plundered business houses, filling stations and private homes within the last few weeks, is apparent in spite of the statement, "nothing for publication yet," from the Sheriff's office here.

Last of the bold raids was the carrying away of the heavy iron safe, containing about $475 in cash, from the Tulare Theater in a motor truck Monday night. Indections point to "inside work."

Forty-eight hours previously two armed bandits held up the Linder Hardware Company offices in Tulare, in the midst of their Saturday evening shopping and escaped with over $100.

Householders, filling stations and other institutions in different parts of the county are reporting varying losses.

FACES DEATH PACT CHARGE

Husband Freed of Murder Indictment to be Tried For Aiding Wife in Committing Suicide

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Jan. 23.—The indictment charging Fred Phillips with the murder of his wife Nora Flint Phillips was dismissed today by Judge C. E. Beaumont in Superior Court on motion of Asst. Dist.-Atty. Denver S. Church on the ground of insufficiency of evidence. This is the second murder action brought during the regime of former Dist.-Atty. B. W. Gearhart that has been dismissed since Dist.-Atty. G. R. Lovejoy took office the 8th inst.

A complaint was filed today charging Phillips with helping his wife commit suicide and the new District Attorney will press the prosecution on that charge. Phillips was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Earle J. Church and bail was fixed at $2500.

Phillips was charged with murder after his wife was found dead at her home near here last October 3. She had died of strychnine poisoning. Phillips was in the house at the time also in a serious condition as a result of having taken a dose of the same poison. He said he and his wife had made a suicide pact and tried to carry it through.

Action against him was founded on the belief that he had encouraged his wife to take a fatal dose of the poison and that he himself had so gauged his own portion that it would not kill him.

On the day after Mrs. Phillips's death her husband was to have appeared in court to answer a charge made by his father-in-law, Harry Flint, that he had assaulted his wife's young sister. Rather than have this affair aired in court said Phillips, he and his wife decided to kill themselves.

After the new charge was made against him today A. P. Harris, his attorney, said Phillips will fight for acquittal.

Six Autos Pile Up on Striking Oil Spot in Road

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, Jan. 23.—One of the worst pile-ups of automobiles in the county's history occurred yesterday on the State highway near Piru, but nobody was seriously injured. Thomas Bell, who owns an oil station in Saticoy was demonstrating a car to prospective buyers, two women with a little boy.

They came to a place where oil had flowed across the pavement and without warning the car swerved and shotdown an eight-foot embankment. While the occupants of the car lay there in a dazed condition, J. Dockstader, salesman for the Southern California Supply Company of Los Angeles, came along, struck the oil and his car shot over the same embankment.

"It was a terrible sensation" he said, "to know my car was going to plunge there on those helpless people, but I was powerless to do anything." The only one struck was the boy, who was tossed aside by the fender of Dockstader's car. By the time Bell and Dockstader crawled up the embankment, four other cars were in a hopeless swash, but none of them had gone over the embankment and no one was badly hurt.

NEAR RIOT DESCENDS ON COUNCIL

Bakersfield Citizens Are Angered Over Proposed Peddler Ordinance

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 23.—The Council chambers at the City Hall were packed last night when the proposed city ordinance intended to banish vegetable peddlers from the streets of Bakersfield came up.

No action was taken on the proposed law other than the decision to later appoint a committee to investigate conditions.

Housewives, Greek merchants, society leaders, Chinese, business men and farmers, all jammed together rubbing elbows and discussing the topic of the day—"peddlers"—formed the audience.

The eager throng created more disorder than the room ever before witnessed, according to the Councilmen. The question of "to peddle or not to peddle" became no longer a subject for debate.

The roiled condition of the housewives and peddlers left no room for argument, and vocal expression was purely on their side.

Councilman Charles A. Griffith acted as chairman of the board, Mayor E. L. Hougham, taking the Councilman's chair. When the body went into session Councilmen Griffith and Carlisle both wore a picturesque vegetable pinned on as buttonniers. Radishes also adorned the personages of numerous spectators.

Long-winded speeches, addresses and orations were made though there was nothing to be discussed. No ordinance was proposed and the Council endeavored to explain to the irate members of the audience that they were merely trying to legislate against the outside peddlers coming into the city and selling inferior products.

BEACH FIRM BUYS WAREHOUSE SITE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 23.—The American Avenue Hardware Company, of which John F. Haasis is president, announced a deal today for the purchase of an entire city block 400 by 240 feet at the intersection of Anaheim Road and Nadeau street. The property is in the Long Beach Harbor district and will be used for the erection of a huge warehouse. The cost is said to have been $80,000, and the deal is now in escrow.

ACCIDENT IS VERDICT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 23. — "Unavoidable accident" was the verdict of the Coroner's jury in the inquest over the remains of Mrs. Jacob Van Degrift, who died at the Community Hospital early Sunday morning, from injuries suffered last Tuesday night when, in company with her husband, she was struck by a motor car at the intersection of Sixth and Main streets.

FIRE MENACE IS FOUGHT

Three Counties Working For Federal Aid in Solving Problem of Forest Protection

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Jan. 23.—The first steps toward securing Federal aid in the building of a network of firebreaks over the lower foothills of the San Bernardino Mountains, by which it is hoped to prevent fires such as denuded the watershed east of the Arrowhead last fall, has been taken by the Tri-Counties Reforestation Committee. This is the mapping of what is needed in the way of firebreaks and the making of a survey to present to government officials.

The Tri-Counties Committee has taken up the work as the result of recommendations made by P. G. Redington, Coast forest director, and R. H. Charlton of the Angeles Reserve. Acting on information received from the forest rangers, these officials are convinced that it is useless to maintain an elaborate system of firebreaks in the big timber, but that most of the fires start in the lower foothills and that they could be controlled by firebreaks lower down.

The Tri-Counties Reforestation Committee, composed of men from Riverside, Orange and San Bernardino counties, is working to prevent forest fires as well as to reforest the mountain slopes that have been burned over. In the big fire last fall more than 70,000 acres were burned over and a great watershed destroyed, menacing the lower valley towns and ranches in times of heavy rains.

The three counties named are no more interested than Los Angeles county towns and many of them are now aiding in the work that is being done in controlling the fires and the flood water. The fire last fall would have been even more serious had it been on the east slope instead of the north slope, as the run-off there is heavier and the stream beds would not have been of sufficient size to take care of the increased water.

FEDERAL HELP EXPECTED

It is believed that the government will do the work suggested, as an experiment at least, if the proper surveys and mapping are done and the arguments well presented. Arguments are plentiful, for throughout the mountains there are sections that have been burned over where the washes show how much water escapes. It is said that trees are better than check dams, for the roots open up the soil so that water sinks in, the close growth holds the water back and the underground water level of the basin is raised.

Spring Valley Murder Case Resurrected

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 23. — The Spring-Valley murder case, which two years ago excited the communities east of San Diego, was revived today when Sheriff James C. Byers received information from the East which apparently established the identity of the man slain as John Laughlin or McLaughlin.

The blazing body of a young man was found at a well in Spring Valley. His clothes had been saturated with oil. Although the remains were badly charred, it was ascertained that the man had been shot to death before his clothing was fired.

A woman in Fitchburg, Mass., who since has not been located, is said to have given information to the police of that city which resulted in a State-wide search and the eventual acquisition of information tending to establish the man's identity and to fix his former home as Buffalo, N. Y.

Police Believe Fugitive Died in River Quicksand

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, Jan. 23.—Does the body of Joe Marion, who got away from the officers after the raid at Hueneme, rest in the quicksands of Ventura River? Officers are inclined to that view as not a trace of the man has been seen since he plunged into the willows that form a thicket along the river to the ocean front. He was handcuffed and it was at night. The next day officers found where he had fallen but had regained his feet. There is considerable quicksand there and if he stepped into it, handcuffed as he was, there is little possibility that he could have saved himself.

JAIL REPAIRS URGED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 23.—Asserting that a prisoner recently escaped from the branch county jail at Blythe by digging through the cement under the cage and knocking out a part of the roof, and that several more prisoners several days ago were discovered in an effort to liberate themselves by sawing out, Constable F. H. Lebarron petitioned the County Board of Supervisors today for repairs to the jail. No action was taken.

NEW HOME PLANNED BY ANAHEIM CHURCH

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ANAHEIM, Jan. 23.—Plans of the congregation of the Anaheim Christian Church to build a $70,000 edifice were revealed today when the board of trustees purchased a site on Broadway between Helena and Third South streets. The two lots, with a frontage of 110 feet on Broadway and 130 feet on Helena street, were owned by J. W. Snow and Mrs. B. R. Romero.

Plans for the new church are now in the hands of architects, but members of the board of trustees declared that work on the building would not be started for several weeks.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Jan. 23. — George E. Lewis, postoffice inspector, with headquarters in San Francisco, arrived today to investigate clerical carrier needs of the mail service here. For a long time Postmaster Harry Westgate has been in communication with headquarters of the department in regard to the urgent need of expansion of the city's postal service by additional carriers.

PRISONER IS GUARDED IN COURTROOM

Armed Guards Mingle With Crowd at Trial of Slayer at San Bernardino

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 23.—Armed detectives were among the spectators who thronged Judge J. W. Curtis's Superior Court room today where the trial of Timothy Wiley, a negro commissary worker accused of slaying W. V. Paschal, a striker, last August, opened.

Threats of an attempt by strikers to wreak revenge in the courtroom were heard early in the day by officers. Detectives were scattered throughout the court room during the afternoon. Wiley sat between his attorneys, Daley and Byrne.

The jury box was unfilled when court adjourned late in the day a score of veniremen having been questioned. Two jurors, W. J. Rickel of Rialto and W. S. Conley of Upland, were excused when they declared they believed "the negro is not guilty; he fired to protect himself."

Wiley is charged with killing the striker in a street gun fight during the walkout of railway shopmen. He vows he shot only after being threatened with death because he has accepted employment in the stockade commissary. Paschal's friends assert Wiley opened fire on a group of strikers without provocation.

Hearing of evidence will probably begin early at tomorrow's session. The trial will write history in the San Bernardino county courts. It will continue a week.

Cemetery Oil Drilling Fight Leads to Court

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 23.—A motion that the Superior Court set aside its order permitting the Sunnyside Cemetery Association to sell property adjoining the cemetery, will be made by Attorney Walker J. Desmond as the first step in a legal battle to be waged by the Long Beach Cemetery Protective Association.

Officials of the cemetery association obtained an order permitting them to sell about an acre of land adjoining the cemetery, as a site for a mausoleum. Instead, preparations to drill for oil are being made on the land.

Persons having friends and relatives buried in the cemetery were aroused at this desecration and formed an association to fight the move. They requested the cemetery officials to close the gates to the oil drilling company, but the request was refused.

The next step in the fight will be in Superior Court, asking that the order permitting the cemetery to sell the land be set aside on the grounds that the land was not sold and is not being used for the purpose for which the order was issued.

Petition Urges Long Beach City Limit Extension

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 23.—The city limits of Long Beach may be extended to the county line of Orange county, if the annexation petition of citizens east of the city is granted.

The petition bears signatures of more than half the residents of what is known as the Alamitos Bay section, embracing the Belmont Shore Place subdivision on the ocean front. The petition was referred by the City Council to the City Clerk for checking, and will be reported Tuesday.

FRASER AGAIN HEADS ORANGE EXPOSITION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ANAHEIM, Jan. 23. — Malcolm A. Fraser, secretary of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, today was appointed manager of the 1923 California Valencia Orange Show, which will be opened here during the last week in May for the third consecutive year. Fraser had charge of the two previous expositions.

At today's meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce with the executive and finance committee of the orange show, $30,000 was set as the amount necessary to cover the cost of this year's exposition. A committee composed of Oscar Heying, G. M. Theodore, J. P. Sebastian and E. M. Chalmers was appointed to outline plans for raising this amount.

GOOD NEWS FOR FRUIT SHIPPERS

Citrus Industry Gains by Chicago Meeting

Time Schedule to East is to be Resumed

Lower Rate Also Assured in Near Future

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Jan. 23.—Citrus fruit shippers of Southern California have cheering news brought to them with the return of leading fruit men from the meeting of the Western Jobbers' Association and the American Fruit Growers' and Shippers' Association in Chicago.

C. M. Brown of Redlands, well known independent shipper, F. S. Fitzgibbon, traffic manager, and A. M. Pratt sales manager of the Mutual Orange Distributors, arrived today bringing news that railroad representatives agreed to resume the 1921 schedule of time shipments, eight days to Chicago and twelve days to New York.

LOWER RATE SURE

They also report that it is practically assured the citrus fruit rate will be lowered from $1.73 per hundred-weight to $1.50 per hundred-weight, a saving to shippers here of close to $60 a car. Thus two great needs of fruit and vegetable workers; shorter time to market and lower freight rates, have about been worked out.

Through the efforts of Mr. Pratt of the Mutual Orange Distributors, a definite understanding of what a given grade of fruit shall consist was arrived at. An agreement of this kind is one of the large accomplishments, for it makes a certain standard to which packers can work and jobbers look forward to.

There were twenty-seven railroad presidents and executive officers at the meeting, and Mr. Brown represented the citrus industry in the conference regarding time in shipment and rates. Railroad men admitted that they were losing money by the high rate, for shippers have been loading only 375 boxes to the car where formerly they loaded 460 or more.

LONG BEACH SPEEDERS MAY WORK

Recreation Superintendent Proposes Park Project to Police Judge Hawkins

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 23.—A method by which stepping on the accelerator with an excess of vim will contribute automatically to the beautification of the city of Long Beach was proposed to Police Judge Hawkins today by Squire F. DuRee, City Superintendent of Recreation. The plan will be adopted if City Attorney Hoodenpyl decides it is legal, Judge Hawkins said.

The recreation superintendent proposes in brief, to have speeders put to work in the parks. The Long Beach jail is so small that jail sentences for speeders cannot be given, much to Judge Hawkins's regret, and fines do not prove a restraint.

Mr. DuRee says the city spends about $40 a day mowing grass, raking, cleaning up and caring for plants and flowers. He would have the persons sentenced live at home, and get breakfast and dinner there, but would be served luncheon at the city's recreation clubhouse in return for an eight-hour day of park wark.

Fifteen days of park work, Mr. DuRee says, should be the equivalent of an ordinary thirty-day sentence.

Last Rites for Supervisor of Tulare County

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TULARE, Jan. 23.—Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Methodist Church in Tulare for Supervisor Levi W. Bardsley of the Second District, who died at his home here last night after a prolonged illness. His death will leave a vacancy felt by the entire county. The Rev. Mr. Stubbs will be in charge of the services at the church, while Odd Fellows will conduct ritualistic ceremonies at the cemetery.

Mr. Bardsley was born in Warrensburg, Mo., Dec. 19, 1865. He came to California from the East when 6 years of age, moving to Tulare in 1905. He leaves his widow, a daughter, one sister and one nephew. He last met with the Tulare County Board of Supervisors on the 8th inst., at the first session of the new year. His last official duty was the vote for Supervisor Macomber of Tipton as chairman of the board.

WILL LEAD SOCIAL SET IN PANAMA

Wives of Commander-in-Chief and Chief-of-Staff to Head Navy Colony

Mrs. Edward W. Eberle and Mrs. Benjamin F. Hutchinson, wives of the commander-in-chief and chief-of-staff, respectively, of the United States battle fleet, will head the naval colony that will spring up at Panama next month with the departure of the fleet for the southern rendezvous. Authorization of passage to Balboa on the naval transport Argonne for Mrs. Eberle and Mrs. Hutchinson was announced yesterday by the base transportation office.

Southbound, the Argonne will depart Los Angeles Harbor February 15. Besides the naval families she will have on board for Panama, the big transport will take back to the east coast a number of officers assigned to duty at Atlantic stations as well as a number of enlisted men whose terms of service have expired.

She is due to arrived here from Hampton Roads on the 22nd inst. and is bringing to the Pacific approximately 100 officers and their families for station here or with the battle fleet.

Other activities of the week at the Los Angeles Harbor base included the arrival from Bremerton and San Francisco early Monday of the naval ammunition carrier Nitro. She is discharging stores here for the dreadnaughts and will carry south a large consignment of ammunition. The superdreadnaught Arizona came in late yesterday from dry docking at Hunter's Point, while the superdreadnaught Pennsylvania, having completed her annual overhaul at the Puget Sound navy yard, is due from Bremerton Februry 1. The hospital ship Mercy will rejoin the fleet on the 26th inst.

A three-story class C hotel and apartment building is to be erected in the immediate future at the intersection of Philadelphia and Washington streets, Whittier.

The building is to be of brick construction and will have a frontage of 150 feet. It will be 140 feet deep. The ground floor space is to be divided so that it will accommodate eleven stores and the lobby of the hotel, which will be 75 feet long and 50 feet wide. On each of the upper floors will be twenty-six hotel rooms and twenty-four apartments. The structure will be strictly modern throughout, provided with central vacuum cleaning, steam heating and refrigerating apparatus. The project, which will represent the expenditure of approximately $220,000, is being backed by the Whittier Chamber of Commerce.

Industry Backs Exposition for Harbor District

Concrete evidence of Southern California's amazing commercial and industrial development will be given at the third annual Harbor Industrial Exposition at Long Beach from March 12 to 17. The exposition will be especially devoted to the products of the harbor district.

Hundreds of industrial concerns at Los Angeles Harbor, Wilmington and Long Beach have signified their intention of exhibiting their products in the exposition, which will be held in the municipal auditorium at Long Beach and will be sponsored by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Harbor Industrial Exposition Association and the Long Beach Manufacturers' Association.

It is the plan of exposition officials to make the event the largest and best ever held in the harbor district.

Brother Suing Sister, Charges Theft of Love

Demanding $100,000 damages for the asserted alienation of the affection of his daughter, Julius Laventhal filed suit in Superior Court yesterday against his sister, Mrs. Eda Rosenthal, and her husband, Max Rosenthal.

The complaint asserts that Irma Laventhal, then 10 years of age, went to visit her aunt and uncle in San Francisco in June, 1918, and was to return shortly. Instead of sending the girl back, Laventhal declares, the defendants persuaded her to stay with them and she now refuses to live with her father.

A clew to the source of the family trouble is the statement in the complaint that Laventhal had married again. The complaint was filed by W. T. Bearman and W. L. Englehart, attorneys for the plaintiff.

ICE CREAM COMPANY TO EXPAND

Two Additional Buildings Will Double Production and Add Storage Space

Approximately $250,000 is to be expended by the Globe Ice Cream Company for the construction of a large addition to its present building at the intersection of Jefferson and Hill streets. Working plans for the new structure are now being prepared by Architect J. H. Waugh, and construction work is to start immediately after their completion.

Two additional buildings are to be erected. One is to be two stories in height with a frontage of sixty-eight feet on Jefferson street and a depth of 201 feet. In the front section of the building will be space for three stores. The rear of the building will be utilized as a plant for the manufacture of ice, and will be capable of turning out 150 tons per day, an amount equal to that manufactured by the present ice plant of the Globe company. The second story is designed to serve as a warehouse.

The second structure, which will be used for the storage of ice, is to be erected just south of the company's present building. It is to be nine stories in height, of reinforced concrete construction, and will be 100 feet by ninety feet. It will have a storage capacity of 12,000 tons of ice.

The Globe Ice Cream Company is also installing a spur track 548 feet long, which will connect their plant with the Pacific Electric lines.

The work is to be completed by May 1.

TWO GIRLS ACCUSED

Asserted "Bandit Queens" Said to Have Aided in Hold-ups

Martha Deckman and Delpha Anent, named by police "The Bandit Queens," were arraigned yesterday morning in Superior court before Judge Shenk. They pleaded not guilty to the charge of robbery on which they are held with R. W. Simpson, J. H. Robinson and Vasco Lewis.

Police say that the girls were in the habit of leveling pistols at victims, while the three men went through their pockets and removed money and valuables.

Trial was set for March 13, when all but Robinson, who has been transferred to the Juvenile Court, will appear for trial.

BAY CITY MAN ARRESTED

E. T. Switzer, 40 years of age, said to be a wealthy mining man of San Francisco, was arrested in his office at the intersection of Fifth and Spring streets by Officers Katzenberger and Williamson yesterday on a fugitive warrant from the northern city charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. Switzer refused to discuss the case.

LONDON MARKET

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—General business was small on the stock exchange today but a greater degree of professional activity was noticeable, giving a harder appearance to the majority of departments, especially speculatives. The close was steady and featureless. British funds were unchanged in the gilt-edge market. Dollar rails were marked down and rubbers were strong. Mexican Eagle weakened to 1 25-32. Other movements in oils were small. Shells, 3 29-32; Anglo-American, 3⅝. Considerable activity was noticed among American mines. Friscoes were 22s 6d and Mexican Corporation 11s, 3d.

Notwithstanding the withdrawing of funds for window dressing there was an overabundance of credit in the money market and difficulty was found in employing balances for overnight at 1¼ to ⅝ per cent. Day-to-day loans were renewed at 1¼. Fixtures were 1½. Discounts were harder, however, because buyers were rare at the ruling rate. Three months' bills were 2 1-16. Foreign exchange: New York, 4.66¼; Paris, 71.80; Berlin, 60,000 to 95,000.

CALIFORNIA HIDE MARKET

SECURITY APPOINTS OFFICIALS

Six New Vice-Presidents Elected, Bringing List Up to Thirty

Six new vice-presidents of the Security trust and Savings Bank were elected yesterday. They are Philip D. Kennedy at the head office; James B. Gist at the Guaranty office; J. E. Hatch at the Long Beach branch; W. R. Scoville at the Pasadena branch; R. F. Church at the new Burbank branch and Fred Weddington at the new Lankershim branch. This brings the number of vice-presidents up to thirty.

Mr. Kennedy comes to the Security from the First Federal Foreign Banking Association of New York City, of which he was a vice-president. He became director of the New York School of Commerce in 1912, and in 1913 undertook an investigation of the "free ports" of Europe for the Merchants' Association of New York, and when the ways and means committee of Congress took up this matter, he was the first person called to testify.

Mr. Gist, who was elected a vice-president and will be located at the Guaranty office of the Security Bank, is well known in Los Angeles banking circles and was for eight years, secretary and manager of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse.

J. E. Hatch, who became a vice-president at the Long Beach branch, is the son of P. E. Hatch, long prominent in Southern California banking circles.

W. R. Scoville, elected a vice-president at Pasadena, started with the Pasadena National Bank as a book-keeper in 1906, and rose through the various responsibilities until he became cashier of the National Bank and Trust Company of Pasadena in 1919. That institution later merged with the Security Trust and Savings Bank as the Pasadena branch, and Mr. Scoville has since been assistant manager of the Pasadena branch.

R. F. Church of Burbank and Fred Weddington of Lankershim come into the Security family as vice-presidents through the merging of their respective banks. Mr. Church has been cashier of the First National Bank of Burbank for many years, and in active charge of its operations. Mr. Weddington has been president of the Bank of Lankershim, and prominently identified with the development of the eastern end of the San Fernando Valley.

Irving J. Mitchell was given the rank of assistant vice-president.

PROBLEMS OF THE INCOME TAX

BY JOHN G. HENDRON, JR.

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

The question of depreciation affecting the income tax liability of individuals is extremely important. The following statement was made in these columns recently and the authority for it has been asked:

If a man . . . failed to deduct year by year the depreciation which actually occured on properties, he must not expect the Government to fail to take into consideration that depreciation in arriving at his taxable profit when such properties are sold. He may properly, however, insist upon being given credit for that depreciation to which he was entitled and which he failed to take on his tax returns for 1917 or any year since then.

The statement was based on various Government rulings, among them Section 214 (a,) which provides in part: "That in computing net income there shall be a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence."

In Article 161 it is stated that for convenience such an allowance shall usually be referred to as "depreciation." The proper allowance for depreciation for any property used in a trade or business is stated to be that which should be set aside for the taxable year in accordance with a reasonably consistent plan (not necessarily at a uniform rate) by which the aggregate of such amounts for the useful life of the property in the business will suffice, with the salvage value, and having due regard for expenditures made for current, up keep, at the end of such useful life, to provide in place of the property its original cost, not its replacement cost, or its value as of March 1, 1913, if acquired by the taxpayer before that date.

In Income Tax Ruling 1342 it was held that a taxpayer engaged in the business of repairing and building houses that he holds for sale is entitled to a deduction for depreciation, even though the houses are kept vacant before sale.

In Article 169 of Regulations 62, revised July 15, 1922, it is provided: "A depreciation allowance in order to constitute an allowance deduction from gross income must be charged off."

We may, therefore, summarize the above rulings by pointing out, first, that depreciation on property used for income-producing purposes is a proper deduction in arriving at income subject to tax; second, that depreciation is not cumulative as a deduction but must be taken into consideration as it occurs year by year; third, that a taxpayer is not to be penalized for having failed to take depreciation into account year by year, and fourth, that in order to get the benefit of the deduction to which he would otherwise be entitled, he may file amended returns for the year 1917 and since then, provided he was not guilty of fraud or gross negligence when he prepared his original return.

Film Does That

Clouds the beauty of the teeth

Watch the change when you combat it

Film on teeth costs countless men and women one of their chief attractions. They never permit it when once they know how easily they can end it.

This is to tell you the way—to offer you a test. And to urge that, for your sake and your family's sake, you find out what this new way means.

The results will be a revelation.

Film is offensive

You feel on your teeth a viscous film. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Most teeth cleaned in old ways are more or less clouded by film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Most tooth troubles are due to film. Under old methods, they were constantly increasing. Very few escaped. So dental science has for years been searching ways to fight that film.

Two ways discovered

After long research, two ways were discovered. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it daily, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. It corrected several serious mistakes. In this tooth paste were embodied those two great film combatants.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Dentists everywhere are now urging its adoption. To the people of some 50 nations it is fast bringing a new dental era.

Two other essentials

Research also proved two other things essential. Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and forms acids.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting forces in the mouth. The old-time tooth pastes, based on soap and chalk, reduced their power. Pepsodent, with every use, gives them manifold effect.

You see prettier teeth now everywhere

Note how many prettier teeth you see everywhere today. Note how people smile to show them. You will see that a change has come.

So it is the world over. Careful people are using Pepsodent, and largely by dental advice.

Learn how much it means. New beauty, new charm, a new feeling of cleanliness, an increased sense of safety.

To children it may mean lifelong benefits. It means better protection against troubles which you suffered.

This test will convince you. Just watch what it reveals.

A DOZEN REASONS WHY

More investors would prefer Columbia Steel Corporation First Mortgage Bonds if they knew the dozen outstanding features.

Just for example, this corporation represents the first complete unit to manufacture steel on the Pacific Coast, beginning with development of raw material and carrying on manufacture to finished steel products.

According to estimate past net earnings of more than two times interest charges on this bond issue should rise to seven times annual interest requirements, with new plants in full operation.

Dollar Line Adds Three New Boats to Service

Raw Silk Industry Promises Much to Los Angeles

Athletic Club Authorizes Stock Dividend; Bonds

With the intention of improving its facilities to handle the rapidly growing inter-costal trade, the Robert Dollar Line had added three steamers to this service, two of which are recent purchases from the United State government and British shipping interests, according to an announcement made yesterday by C. J. Lehman, agent for the company here. The ships will participate in the general freight service between New York, Baltimore, Norfolk, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle.

The first of the steamers is the S. S. Dix, formerly in the United States transport service, and was purchased from the government. It has a rated capacity of 10,000 tons. The second of the additions is the S. S. Virginia Dollar, formerly known as the S. S. Wayferer, a British steamer. This ship will be placed in the round the world trade, and will call at the principal ports. It has a capacity of 14,000 tons. The Virginia Dollar replaces the S. S. Diana Dollar in the world trade service because of the transference of the latter to the intercoastal route. The Diana Dollar leaves New York February 10, and will stop at the regular coastal ports.

The third addition to the intercoast schedule is the S. S. Warazawa, having a capacity of 10,000 tons and purchased from the United States Shipping Board. All of the ships in this service will carry a general corgo, consisting of steel, paper, canned goods, peanuts, etc.

The maiden voyage of the motor boat ship Lochgoil, jointly owned by the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. and the Holland-American Line, and operated by the North Pacific Coast Line, is being watched with considerable interest by shippink men. The Lochgoil was built in Scotland, and is especially equipped for trans-Atlantic freight service. The ship has two sets of winches and cargo booms on the eight hatches, and in addition has refrigerating facilities. An economical speed of 12.5 knots is predicted on 140 barrels of oil a day. The Lochgoil will carry twelve first class passengers.

SILK INDUSTRY

In raw silk, Los Angeles harbor has a commodity which promises to grow into an appreciable volume of the annual imports from the Orient, if the plans for the construction of the Golden State Silk Mills are carried to consummation. The Los Angeles capitalists behind the project, according to the announcement published recently, are negotiating for a factory site on which they will erect a plant equipped to manufacture all grades and kinds of woven silk, and intend to secure their raw product direct from the Orient by way of Los Angeles harbor.

That this city is a heavy consumer of silk goods is attested by department store heads, who report that this kind of fabric is having a record movement this season. The goods are purchased from eastern manufacturers, who import large quantities of raw silk from Japan, and find a ready market in Western states for the finished product. By eliminating the freight charges on the heavy volume of goods sold in this region, it is expected that a manufacturing enterprise located in Los Angeles and importing directly, will be able to undersell the eastern manufacturers.

The potential importance of a silk industry here is proved by figures showing that $1,500,000,000 was sold in the United States in 1922, a considerable portion of which was undoubtedly consumed on the Pacific Coast. With the establishment of silk mills in Los Angeles, the revenue accruing from the sale of the goods will provide a large amount of the capital assets of this territory. Added to this sum will be the import duties on the raw silk, which is now going to eastern ports.

Silk experts, according to data prepared by the National City Bank, estimate that the quantity of raw silk entering the United States in 1922 exceeds by 25 per

Union Mortgage Co. Completes Its First Year

The first annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Mortgage Company of California was held in the offices of the company yesterday with practically all the outstanding stock represented.

The report of the vice-president and general manager, L. W. McAtee, met with most hearty approval and evidenced the fine progress that has been made by the institution during the year. After having paid a dividend in July, 1922, and Jan. 1, 1923, at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, satisfactory surplus earnings were shown. The manager's report dwelt on the activities of the company, which now covers every form of real estate mortgage and trust deed transaction, inclusive of a mortgage bond department.

The newly elected directors selected the following officers: Chairman of the board, George F. Krug; president, Lloyd W. McAtee; vice-president, Julius Berman; vice-president; H. L. Carnahan; vice-president, David R. Trattner; secretary, Meyer Frank; treasurer, Robert H. Parker.

Mr. McAtee, who was elected president, has been the active vice-president and general manager of the institution since its inception, and will continue as the general manager.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Local Chain Store System That Grows at the Rate of One Hundred Per Cent a Year

BY CHAPIN HALL

Los Angeles has come to be known as the city of superlative business. The word "biggest" is oftener and more correctly used here than anywhere else in the country. We have the "biggest' orange crop, the "biggest" oil production, the "biggest" population growth, the "biggest" building program, and the "biggest" this, that and the other. Now comes the "biggest" system of chain grocery stores.

There was a highly significant gathering of the clans last evening at a downtown cafe when 400 employees and a groop of distinguished guests broke bread with the Sam Seelig Company. Significant from a commercial standpoint; significant in its summarization of a marvelous development; significant because it marked a distribution of profits on an impressive scale for it was announced as an added course that the board of directors of this company had authorized the payment to its employees of 20 per cent of the net profits in 1922. Needless to say, so liberal a profit-sharing copartnership met with the enthusiastic approval of the diners.

Stock dividends, of which we have been hearing a good deal of late, represents nothing but the transference of more or less intangible assets from one pocket to the other, and are a matter of only academic interest to the stockholders, but when a fifth of the net profits of a great business are passed out to the men behind the desks and the counters and the motors in real, honest-to-goodness 100-cent dollars without a single string on it, the action is worth more than a passing comment.

One hardly looks for romance in the grocery business. There is, on the face of the returns, very little sentiment in the buying and selling of a can of sardines or five pounds of sugar, but the development of this chain system is synonomous with the growth of Los Angeles, if not indeed a few jumps ahead.

Sam Seelig, president of the company, established his present chain store organization in 1911. On Jan. 1, 1922, seventy stores were being operated. One year later the number was 117. Yesterday it was 121. Tomorrow — well, perhaps General Manager Stewart or Vice-President Dale or the good Lord may know. The present year peak has been tentatively set at 200, but peaks in this organization are apparently set up only to be knocked off. At any rate, there will be a two-year increase of approximately 200 per cent. And that is something to shoot at.

The financial statement of the company reflects a condition quite unusual in a merchandising corporation handling more than 1200 separate and distinct items. Assets are $668,243.50. Accounts and bonus payable, $120,737.59. Surplus, $89,824.12. The common capital stock outstanding amounts to $466,800; preferred stock, $279,800.

So many "records" were retailed at that dinner that Trade Talk could go on indefinitely in their relation, but here are a few that stand out:

More business was transacted in a single recent Saturday than was turned over in a whole year only eleven years ago.

The net quick assets of Dec. 31, 1922 were five times current liabilities. In eleven years that is going some.

The Seelig stores serve 300,000 customers every week.

Another announcement of prime importance which featured the dinner was to the effect that the new Palmetto street warehouse, one of the most complete and modern in the city, will be occupied not later than August 1.

This building enterprise is financed by the Sam Seelig Realty Co., and, by the way, this enterprise is a phase of the business which has a considerable part in its development. It was formed primarily to expedite the large rental, leasing and subleasing business of the stores company. It is a separate corporate entity, although operated and managed by Mr. Seelig and his associates, and serves to keep the necessary real estate transactions entirely separate from the store operation.

Sound merchandising, volume, and a recognition of the axiom that "the customer is always right," are given by Mr. Seelig as among the foundation stones upon which and to which the heavily forged chain is linked.

I. B. A. CONVENTION

The twelfth annual convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America will be held early next October in Washington, D. C.

Preliminary arrangements for the annual gathering are now being made by the board of governors working in co-operation with the Washington members of the association. The exact dates of the meeting at the national capital will be definitely fixed at the meeting of the board of governors to be held at White Sulphur Springs in May. At that time committees will also be chosen to arrange all of the details of the convention which is expected to be one of the most important in the history of the organization.

In view of the fact that the convention is to be held this year at the seat of the Federal government, it is expected that many high government officials will be the guests of the bankers during the course of the meetings. The convention was held last year at Del Monte, Cal.

6% Cumulative Preferred Stock

The Territory served by the Company is largely Monterey County, which includes the famous Salinas Valley—one of the most productive districts California affords. This area, on account of its central location, abundant natural resources and accessibility to all markets, constitutes a particularly favorable field for the sale of utility services. As of September 30, 1922, the Company had 6347 electric, 3190 gas and 1591 water consumers, which illustrates the diversity of the Company's activities, always a strong safety factor in any business.

This cumulative preferred stock is tax exempt except in California and the quarterly dividends are free from the normal Federal Income Tax. At the offering price of $86 per share the yield is full 7%—of no mean importance at prevailing rates. Call, phone or write for fuller details.

The Bonds of the Merry Monarch

England 1660-1685

CHARLES II of England, the Merry Monarch, didn't always cause merriment among his subjects.

In 1667, he became afraid of his own army, whose pay was long overdue. Not having enough money to pay them off and disband them, he called the bankers of London together and asked how much money each of them could loan.

The bankers lent £3,000,000 on assignments or bonds of the Royal Exchequer. Interest was fixed at 8%, since the bankers were paying their depositors 6%.

In 1672 Charles was again hard pressed for money. He issued a proclamation refusing to pay the principal on his indebtedness for one year. In addition to this he failed to pay even the interest.

Bankers and their clients were in a panic. Many of them went mad, died, suicided. Year after year passed without payment. Finally the principal was refunded and this still remains a part of the national debt of England.

The Columbia Steel Corporation succeeds to the flourishing business of the Columbia Steel Company, which during the past five years has averaged twice the annual earnings necessary to meet the interest on these bonds. Besides offering property valued at more than twice the loan, the corporation possesses the additional assurance of safety imparted by a strong personnel of officers, including W. E. Creed, Herbert Fleishhacker, John S. Drum, W. W. Crocker and J. D. Grant.

The bonds are offered at par. Complete information will be sent you upon request.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Prices in today's stock market opened strong, reacted in the early afternoon and then strengthened again before the close, making final quotations irregulary higher. The afternoon reaction accompanied marking up of the call money rate from 4 to 5 per cent, news of the Turkish rejection of the British proposal regarding the Mosul oil fields and a sensational break in Fisher Body stock, which dropped from 203 to 162 and then rallied to 172 for a net loss of 28 1-4 points.

The reaction was halted by a bullish demonstration in the rubber shares, which accompanied announcement of another increase in the price of crude rubber to 37 cents a pound, the highest since the middle of 1920 and more than double the price in the early weeks of last year. There was also a heavy accumulation of railroad shares just before the close, several investment issues gaining 1 to 1½ points.

Trading continued to be largely a professional affair, the volume of sales being even lower than that of yesterday, which was the smallest full day session since the middle of last August. The extreme dullness made it difficult to ascribe any particular reason for the fluctuations of most prices.

Baldwin and Studebaker were again the most active of the leading industrials, the former closing at a slight fractional loss. U. S. Steel advanced a point and gains of a point or more also were registered by such prominent industrials as American Tobacco, Consolidated Gas, Crucible Steel, Maxwell Motors A and B, Tobacco Products, A, Steel and Tube preferred, United Fruit, U. S. Rubber and Corn Products. Mackay Companies gained 2 points. Woolworth dropped 11 1-8 points to 201, California Petroleum closed 2-1-8 lower.

No special reason was assigned for the heavy buying of rail shares in the final dealings. Jersey Central advanced 5 points and gains of 1 to nearly 2 points were scored by Baltimore and Ohio, Canadian Pacific, St. Paul, Lehigh Valley, New York Central, Pere Marquette, Union Pacific and Western Maryland second preferred.

Call money opened at 4 per cent, advanced to 4½ in the late afternoon and thence to 5, where it closed. Government withdrawals from local banks during the day amounted to $29,500,000 with heavy withdrawals also reported by interior institutions. Trading was active in the time-money market and the tone was somewhat easier, large amounts being offered at 4½ per cent for the shorter maturities and at 4 3-4 per cent for the longer periods. The commercial paper market also was more active. The bulk of the prime names commanded 4 1-4 per cent.

A brisk rally took place in most foreign exchange rates. Demand sterling advanced 1 cent to $4.66 1-8 and French checks rose 18 points to 6.53, with more morerate advances in the Belgian and Italian rates. Danish exchange, which dropped to 18.69 yesterday as against 19.24 on Saturday, jumped today to 19.40. Calcutta exchange established another new high record, the rupee being quoted at 33.25 cents.

Day's total sales 604,000 shares. Twenty industrials averaged 97.13. Net gain, .18. High, 1922, 103.43. Low, 73.59. Twenty railroads averaged 85.77. Nea gain, .67. High, 1922, 93.99. Low, 73.43.

Dated February 1, 1923. Due February 1, 1943.

Interest payable February 1 and August 1.

To be authorized $1,750,000. To be presently issued $1,500,000

Redeemable as a whole or in part at any time upon 30 days' notice at 110 and interest if called on or before February 1, 1928; at 107½ and interest if called thereafter and on or before February 1, 1933; at 105 and interest if called thereafter and on or before February 1, 1938; at 102½ and interest if called thereafter. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1000, $500 and $100, interchangeable and registerable as to principal.

Interest payable without deduction for Federal income taxes not exceeding 2% per annum. The Company will refund, upon proper application, the Pennsylvania and Connecticut Personal Property Taxes not in excess of four mills per annum, the Maryland Securities Tax not in excess of four and one-half mills per annum, and the Massachusetts Income Tax on the interest not in excess of 6% per annum.

THE CHEMICAL NATIONAL BANK, NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

Mr. Benjamin B. Tilt, President of the Company, has summarized his letter to us regarding these Bonds as follows:

BUSINESS AND PROPERTY: The business of the Phoenix Silk Manufacturing Company, Inc. was established 99 years ago, in 1824. The Company is engaged in the manufacture and sale of a variety of broad silks, including crepe de chine, medium priced dress silks, tailors linings, tie silks and also ribbons. The development of the Company to its present and important position in the trade has been almost entirely financed by earnings. The Company's mills are located in Allentown and Pottsville, Pa., which with a finishing plant and testing laboratory in New York City, have an annual capacity of 6,000,000 yards of finished product.

SECURITY: These Bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct first mortgage on all the fixed assets of the Company now owned or to be hereafter acquired.

ASSETS: The Company's balance sheet as of November 30, 1922, adjusted to show the results of this financing, shows fixed assets, less depreciation, (upon which these bonds are a first mortgage) amounting to $3,214,490, or over twice the total amount of this issue. In the same balance sheet, net quick assets alone total $1,441,997, or nearly 100% of this issue.

EARNINGS: The net operating profits for the six years and nine months ended September 20, 1922, applicable to interest, taxes, depreciation and commissions to factors, averaged $580,209; equivalent, after deducting the commission to factors, to over four times interest charges on this issue. During this period, depreciation charges have averaged $97,203 per annum, and commissions to factors $157,286 per annum. The new contract with the company's factors made as a result of the present financing, will reduce the rate of commission approximately 50%. Current operating profits on the above basis are at the rate of over three times interest charges.

SINKING FUND: A sinking fund of $84,000 per annum, commencing March 1, 1923, and operating monthly will be used to purchase Bonds at not exceeding the current redemption price, or if not so obtainable to call Bonds at that price. Bonds so purchased or called will be cancelled and the sinking fund will be sufficient to retire the entire issue by maturity.

GENERAL: The management of the Company will remain under the supervision and direction of the same interests that have held control since 1860. Every indication points to continued operations on a highly profitable basis.

Legal details in connection with this issue will be passed upon by Messrs. Cravath, Henderson, Leffingwell & de Gersdorff of New York for the Bankers, and by Messrs. Rose & Paskus of New York for the Company. Engineering report has been made by Messrs. Sanderson & Porter. The accounts of the Company have been audited by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co.

We offer these bonds when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of counsel. Trust Receipts, exchangeable for definitive bonds when ready, are expected to be ready for delivery on or about February 10, 1923.

Let Your New Investments Earn 12%---Plus

Some cautious investors who usually purchase Mortgages and Preferred Stocks that do not participate in the profits of the business, are not accustomed to the idea that an Industrial Investment paying 12% Annually can be a Sound and Seasoned Investment, and not a Speculation.

Seven Years of Remarkable Success

Are back of the Common Stock offering of the Rio Grande Oil (Refining) Company, operating refineries at El Paso, Texas, and Phoenix, Arizona.

This Company confines its operations to refining and marketing.

Each $1000.00 of the original investment (January, 1916,) has earned and the investor has received to date, $11,000 in stock dividends, and $4800 cash.

Present Invested capital over $500,000. Book value after paying the above dividends is considerably above par. Annual sales approximately $2,500,000.

For the purpose of building its third refinery, to be located in Los Angeles, a block of its Common Stock will be sold at par $100 per share.

The Company issues only Common Stock and it participates in the profits of all three plants.

The Directors have established a policy of Cash Dividends at the rate of 12% Annually (3% Quarterly,) and stock dividends as surplus accumulates.

Call or write for full information and a copy of Gasoline Profits.

An industrial street 6500 miles long

A GIGANTIC conception, surely, yet the value of all the property on such a street would not equal the value of properties appraised by The American Appraisal Company.

More than 20,000 separate properties have come under the protection of American Appraisal Service during a generation of experience. More than 10,000 concerns, representing every industry and every locality, can testify to the unerring provability and disinterestedness of American Appraisal Service.

If training and a long record of satisfactory relations mean anything, these figures constitute a guarantee that from The American Appraisal Company business receives the utmost in appraisal service.

Versatility

Whether it be a coal mine or a machine shop, a street railway or a candy factory—The American Appraisal Company has a staff specifically qualified for its appraisal.

This specialization is made possible by the extent of our personnel—more than eight hundred individuals—and by the wealth of experience gained during a generation of valuation work.

Familiarity with the general conditions prevailing in your industry assures a thoughtful regard for the particular conditions in your own property. Our representative will be glad to review with you our work in similar lines.

Investing for Profit

SAFETY of principal and certainty of income must always be the first consideration in the selection of any security. But by careful investing it is often possible to obtain a security in which this safety is combined with a higher interest rate and a better chance of appreciation than is offered by other issues of the same class.

Such an opportunity, we believe, is now offered by

Ratings and Advertising

WE have recently prepared a booklet with the above title, which we should be pleased to send to our friends upon request. It presents an interesting discussion of a policy this business has followed for many years.

"To the lay mind it is a contradiction in terms for a rating service to receive money for advertising from those who are financially interested in the sale of the securities it rates."

BUSINESS ANALYSIS BY MOODY

Iron and Steel Trade; Building Situation; Commodity Prices

Moody's monthly analysis of business conditions says in part:

"Iron and steel prices, according to all appearances, have turned downward. In ordinary times steel tends to go higher during the fourth quarter of the year, because of the buying for spring delivery. This time, however, the average monthly composite prices of steel declined in both November and December. February and March are usually active months in the iron and steel trades, but except perhaps for these two months consumers need not rush to cover future requirements.

"The broad indications are, both that the building boom has not yet terminated, and that it will not continue unabated for any very long series of months. If the general prosperity continues, the rise in building costs will have a restrictive influence; and if prosperity diminishes the diminution itself will have a restrictive influence. So it is that, candidly viewed, the prospects are that the building boom should run into the spring or early summer, and then gradually fade away.

"Commodity and goods prices in view of the present prosperity ought to be from firm to strong during the first quarter of this year, but the presumable life of the rise or rally measured in time has largely passed, and it would seem to be overoptimism to look forward to a steady upward trend of prices without much setback. Paradoxical as it may seem, a sharp rise in costs or operating ratios is always followed by a decline in commodity prices. It appears advisable, then, to take a conservative view of the future of prices to avoid long term purchasing contracts, unless these are well warranted by definite statistical positions, and to regard the future of commodity and goods prices as being an open question."

DAILY TALK ON TRADE GIVEN

tion increasing, but that consumption has fallen off.

Referring to oil in Russia he points out that if Americans should find it, they would be obliged to sell it on the spot for oil production in Russia at the moment must prove profitless. He declares that the Royal Dutch is not grieving over being compelled to abandon its properties for the time being in the Baku region.

On the possibility of raising Royal Dutch dividends to their old level Sir Henry said that he would not be too optimistic, for while the Dutch East Indies export tax has been temporarily abolished there is the menace of another tax on refined petroleum which perhaps would be five times higher than the export tax.

STOCK DIVIDEND

Directors of the Los Angeles Athletic Club have authorized the distribution of the corporations $750,000 surplus in property by the declaration of a 150 per cent stock dividend, which increases the authorized capital to $2,000,000 from $500,000. After the payment of the dividend, the outstanding stock will amount to $1,250,000, the par value of which is $10.

INDUSTRIAL BONDS

George H. Burr & Co., Halsey Stuart & Co. and George H. Burr, Conrad and Broom are offering today $4,500,000 Rudolph Wurlitzer Company 6 per cent sinking fund gold debentures due 1938, at 99 and interest, yielding about 6.10 per cent. The Rudolph Wurlitzer is said to be the largest distributor of a complete line of musical instruments in the world, having operated successfully since 1856. Total net assets available for the debenture issue, after giving effect to the present financing, amount to $17,030,232, or over three and three quarters times the debenture issue.

HOTEL ISSUE

S. W. Straus & Co. announce the purchase of $1,200,000 Chelsea Hotel Company of Chicago first mortgage serial bonds, due from three to fifteen years. The security for the issue is the land, building and equipment of the new Chelsea Apartment-Hotel.

FOREIGN TRADE NOTES

Eggs in large quantities are desired in Chile, according to information received by the Department of Commerce.

A manufacturer in China is in the market for candy making machinery. Prices and catalogs required.

A South Africa merchant inquires for woolen goods for summer wear.

GETTING OUT OF DEBT

Secretary Mellon states that the current government deficit is gradually being wiped out and that by June 30 the entire deficit will be wiped out provided the collection of back taxes now coming into the treasury continues in its present volume.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—All markets which were disturbed or upset on Monday turned to recovery today. This was not because of cables from Europe announcing happy adjustment of the deadlock in the Ruhr. In its general character, today's news was similar to the news of the day before. But even that, it should be observed, meant that the daily grist of gloomy prediction and alarming rumor had not materialized. Since Monday's rumors were not of the long-range description but called for immediate fulfillment (as has been the case with the "Ruhr rumors" for a week or more,) there was nothing for the market to do but to retrace its steps.

Whether the market's violent decline in European exchange rates may not have been to some extent a result of Lloyd George's remarks, published by his syndicate on Sunday in this country and Europe, is at least debatable.

When the recent autocrat of British foreign policy was capable of declaring, over his own signature, the statement that the new policy "is drawing France toward a sure doom," and that the march on Essen was an event "the most far-reaching and probably most sinister in its consequences that has been witnessed for many centuries in Europe," many sorts of response might have been looked for in the mighty speculative circles.

Today, however, the market reversed its attitude somewhat suddenly. Francs, which had fallen from 6.51 cents to 6.33 the day before, rose today to 6.53½ and the other European exchanges followed. Sterling at Paris moved rapidly in favor of the market. Even the German mark recovered on Wall street notwithstanding a weekly Reichsbank statement showing 101,279,000,000 more paper marks poured into circulation. The currency has expanded 50 per cent in a month. If the pace of increase is maintained, it will foot up 16 trillion marks by mid-summer.

Today's stock market advanced with the recovery in exchange. It suffered reaction in the late afternoon, but this was plainly a matter of professional maneuvering. News from the Ruhr was this time hardly mentioned and transactions on the stock exchange were only a trifle larger than Monday's abnormally small total. The day's cables reported firm stock markets at London and Paris also. Prices for grain and cotton advanced sharply. The speculative experts who are determined to tie up the price of wheat and cotton to the political situation in Europe, professed to be selling both markets on Monday on the theory that the expected cataclysm would not admit of European purchases of food or clothing.

UNDERLYING POWER APPARENT IN COTTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The cotton market resumed its advance today and despite some late profit taking, closed 39 to 60 points net higher. The market gave a splendid exhibition of underlying strength, and in early dealings moved into new high ground.

The general recovery was accompanied by active recovering on the part of bewildered shorts who were still puzzling over the situation; trade demand, and new support from old bulls, who were re-establishing lines they had sold out on the break of Monday.

It was evident that the break yesterday had imparted to the market just the degree of technical strength it needed to continue its advance.

Buying of power increased early in the afternoon and the market continued to move higher. Reactionists made little or no headway, as profit taking, such as appeared, was readily absorbed by the trade, Wall Street bulls and Liverpool. Final bids were the best.

Spot steady 60 points advance, 28.75 for middling uplands.

Southern spot markets: Galveston 28.70, 60 points advance; New Orleans 28.38, 38 points advance; Savannah 28.75, 62 points advance; Norfolk 28.75, 50 points advance; Memphis 28.50, 25 points advance; Houston 28.65, 60 points advance; Little Rock 28.00, 50 points advance.

FISHER BODY FINANCING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Circulation of rumors in the financial district that the Fisher Body Corporation was contemplating the issuance of 100,000 shares of additional common stock and $20,000,000 of 6 per cent debenture bonds caused a violent 38-point break in the stock of that corporation late today on the New York Stock Exchange.

The stock closed last night at 200¼, advanced this morning to 203, and then dropped to 162. It rallied 10 points before the close, making a loss of 28¼ points.

Durant Motors of Delaware, traded in on the curb, also broke badly. It closed last night at 78¼, fell this afternoon to 68 and then rallied to 70½ for a net loss of 7¾ points.

W. C. Durant, head of Durant Motors, recently has been offering certificates of participation in Fisher Body Stock, the majority of which is owned by the General Motors Corporation of which he formerly was the head. Packard Motors, in which Mr. Durant is also reported to have been interested and which advanced from 11⅛ to 14 on reports of buying by him, also had a sinking spell in today's market, dropping to 12⅛, but advancing later to 13⅛, where it closed last night.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—The declaration of stock dividends aggregating about $2,150,000,000 last year will have no effect on taxation of corporations by the government. If corporations have accumulated profits beyond the reasonable needs of their business, they are subject to the surtax. Whene such profits have been distributed in stock dividends, the government can proceed with enforcement of the penalty tax just as well as before any stock dividend was declared.

This explanation was made today by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in response to a Senate resolution inquiring if income tax penalties had been imposed on corporations declaring stock dividends. At the same time, Mr. Mellon expressed a desire to correct public misapprehension as to the effect of stock dividends on taxation.

"The declaration of a stock dividend does not relieve the corporation from taxes nor does it indicate a corporation has accumulated gains or profits beyond the reasonable needs of its business," Secretary Mellon stated, "for the entire amount of the surplus capitalized by the declaration of the stock dividend may be invested in plant, equipment and inventory, or be needed as working capital, or it may have been accumulated before the high taxes became effective.

"Furthermore, the receipt of a stock dividend by itself has no effect upon the tax liability of the recipient since the holder of stock in the corporation after the receipt of a stock dividend has altogether no more than he had before. In any case, where the section (the surtax on improper surplus) applies, the department can proceed with its enforcement quite as well as before the declaration of a stock dividend."

BOND QUOTATIONS

Firmer Tone

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Bond prices exhibited a firmer tone in today's market but a number of weak spots in the rails and public utilities gave it a spotty appearance at the close. Except for a drop of 14 cents on $100 in the First 4 1-4s, U. S. government bonds were either higher or unchanged, the gains ranging from 2 to 16 cents, the highest in the Second 4s, which ordinarily are inactive.

There was a suspension of liquidation in the French and Belgian issues on the brisk recovery in exchange rates but French 8s, Bordeaux 6s, Lyons 6s and Seine 7s were the only liens to make any material recovery, the gains in these ranging from 1 to 1½ points. Latin American bonds were strong, Mexican 5s advancing 1 3-4 on reports, that the Mexican government had deposited sufficient funds here to make the first debt payment, April 1, and advances of 1 to 1½ points being recorded by Republic of Colombia 6s, Bolivian 8s, Republic of Chile 7s and Havana Electric 5s. Danish bonds were weak, apparently in belated response to yesterday's sharp drop in exchange.

Goodyear 8s of 1931 advanced 3 points on a heavy turnover and Maryland Oil 8s, with warrants, moved up 4, while gains of a point each were registered by Chile Copper 7s, Mexican Petroleum 8s and Wilson Company conv. 6s. The feature of the railroad list was a drop of 1 3-4 to 61 1-4, a new low record, in the New Haven franc 7s; St. Paul gen. 4½s, Chicago and Alton 3½s and Louisville and Nashville unified 4s each advanced at least a point.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit 5s, seldom dealt in, dropped 3 points and Interborough Rapid Transit 6s 2½. Consumers' Power 5s were pushed up 1½ points.

Total sales, par value, were $11,443,000.

SENTIMENT IN BUSINESS? YES

How Johnstown Paid a Flood Debt to Galveston

Athenian Oath Revived by Gulf Port Citizen

Great Building to Rise in Pride of City

BY RICHARD SPILLANE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—Twenty centuries ago it was the custom for the youth of Athens to give pledge of fidelity to their city that they ever might be worthy of its citizenship. This is known as the Athenian oath.

Something of the spirit of the young men of Athens must animate G. H. Mempner, of Galveston, Texas. On the 14th inst., he celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his birth by announcing that his bank would build the finest and biggest business structure in the city and one that would compare favorably with anything in the southwest.

This means more to Galveston than it would to the average city, for Galveston has suffered seriously through severe storms, that of September 8, 1900, destroying many buildings and entailing a loss of more than 6000 lives.

Mr. Kempner was born January 14, 1873. He was a student at Washington and Lee University when his father died and he had to give up his university course to assume charge of a large cotton and banking business. How well he has done may be imagined from the fact that he is now one of the foremost figures in the South. He is a member of the executive committee of the American Bankers' association, vice president of the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities; president of the various great concerns embraced in what is known as the Sugarland Industries, director of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway, the Southern stem of the Atchison system; president of the Merchants' and Planters' Congress and president of the Texas Bank & Trust Company and various other corporations.

MAN OF PARTS

He has been mayor of Galveston, was one of the originators of its commission form of government, president of its cotton exchange—the youngest president, by the way, it ever had—treasurer of the city and about everything else. He is a member of the New York Cotton Exchange, the New Orleans exchange and an honorary member of the Liverpool exchange. Incidentally some persons say Mr. Kemper is the richest man in Texas, if not in the South. Certainly he is one of the ablest.

The pride of the people of Galveston in their city is great and their faith in it is unbounded. Evidence of this faith was furnished shortly after the great storm of 1900 by L. Fellman, head of the big drygoods house of Fellman and Grumbach.

Before all the evidence of the great disaster had been cleared away Mr. Fellman startled the city by announcing he was going to build the biggest drygoods establishment in the State. That was like an elixir to the stricken people. Soon they saw plans of the promised structure and then came news of the awarding of contracts for the building. But when the foundations had been laid work stopped. No steel had come forward. Some one started a story that the project had been abandoned. The fact was that there had been a sudden revival in industry throughout America, the steel mills were overwhelmed with business and the orders for the Fellman and Grumbach steel had been pigeonholed or displaced by larger contracts.

Mr. Grumbach was sent to Pittsburg to see whether he could not hasten the material. He had difficulty in making headway. Meanwhile, in Galveston, there was acute depression.

One day Mr. Grumbach—who now, by the way, is connected with the National Park Bank of New York—managed to get the attention of a prominent official of the Cambria Steel Company. He told the story of Galveston, or, rather, part of it, and how much the construction of that building meant in restoring confidence, but he never finished the narration.

THEY GOT THE STEEL

"Stop," said the official. "Not another word, Mr. Grumbach. I read of the Galveston storm, as everyone did. And that story appealed to me profoundly for I was in the Johnstown flood and I know what a flood means. And what's more, I want to tell you that the first message we got of relief from any city in America was for Galveston, from you people whose steel is now held up. Go home. Go by the first train, but first telegraph to your people that the Cambria company will turn out your steel as fast as the good Lord will let us and we'll get it to you as rapidly as it is possible for railroads to carry it."

And he kept his pledge.

Probably there never was a more expeditious piece of work done by the Cambria Steel Company. It didn't stop with making the steel. It loaded the stuff and with every consignment it sent a special man to see there was no delay. Every railroad carrying that freight was informed that it must do its best to rush it through. The wires were kept busy. Reports of progress had to be made from every division point along the line. It is doubtful that ever a better record was made by the Cambria in filling any order or by the railroads between Pittsburg and Galveston in delivering the goods.

Johnstown was paying its debt to the city that had been the first, or one of the first to come to its aid in time of great need.

Sentiment in business? There's lots of it.

And how better could a man mark a milestone in his life than raise a great monument of industry in and for his home town?

POLICE FIND WATCH

Recover Property of Judge In Arrest of Charles Murray

U. S. Dist. Judge Benjamin E. Bledsoe will recover a watch and charm he valued highly as a result, the police say, of the capture yesterday of Charles Murray, 28 years of age.

Murray, according to the police, was seen by Mrs. Elizabeth Warnan to jump from a window at the home of Mrs. L. M. Caldwell, 531 South Mariposa avenue. She notified Patrolman Kirk. As Kirk had an automobile and Murray was on foot, the policeman had little difficulty in ending Murray's flight.

Besides Judge Bledsoe's watch, Murray had in his pockets, the police say, two revolvers taken from Mrs. Caldwell's home. The watch was taken from Judge Bledsoe's home at 442 South Alexandria avenue several days ago.

FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

George Monroe was taken into custody yesterday by Department of Justice agents, on the charge of violating the Mann White Slave Act. The girl in the case, Miss Elizabeth Hart, is but 15 years of age. It is said that Monroe and the girl came here from Ohio.

WALL STREET NEWS

BY MONITOR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.——It is generally expected that the Lehigh segregation plan will be announced within the next week or so, and that this plan should be favorable to stockholders is evidenced by the consistent strength shown by the stock in the open market. today the issue crossed 70 and imparted a tone of quiet confidence to the entire rail group. As a matter of fact the rails seem to be in a very strong position at the present time, barring the always ever-present possibility of adverse legislation at Washington.

New Haven is holding up a bit better and resistance shown between 17 and 18 1-2, is decidedly good. No real apprehension is felt over the possibilities of a receiver for this road, and it is known that one of the most prominent bears on New Haven, a trader who was consistently bearish when the stock was moving around fancy trading levels, is advising accumulation of the stock at 17 or better. The equipment situation on the New Haven is apparently improving, and despite the handicaps imposed on any system which finds its main source of revenue derived from short hauls, as is New Haven's, it is believed that the company's affairs should soon begin to show consistent improvement.

The extent to which possible national legislation of the railways affects market sentiment is observable by the notable increase in bullishness on the carrier group which follows the growing expectation that the new Congress will probably hold no special session this year. For some time the rail stocks were keeping pace in the stock market with the steady improvement shown in operating conditions and during recent weeks the rails have been quieter. During this period the improvement in the transportation situation has been cumulative, and apparently the rails are again moving in response to this betterment.

An announcement from Washington says that the Interstate Commerce Commission will grant the joint application of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and the New York Lackawanna and Western whereby the roads ask for authority to change the interest rate on their contemplated issue of $10,000,000 of bonds from 5 per cent to 4 1-2 per cent. This is an interesting commentary upon the condition of the money markets, as the roads have every reason to believe that the 4 1-2 per cent bonds can now be sold at as good a price as that at which 5's had been disposed of a few months ago.

Another item exerting a beneficial influence upon stock-market sentiment was the announcement that the Santa Fe is planning to expend about $5,000,000 in improvement in Emporia, Kan. The steady stream of reports from all parts of the country concerning the enlarged range of railway improvements leads to the belief that the carriers are taking full advantage of the present easy money conditions to prepare for the further betterment in American industrial conditions which appears to be inevitable.

Wall street opinion persisted in linking the break of 28 points in Fisher Body with the decline of 14 points or so in Durant Motors on the curb. For some time the activities of the Durant interests in Fisher Body have attracted considerable attention, and it is believed that the result of any new financing which may be contemplated by officers of Fisher Body will be adverse to such activities. There was nothing of an official nature to cast light on the situation today, but in most quarters a report that Fisher was considering heavy financing received considerable credence. At the prseent time it is understood that the planned financing program being considered will have as its principal feature the issuance of 100,000 shares of new common stock and $20,000,000 of 6 per cent debentures. The new common stock is to be offered to stockholders for subscription.

cent that of the former high record year of 1921. At this rate, the 1922 total is placed at 56,000,000 pounds against 28,000,000 pounds in 1913, and 45,000,000 pounds in 1919, when the silk factories of the country turned out $688,000,000 worth of silk goods against $254,000,000 in 1914.

The United States is said to be the largest silk consuming and manufacturing country of the world, although it is necessary at present to import the raw material half way around the globe. The volume entering the United States is asserted to be 80 per cent of the world's supply of raw silk.

OLD STUFF

The time worn yarn of dwindling production of oil in Mexico. due to the incursion of salt water was dragged out again yesterday and made the excuse of a bear drive on the "Pan Pete" issues. After early weakness, however, both stocks rallied sharply and closed with substantial net gains.

According to the alleged private dispatches received in the financial district production of the Doheney properties in Mexico has dropped to 78,000 barrels a day from an average production in December of 117,000 barrels, and every well of the Mexican Pete Company in the Tierra-Blanca and Capapote fields has been pinched down due to salt water.

The rumors met with prompt denials from Mexican Pete officials who produced figures showing January 20 production was in excess of 127,000 barrels. They pointed out that production is being kept down to a level measured only by the company's pipe-line capacity and the contracts on its books.

MUNICIPAL SALES

Bond & Goodwin & Tucker and Blyth, Witter & Co. were the successful bidders yesterday for $95,000 Garden Grove school district 5 per cent bonds, paying a premium of $4012. The bonds mature $3000 annually, 1924 to 1954. Other bidders were Brashears & Co., $3237.50; Williams R. Staats & Co., $3147; First Securities Company, $3081; Freeman, Smith and Camp, $2612.50, and Security Trust and Savings Bank, $2150.

The First Securities Company was awarded $96,000 city of Los Angeles municipal improvement district bonds, maturing $3000 from 1924 to 1955. The premium paid was $1410 on a 5 per cent basis. Other bidders were Drake, Riley & Thomas, $1080, 5 per cent basis; Banks, Huntley & Co., $780, on 5¼ per cent basis; Blyth, Witter & Co., $112, 5¼ per cent basis; California Company, $2656, 5½ per cent basis; William R. Staats & Co., $3086, 5½ per cent basis; Freeman, Smith and Camp, $1536, 5¾ per cent basis, and $3840, 6 per cent basis.

SCHOOL BONDS

Blyth, Witter & Co. and Bond & Goodwin & Tucker today are offering an issue of $95,000 Garden Grove school district 5 per cent bonds, due serially from 1924 to 1953. The bonds are offered at a price to yield about 4.45 per cent.

Garden Grove district has an area of 12,800 acres, located in the northwestern part of Orange county, about thirty miles from Los Angeles. It has an assessed valuation of $1,918,750, with a bonded indebtedness of only $95,000, which is represented by this issue.

The bonds are legal for savings banks in the State of California, are exempt from personal property tax in this State and from Federal income taxes.

IN BANKRUPTCY COURT

The Sociedad Commercial Co-operative Mexicana of San Bernardino filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. The debts of the corporation are $20,695.01; assets, $9575.82.

Beverly Komer, a housewife, filed a similar petition. Her debts are $2647.37, and she has no assets.

The Rudolph Wurlitzer Company will pay on February 1, 1923, 101 and accrued interest for any or all standing 6% Gold Debentures due August 1, 1923 to 1929 inclusive, which may be presented at the of the Trustee of the agreement under which they were issued. The undersigned will now accept Debentures at 101 and interest in payment for the following new issue.

New Issue $4,500,000

The Rudolph Wurlitzer Company

Six Per Cent Sinking Fund Gold Debentures

A Sinking Fund which will retire $180,000 annually, will operate at the end of each four months commencing with May 15, 1923. Debentures will be purchased up to and including the prevailing call price, or if not so obtainable will be redeemed at the then prevailing call price. This sinking fund will retire, prior to maturity, $2,700,000 par value of these debentures, or 60 per cent of the total authorized issue.

Dated Jan. 15, 1923 Due Jan. 15, 1938

Total authorized issue, $4,500,000. Interest payable January 15 and July 15, without deduction for normal Federal Income Tax not in excess of 2%, in New York or Chicago at the offices of George H. Burr & Co., and Halsey, Stuart & Co., or in Cincinnati at the office of the Trustee. Denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100. Redeemable at 105 and accrued interest, if redeemed on or before January 15, 1928, thereafter at 105 and accrued interest less ½% during each succeeding year to and including July 15, 1937, and thereafter prior to maturity at 100 and accrued interest.

For detailed information regarding these Debentures attention is directed to a letter of Howard E. Wurlitzer, President of the Company, from which the following is summarized:

The Rudolph Wurlitzer Company is the largest distributor of a complete line of musical instruments in the world, conducting a business which has been in successful operation since 1856.

These Debentures will be a direct obligation of the Company and will constitute its sole funded debt, except one note of $490,000, payable $10,000 annually and the balance in 1931.

Net quick assets, as shown by the company, a financial statement, dated November 30, 1922, but after giving effect to this financing, amount to $11,711,432.34, or approximately 2.6 times the debenture issue, or $2600 per one thousand dollar debenture and total net assets available for these debentures amount to $17,030,232.61, or over 3¾ times the debenture issue, or $3750 per $1000 debenture.

Net profits applicable to interest charges, after all deductions including depreciation and Federal and State taxes for the five years and seven months ended November 30, 1922, averaged $1,167,564.36 per annum. The maximum annual interest on this issue of Debentures amounts to $270,000.

The Company covenants that so long as any of these Debentures are outstanding, it (1) will not place any mortgage on its properties, except it shall have the right to purchase real estate subject to purchase money mortgage not exceeding 70% of the appraised value of such real estate, (2) will maintain current assets as defined in the indenture to an amount at least 1½ times all indebtedness, including all of these debentures outstanding and (3) in the event of sale of any real estate, plant, machinery or building it will acquire other property of equal or greater value or use the proceeds from such sale to retire debentures of this issue.

The Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. is one of the few large companies which earned a profit throughout the period of deflation following the war. Furthermore, during the past twenty-five years this company has never failed to earn a good profit in each and every year.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Reports from Atlantic City are that the volume of future canned foods business placed at the canners' convention thus far has been surprisingly small and indicates a tendency on the part of wholesale grocers to hold off until the season is more advanced and they can get a better idea as to the actual situation.

There has been a little speculative trading, such as the booking of fancy No. A-1 tomatoes, for example, at a price of 25 cents per dozen over the general opening on standards, yet to be named. This purchase, however, is distinctly out of the ordinary and does not go to make what is commonly known as "the market." Buyers in the back of their minds have an idea that if the crops are bountiful this year the canners will "pack their heads off" to use an expression of one buyer.

A dispatch tonight from the New York Commercial Staff Correspondent at the annual convention of the National Canners' Association at Atlantic City says:

"Walter B. Timms, prominent canned goods authority, warned the tomato packers of the increasing competition which they may expect from California packers, who are shipping to New York and Atlantic ports at a freight rate of 30 cents per 100 pounds, about the same rate as that paid by distributors in the same section on tomatoes canned in Maryland, Delaware and Virginia and nearly as low as those canned in New Jersey.

"The California pack is large in valume and usually excellent in quality," he said. "This is especially true of the 1922 pack which has been sold to the extent of many thousands of cases in eastern markets with entire satisfaction to the buyers."

LEMONS SELL WELL

The sale of 16,646 boxes of Sicily lemons in the New York fruit exchange yesterday brought out some good prices. On first 300s buyers paid $4 to $5 and on first 360s from $3 to $3.75, while smaller sizes sold at $3 to $3.75. Second 300s were taken at $3.37 1-2 to $4.12 1-2 and second 360s at $2.75 to $3.37 1-2. In view of big offerings the prices paid were astonishingly firm.

Sales of domestic fruits were seventeen cars of California-Washington novel oranges and three cars of lemons. On navels the market was about 10 to 20 cents a box lower than on Monday. Lemons averaged about 50 cents a box below the previous close. The demand was good for both products.

DRIED FRUIT QUIET

The dried fruit situation is quiet. Smaller offerings of apricots have stimulated inquiry to a certain extent in the local trade, but no large commitments are being reported. Peaches are without feature but in a general way are steady and the movement is fair. Demand for prunes is slack and prices continue to show easiness. Only a light, scattered jobbing demand is reported for raisins, and prices have a weak undertone. Currants are dull and prices can be shaded moderately on the spot.

While there is a slightly firmer tone in the raw sugar market hopes of holders who were naming 3 3-8 cents cost and freight have not been realized. However, sales have been made at an advance of 1-32 cents above prices last paid. Canada paid 3 9-32 cents cost and freight for some 9000 bags for January loading while late Monday operators were credited with the purchase of some 20,000 bags of Cuban raw sugars for February loading at 3 9-32 cents. So far as refiners are concerned it is not believed that their views are above 3 1-4 cents cost and freight for Cubas the equivalent of 5.02 cents duty paid. Operations in Cuba are rapidly increasing.

REFINED REACTS

The refined sugar market continues quiet. The Federal Sugar Refining Company, which expects to receive a cargo of raw sugar at its plant Thursday, will not name a definite price until the sugars are at the refinery. Meltings are expected to start by Thursday and the company may put out a price before the end of the week. Even though other refiners are guaranteeing prices, they are doing little or nothing at the 6.70 cent level, so that it is expected prices will react further.

In raw sugar futures a feature was the issuance of a short notice for January, breaking that month some 23 points to 3.37 cents. Only a few notices appeared, however, and when they were absorbed the price rallied quickly to 3.45. The easier market on the street and the absence of demand for refined left sentiment rather nervous. Final prices were at a decline of 2 to 20 points.

COFFEE FUTURES

Additional covering of March and May coffee contracts as the result of the strong spot position brought on an initial bulge of some 3 to 8 points in the futures market today but the reactionary trend which had been started the day before again manifested itself through steady selling of May and July on the part of a Wall street jobbing house. This seemed to take the edge off the buoyancy of the Brazilian markets. In the late trading, selling of July was a little more aggressive, that month dropping 3 points in the last few minutes of trading to 8.81 cents. December also sold off. The day's turnover footed up to something like 42,000 bags, the finals on the day being unchanged to 4 points lower.

On stronger cables from Batavia, the tea market took on a still firmer aspect, with the distributors showing still keener desire to contract ahead. The trade in green teas, which was so active last week, has been continued for sales of some chops and invoices of Ping Sueys as well as the Morjunes have gone through.

Reflecting the firmness of conditions in the South, rice markets here show a firmer tone on spot.

LIMA BEANS STRONG

Lima beans ruled strong, and 9⅝ cents is the general price; red and white kidneys were dull. Not much doing in foreign beans, still stocks here appear to be firmly held. Peas are quiet.

The butter market is weaker and prices fully 1 cent lower on table grades. During the last several days certain interests bought freely on call of the Mercantile Exchange, the object being to further the sale of immense quantities of storage butter bought in Chicago. The call was well attended but very little business was officially recorded.

There were no material changes in the market for eggs other than a weak tone on nearly all grades. Fine white eggs are steady.

COPPER ADVANCES

Copper advanced ⅛ to 14⅝ cents for electrolytic delivered over the next four months. On Monday the amount of metal available at 14⅝ was fast dwindling until only one producer had any at this price and this was soon absorbed. The lower price evidently uncovered a large demand, and the market was soon back at 14⅝. Lake copper is still held at 14⅞ a pound delivered, while casting is steady at 14¼ refinery.

The foreign demand has taken a sudden spurt if the volume of business being done on the London metal exchange is any criterion. Transactions yesterday totaling 2000 tons, and those of the day previous 2600 tons. London cables yesterday reported standard spot as advancing 15s to £64 15s, and futures 12s 6d to £65 5s, while electrolytic was up 15s to £71 10s for spot, and £71 15s for futures.

ZINC OFF AGAIN

Zinc was off another 5 points, the St. Louis market closing at 6.80 cents for February-January delivery, 6.75 cents for February, 6.70 cents for March and 6.65 cents for April and May deliveries. Joplin advices state that zinc ore prices were reduced $1 to 7300 tons, but the market closed as follows: High grade sulphide ore, $47.40, premium 60 per cent zinc at $41; prime western, 60 per cent zinc at $40, and fines and slimes at $37 to $39 a ton. In London yesterday spot declined 5s to £35 5s and futures 2s 6d to £33 5s.

The tank wagon price of gasoline has been advanced 2 cents a gallon in the State of Oklahoma by Crew Levick Company, a Cities Service subsidiary. Tank wagon kerosene has been advanced 1 cent. The gasoline advance in Oklahoma follows a similar increase made Monday by Standard Oil of Louisiana. It also follows a general increase in Oklahoma refinery quotations from 10½ to 12 1-4 cents per gallon for new navy gasoline. According to advices from the West there is a decidedly improved feeling prevalent among refiners and distributors in respect to the outlook.

BONDS UNSETTLED

Unsettled conditions prevailed in the bond market, although much relief was expressed over the better behavior of the foreign issues. The dull tone in stocks was partly offset by the improvement in leading exchange rates. The French and United Kingdom 5½s issues finished with small changes in both directions. Cuban bonds showed no traces of the reported political disturbances in the Cuban government. The Mexican 5s were stronger. Midvale 5s scored a substantial advance in early afternoon but eased off in the final hour. The other steel bonds followed the same trend. Tire issues were steady. Activity in copper issues was headed by the Chile Copper 7s, which are nervous pending the outcome of the meeting on contemplated dividends on the stock. As a group the rails were irregular.

Liberties were again dull. The first 4s were subjected to considerable pressure closing off 14 points, while the treasury 4¼s represented the other extreme with a net advance of 6 points on the news that the treasury deficit will be wiped out by June 30.

MIRACLE

Drills on Acreage Proven By and Adjoining Two Mighty 4000-Barrel Wells

WHEN late in the afternoon of January 20th, the Commissioner of Corporations of the State of California affixed his signature to the Miracle Oil Syndicate's permit, there was born a tremendous fortune maker—a great and certain opportunity for riches.

Four mighty oil-soaked leases—hemmed in by some of the mightiest producers on all of Signal Hill—became forever a great part of the Miracle Oil Syndicate. It had become definitely established that four great Miracle drills were going to pierce the same, vast reservoirs of oil as are yielding the Benwell 4000 barrels per day—the 4500-barrel Davis-Macmillan—the 4000-barrel Keck No. 4—the 3700-barrel D'Angelo No. 1—the Mitchell Corbett—the 4500-barrel United Hass No. 2 and the million-making Marine Thatcher, discovery well of the Lovelady Pool, where one of Miracle's wells is drilling below 2000 feet.

But more important than that, it had been definitely established that the general public was for once going to share in those million-making wells.

On Leases That Money Won't Buy

Not one acre—not one foot—of Miracle's priceless acreage will we sell, because knowing Signal Hill as we do—having traced its structure—having as near neighbors to us many 4000-barrel wells—we feel that where thousands might be made selling the acreage at a profit, hundreds of thousands are sure to come, both for our clients and ourselves, by drilling Miracle's wells down to the great, rich petroleum sands of Signal Hill.

In One Vital Particular Miracle is the Greatest Syndicate of All

The pride we feel in being able to offer you Miracle comes from the fact that she is in every sense a Foster Syndicate.

The leases that she owns today were purchased at tremendous prices by us and in these vital particulars Miracle is the greatest of all syndicates.

It has more proven acreage — more proven leases—than were ever before, to our knowledge, included in a single offering.

It drills closer to big production than any offering we know of that has ever been thrown open to the public.

Miracle Drills Three Wells Simultaneously

On three of Miracle's costly, marvelously situated leases, Miracle drills at once. Miracle's bonus well is already more than half way to the sands from which the 4000-barrel Benwell is producing. Miracle well No. 1 is completely rigged and starts its drill downward today. Miracle wells No. 2 and No. 3 are rushing their derricks to completion. The best drillers on Signal Hill drill Miracle's wells and drill them to the deep pay sands.

How Miracle's Profits Will Be Divided

The Fosters own the Miracle Oil Syndicate's leases. 60% of the oil that these leases produce has been forever assigned to the Miracle Oil Syndicate. We guarantee to carry Miracle's first three wells to a depth of 4000 feet, unless at least 1000 barrels of production is secured at a lesser depth. We guarantee to drill additional wells for the Miracle Syndicate, in which each investor will share just as he shares in the first three wells, out of one-third of the Miracle Oil Syndicate's production.

The entire potential production of Miracle's four mighty leaseholds we have divided into 4300 parts or units. Each unit conveys to its owner perpetual ownership of one barrel of oil out of every 4300 barrels of oil Miracle ever receives from all of its wells on all of its leases, cash payment being made to each unit holder at the market price of oil each thirty days for his part of the oil produced.

No officers' salaries, office rents, or any other charge, whatsoever, other than the unitholders' pro rata share of the operating expense of the lease after the wells are completed and producing, can be charged against unitholders.

No assessments or levies of any kind can be made against unitholders for the cost of drilling additional wells for the Miracle Oil Syndicate.

It is distinctly set forth in the Transfer of Ownership which every Miracle unitholder receives that Miracle drills additional wells on its present and additional leases out of one-third of the syndicate's net production.

Miracle units being the actual assignment of oil, are non-assessable and each unitholder is absolutely free from all liability. All units share equally and are the direct obligation of Fred B. Foster & Company, secured by the total assets of Fred B. Foster & Company.

Miracle's Opportunity for Profit

Just a couple of wells like any one of the half dozen that lie so close to Miracle's leases mean that Miracle will pay more than $30 per month on each $100 invested in Miracle units. With four such wells, it will pay twice that amount.

Miracle Units $100 Each

Your opportunity is not limited by the price of Miracle units, but it is limited by the number of units available—only 1000 to the general public.

Your Competition is Big and Keen

Remember that the news that Miracle with its four priceless leases—with a fabulously valuable interest in a fifth—is open to the public for subscription—is now public property. The Fred B. Foster & Company's record is as widely known as that of any business institution in California.

This announcement of Miracle goes not alone to you, but to the general public, including some 5000 regular Foster clients, some of whom have purchased as high as $150,000 worth of units in former syndicates.

That is the competition to obtain Miracle units at $100 each. To be assured of securing an interest in Miracle—even a small one—you should wire your reservation—mail your check today—or come to the office without delay.

POSTAL RECEIPTS GROW

Postmaster Receives Large Number of Stamps for Sale

Postmaster O'Brien is making room for Spring goods at the Los Angeles postoffice.

Yesterday he received by registered mail $1,800,000 worth of postage stamps of denominations from 1 cent to 50 cents. It is expected that with the supply of stamps already on hand, there will be sufficient for the needs of the public for about three months.

With the opening of the new year, the local postal receipts continue at a high water mark, the figures for January so far showing an increase of more than 25 per cent, over that of the same month last year.

THERE'S ABSOLUTE SAFETY

The margin of safety in mortgage banking is so large that chance or risk is hardly a factor today. Mortgages on first class real estate is surpassed in safety only by Government Bonds.

The capital stock of the United States Mortgage Company is being offered in $30 units, consisting of three shares. Two preferred—One common. Par value $10 each.

Aside from every feature of safety and desirability that has its appeal to the investor with much money there is opportunity in this stock for those whose means are limited, for it is possible to purchase on terms of 25% cash and the remainder in twenty equal monthly payments.

Complete information will come to you either in response to a phone call or from a visit to our office. 8% interest is assured, regularly and consistently.

Auto Crowded Off Paving, Man is Fatally Hurt

Forced off the pavement by another automobile, a car driven by D. S. MacClellan, 511 South Boylston street, turned over yesterday on the Newhall grade, probably fatally injuring William Canning, 68 years of age, Mr. MacClellan's father-in-law.

The aged man was rushed to the hospital of Dr. J. T. Mackay, in San Fernando, where little hope for his recovery was held out. The number of the machine responsible for the accident was not obtained, according to a report made by Constable Pilcher.

Mr. Canning had recently come from Alaska, where he had spent the past twenty-five years, and yesterday was the first time since he went away that he had seen his daughter, who, with her two sons, was in the automobile when it turned over.

Mr. MacClellan is the owner of a mining claim, located in Texas Canyon, north of Saugus.

HALT BLACKMAIL GAME

Police Arrest Mrs. William Kane, Who Admits Tourist's Charge

Back of the arraignment yesterday of Mrs. William Kane, 21 years of age, before Police Judge Frederickson on a charge of social vagrancy, lies a story concerning a Detroit tourist who was marked as the victim in a $5000 blackmail game, according to Detectives Bergman and Norgaard, who arrested the woman.

Mrs. Kane pleaded guilty and will be sentenced tomorrow at 2 p.m. Attorney Herman Roth represented her. She has been playing small parts in motion pictures.

According to the arresting officers, the tourist who caused her arrest admitted he had been paying attention to Mrs. Kane. They became acquainted, he said, when she knocked at his door in a hotel. Then she learned he was married and threatened to expose him unless he paid for silence, he charged. Having recently lost $70,000 in speculation he was unable to pay and as an alternative notified police. His name was not made public.

RECORD CLASS TO FINISH

PASADENA, Jan. 23.—The largest graduating class that has ever graduated from the John Muir Junior High School will receive diplomas Friday night. The class numbers ninety-two. On Thursday night at the school auditorium, the annual operetta will be given. Dr. Marvin, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will make the principal address at the graduating exercises.

Noticias de Washington

WASHINGTON, enero 23.—Contestando al Senador Borah, la Administración ha manifestado que era imposible la protesta contra la ocupación del Ruhr.

Después de haber hecho a un lado el presupuesto en la Cámara de Diputados, parece que los partidarios del "barril de puerco" están también ganando en el Senado lo de las consignaciones incrementadas para las obras de ríos y puertos.

Los agricultores, los bancos rurales, los economistas agrícolas y otros, han recomendado con encarecimiento a la Comisión del Senado el proyecto de ley Norbeck-Nelson, a fin de aumentar las ventas de productos agrícolas en Europa.

El Senador Capper, republicano de Kansas, ha presentado un proyecto de ley y una enmienda constitucional para que se dicten leyes federales sobre el matrimonio y el divorcio.

Noticias Europeas

Está muy lejos de ser completa la huelga de mineros hulleros del Valle del Ruhr, ordenada en represalias de la tentativa franco-belga de cobrarse las reparaciones por la fuerza. Dusseldorf comunica que, hoy a medio día, todavía estaban trabajando la mayoría de los mineros del Ruhr; en tanto que en Berlin pretenden que han parado 165,000 hombres en las negociaciones Thyssen y Stinnes.

Anuncian de París que se tomarán muy enérgicas medidas si continuare la resistencia alemana en el Rhur. Serán, entre otras, el en el Ruhr. Serán, entre otras, el dominio completo de las minas, vías férreas y servicios públicos, y la introducción de nuevo papel moneda para contrarrestar la crisis de numerario originada por haber Alemania retirado el efectivo. En comprobación de estas intenciones, un mensaje de Dortmund anuncia que las tropas francesas están ya guarneciendo todas las salidas del Ruhr, a fin de estar listas para aislar el valle, caso de huelga o motines generales.

Se han evitado conflictos entre ingleses y franceses por los arrestos y expulsiones que estos últimos han llevado a cabo en Colonia, cabeza de puente ocupada por los británicos, debido a instrucciones de Londres recibidas por las autoridades militares inglesas, de que no intervengan en estos asuntos, ni tampoco cooperen en ellos.

Cuarenta Defunciones en Chicago Debidas al Alcohol

CHICAGO, enero 23.—De enero a la fecha llegan a catorce las muertes producidas por haber bebido licores que contienen alcohol venenoso. Son dos muertes más que las producidas en el mismo período por accidentes de automóvil.

NOTAS LOCALES

Lo del Aumento de Sueldos a la Policía

Los miembros del Concejo Municipal, en mitin que ayer celebraron en el Club California, con la Comisión del Crimen, aseguraron a ésta de modo definido que se decretaría un aumento de importancia en los haberes de la fuerza de policía de Los Angeles. La citada, comisión presentó a los munícipes una serie de recomendaciones que se permitían hacer en favor del departamento de policía, al que debería ingresarse, según el criterio de la comisión, con un sueldo mínimo de $150 mensuales, pues con remuneración menor no podría tenerse seguridad de alistar hombres suficientemente competentes para luchar contra la seria situación por que atravesamos en materia de crimen. En la discusión salió a luz el hecho de que la Comisión de Hacienda del Ayuntamiento ha convenido, por vía de experiencia, en que se pague, a la entrada, $140 mensuales a los gendarmes, con aumentos, cada año, de $10 por mes, durante cuatro años.

Cohen se Gana una Bofetiza

Harry Yanca Cohen, pretendido maestro del culto del amor, recibió ayer tarde innúmeros cachetes y golpes que le aplicó la Sra. Ella Coulter en el juzgado del Juez Hahn. La citada señora es la madre de la Sra. Alleen Hildreth, muchacha de 17 años que demandó al espiritista de que le había hecho proposiciones inconvenientes en su estudio hace unos cuantos meses. "Miserable perro, individuo asqueroso"! exclamó la Sra. Coulter, cogiendo al mismo tiempo a Cohen de los cabellos, y con la mano izquierda, golpeándole a la cabeza contra la pared; no sin propinarle después recios manazos en las mejillas con la derecha. Después de que la madre hubo vapuleado a Cohen, que oficiaba en su culto de la Calle Sexta Oeste, 705, bajo el nombre supuesto de "Reverendo Charles Newman", la hija, que fué quien presentó contra el nigromante la acusación de que había contribuido a la corrupción de una menor, trató de correr hacia su madre; pero al salir de su asiento, se desmayó en el pasadizo.

McAdoo Está Gestionando una Concesión de Autobuses

Si el Ayuntamiento contesta favorablemente a una solicitud de permiso que recibió ayer, pronto tendremos en Los Angeles autobuses con imperial para pasajeros, iguales a los que funcionan en Nueva York, Detroit y otras ciudades del este. La solicitud iba firmada por G. McAdoo, ahora radicado en esta ciudad, en representación de la compañía que se organizará, caso de obtenerse el permiso, y por E. F. Simms y el ex-miembro del Congreso, Joseph L. Rhinock, ambos de Nueva York. Mr. Simms es vicepresidente de la Sinclair Gulf Oil Company. Marco H. Hellman habló brevemente ante el Concejo Municipal sobre este permiso, diciendo que comparecía en nombre del Sr. McAdoo, que se encuentra en el este.

DEPORTES

Golf

En la segunda tanda del campeonato libre de Sudcalifornia, Tom Stevens, campeón libre de Minnesota, presentó la suma más baja del día. Fué su anotación de 69, y por su brillante juego se puso ayer en primer lugar, con un tanteo neto bajo de 143. Jock Hutchison, Earnest Martin y varios otros se hicieron tablas para el segundo lugar.

Baseball

Los partidos de Shell Oil contra Sawtelle van a jugarse en un campo neutro. Se ha elegido el parque Brookside, como más conveniente; así pues, cuando se encuentren el domingo los dos campeones, una gran multitud viajará rumbo a ese lugar.

Pugilato

El Club Atlético de Los Angeles ha encarecido que el torneo de box de aficionados de la Costa del Pacífico se celebre en abril. El año pasado tuvo lugar esa prueba en el Club Atlético de Multnomah, Portland, y tres de los púgiles de esa ciudad se llevaron títulos.

Natación

Esta noche celebrará el Club Atlético de Los Angeles otra de sus famosas pruebas acuáticas de medio invierno. El clou del programa será la continenda a puntos de las muchachas que se disputan el trofeo Cryer. Viola Hartman va en estos momentos a la cabeza, con 10 untos, y Helen Vernon viene en segundo lugar, con 7. Las carreras de esta noche van a ser reñidas, pues los resultados de hoy influirán mucho para determinar quien ha de ser la ganadora.

LOS ANGELES POLICE ARE ASSURED OF HIGHER PAY

Crime Commission and City Council Get Together to Cope With Serious Situation

Following is a statement prepared by the Crime Commission at its meeting held yesterday:

"The following resolution, adopted by the Crime Commission embodies the judgment of the commission relative to the city police department, particularly to the effect that the rate of pay in the police department shall be sufficient to recruit the necessary number of men of a sufficiently high quality to adequately police the city; that the responsibility properly falls upon the city government to provide such a schedule of pay as shall infallibly accomplish the above result and that the rate of pay suggested in the following resolution embodies the judgment of the Crime Commission to that end:

"Resolved, that the Crime Commission go on record at this time as favoring a minimum rate of pay for police officers during the first year of service of $150 per month, and proportionate increase over the present scale for all other ranks in the department;

"Installation of a police signal system to be installed in connection with the new fire alarm system provided for under the last bond issue and to be paid for by that bond issue, if possible, and if this is found to be impossible, that other means be provided for the installation of a police signal system such as has been recommended by the Chief of Police;

"Immediate addition to the police force of 500 more police officers;

"That the police department be provided with more automobiles and similar equipment deemed necessary by the Chief of Police, for the efficient operation of the department;

"That adequate jail facilities be provided as well as an adequate Receiving Hospital, both of these to be accomplished by the city accepting the offer of the county government to share the new jail facilities now being promulgated by the county."

Definite assurance of a substantial rise in the pay of the Los Angeles police force was given by members of the City Council yesterday at a meeting with the Crime Commission at the California Club.

The commission presented to the city officials a series of recommendations for the police department in which an entrance salary of $150 per month was suggested as being, in the view of the commission, the minimum at which assurance could be had of getting sufficient competent men to deal with the present serious crime situation.

The discussion developed the fact that the Finance Committee of the City Council has tentatively agreed upon an entrance pay of $140 per month for police officers, rising by $10 per month each year for four years.

RESULTS CHIEF AIM

After the meeting of the officials the commission ordered copies of its original recommendations sent to each member of the City Council, accompanied by a letter in which it is stated that the commission is chiefly concerned with getting results and that it is willing to rest with the Council the responsibility for obtaining these results.

In a ringing address to the members of the Council and other city officials present, Maj. Walter K. Tuller, chairman of the Crime Commission, declared that a grave emergency faces the city.

He said that the protection of life and property in Los Angeles must be the first consideration of citizens and officials alike. He likened the situation to that which would arise should it suddenly become known that a hostile army is marching upon Los Angeles.

"HOSTILE ARMY" HERE

The only difference, he said, is that the hostile army, composed of a great number of criminals and desperate characters of every description, already is in our midst.

"Should we learn that an enemy

Intermittent showers which continued over Southern California most of Monday night and the early morning hours yesterday brought an average share of the moisture to Los Angeles. The rain fall here totaled .18 of an inch, which makes the total for the season 4.95, as compared to 10.97 last year.

Although government predictions say that the weather will continue cloudy with probable showers today no rain has fallen in Los Angeles since very early morning yesterday and conditions during the late afternoon indicated the approach of clearing weather.

The present storm spent most of its force in the northern part of the State where the mountain tops are covered with several feet of snow which, it is said, assures an abundant water supply for the coming summer. The heavy fall of snow with the rain storms following brought to the central and northern parts of the State the heaviest precipitation in thirty years. The snow is packed twenty-six inches at Inskip, Butty county; seven inches at Sierraville, Sierra county, and six inches at Emigrant Gap in Placer county. There was a trace through the Yosemite Valley. Forty-two inches of "the beautiful" are reported at Huntington Lake in Fresno county.

HOME FOR GIRLS, PLAN OF CHURCH

Episcopal Society Takes Steps to Obtain Funds for Building

Los Angeles girls who are engaged in business and professional occupations and who have no home of their own in which they may entertain, and be entertained by their friends, are soon to have a "regular" home, to be known as The Girls' Friendly Lodge, according to plans of the Girls' Friendly Society of the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles, which met in special session yesterday at St. John's Episcopal Church.

The Girls' Friendly Society is taking on new life under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Stevens and more than 200 members of the organization attended the session yesterday. While definite plans for the erection of the Girls' Friendly Lodge were not formulated, it was stated that a part of the money for the purpose has already been raised and that a campaign for a building fund will probably be started in the near future.

A feature of yesterday's program of the twenty-eighth annual convention of delegates to the Episcopal Diocesan Convention was the joint participation in Holy Communion by the Girls' Friendly Society and the Woman's Auxiliary, the latter organization numbering about 700. Yesterday evening, at Parish Hall, the young women presented an operetta entitled "Friendly Land."

Following the service at the church at 10 a.m. this morning Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, bishop of the diocese, and Dr. W. B. Stevens, coadjutor bishop, will deliver their annual addresses to the delegates. The feature of this evening will be the reception and dinner to Bishop and Mrs. Johnson and to Dr. and Mrs. Stevens at the Elite, 633 South Flower street.

SEEK DEAD IN WRECKAGE

Body of Tramp Believed Buried Beneath Tiers of Piled-up Box Cars Near Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 23.—Southern Pacific emergency crews are working under the glare of high-power lights tonight to delve into masses of wreckage at Lapatera, fifteen miles north of Santa Barbara, searching for the body of a tramp which may be buried under the wreck of the extra through freight which left Los Angeles at 1 o'clock this morning for San Francisco.

The wreck is declared to be one of the worst and most spectacular ever occuring in the Coast division. Eighteen cars in the center of a train of forty-five loaded cars, are piled up, one car telescoping the other with all manner of freight scrambled through the heap.

James Curry of Oklahoma City, Okla., a tramp who with several others, was stealing a ride, had both legs broken; Ralph Hollenbeck, of Toronto, Can., has his jaw broken and is badly cut and crushed about the face and head and Robert O. Senga of Chicago has his right ankle broken and a shoulder probably crushed. The condition of all three is critical. Five other vagrants were seen running from the wreck, but one known to have been in the car with Curry, is missing, and his mangled body may be in the wreckage.

MEDIUM CUFFED IN COURT

Enraged Mother of Cohen's Accuser Makes Attack; Girl Tells Story on Stand

Harry Yanca Cohen, asserted love-cult master, was given a thorough slapping and mauling in Judge Hahn's court early yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Ella Coulter, mother of Mrs. Alleen Hildreth, 17-year-old girl who brought charges against the spiritualist after he had made improper advances toward her in his studio a few months ago, according to the complaint.

"You lowdown cur. You unspeakable creature," Mrs. Coulter cried aloud as she grabbed Cohen by the hair.

Using her left hand to shove his head against the wall, Mrs. Coulter applied the palm of her right hand to administer stinging blows to the self-styled "seer's" cheeks.

After the mother had attacked Cohen, who operated his cult at 705 West Sixth street under the cognomen of "Rev. Charles Newman," her daughter, who brought the complaint charging Cohen with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, attempted to rush to her mother. As she stepped from her seat she fainted in the aisle.

GIRL TELLS STORY

Mrs. Hildreth had completed her story of what happened in the private office with Newman, the State had rested its case and Judge Hahn ordered a recess. Shortly after 3:15 p.m., when the recess was called, Mrs. Coulter rushed toward Cohen, who was standing in the rear of the courtroom lighting a cigaret.

With one blow she knocked the cigaret from his hand. Grabbing him by his black, bristle-like hair, she delivered a series of smashing blows and shoved his head against the wall.

Cohen attempted to break from the woman's clutches.

"Oh, you can't get away. I'd whip any man in the world who would do the dirty things you have," she cried to him.

Pandemonium broke loose in the crowded room. Spectators rushed to Mrs. Hildreth's assistance. She was sprawled on the floor a few feet from where her mother was in encounter with the

VICTIM OF HAMMER IS NEAR DEATH

Contractor is Arrested After Asserted Quarrel With Plumber

Walter A. Bartelsen, 26 years of age, is near death at the Receiving Hospital, his skull crushed from a hammer blow, and E. F. Worley, a contractor, is in the City Jail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon as the culmination of an asserted quarrel between the two men late yesterday afternoon.

The quarrel is said to have taken place at a new home being completed at 840 Laguna street. Bartelsen, who is a plumber, was employed in installing fixtures in the new house.

Late yesterday afternoon an argument arose between him and Worley, according to police. Personal recriminations followed and Worley is said to have snatched up a hammer from the floor and to have struck the plumber on the head, inflicting a depressed skull fracture.

Bartelsen was removed to the Receiving Hospital immediately. Physicians there stated he had but small chance for recovery.

Worley was arrested by Detectives Oker and Craig and charged with assaulting the victim. The hammer which Worley is asserted to have used is in the hands of the detectives, who are investigating.

BELASCO SIGNS FILM CONTRACT

Master Stage Producer Will Come to Los Angeles

Quarter of Million Paid by Warner Brothers

"Deburau," "Gold Diggers," "Daddies" Purchased

David Belasco, master of stage productions, has answered the call of the photoplay, The Times learned last night. For eight years the theatrical genius has turned a deaf ear to the lure of motion pictures, but an eight months' campaign waged by Warner Brothers secured his signature to a contract yesterday under which he will come to Los Angeles in the very near future and supervise production of three of his stage plays, "The Gold Diggers," "Deburau" and "Daddies."

As an initial payment on the contract signed by Mr. Belasco for these three pictures, Warner Brothers have paid him $250,000 for the exclusive film rights, members of the firm last night announced. Mr. Belasco will also receive a percentage of the profits on each picture.

WILL EDIT SCRIPTS

"In a separate agreement," Harry M. Warner said, "Mr. Belasco sets forth that he will, among other things, give his personal supervision to the filming of the plays.

"He will edit the scripts and cooperate in the preparation of the continuity. He has also very kindly consented to see that we will be allowed to use a great many of the original stage costumes in such plays as 'Deburau.'

"He has also agreed to give us free access to his files and to his knowledge of the plays at hand.

"We shall use his name in connection with the production. Mr. Belasco also agrees to help us in the selection of casts. He, better than anyone else, will be able to determine and select the proper types," Mr. Warner concluded.

ALSO WANTS "KIKI"

From Mr. Warner's statement it can be gathered that Mr. Belasco's capitulation was complete. The company is also hopeful that other Belasco plays will be picturized here before he abandons he directorial megaphone to resume his place in the world of the spoken drama. Warner Brothers admit they are angling for "Kiki" and "Tiger Rose" and declare they have high hopes of securing Mr. Belasco's assent to their proposition.

In the filming of "The Gold Diggers," "Deburau" and "Daddies" the stars of the legitimate stage who appeared in the plays produced in New York by Mr. Belasco will have the film roles, it has been learned.

Lionel Atwill, who presented such a remarkable performance in "Deburau," will be engaged for the film version if his screen tests demonstrate his adaptability for shadow plays.

CONSIDER MAE MURRAY

Bruce McRae may take a part it was said, but the likelihood of Ina Claire playing her original role in "The Gold Diggers" is remote. Mae Murray is being ad-

ABDUCTION OF "SUZANNA"

Mack Sennett, Film Producer, is Sued for $10,000 by Linton Wells, Who Says He Wrote Book

Mack Sennett, wealthy from his realization of the mirthfulness contained in a well-flung custard pie as a mode of silver screen expression, stands charged with the abduction of "Suzanna" by the author of the book, Linton Wells, newspaper man, scenarist and Pacific Coast manager of Pacific and Atlantic Photos, a pictorial news service, with headquarters here.

Late yesterday afternoon Mr. Wells, through his attorneys, S. S. Hahn and C. R. Bainbridge, filed suit for $10,000 for professional services rendered Mack Sennett and the corporation of which he is the head, "at their special instance and request, in the writing of a book known and designated as 'Suzanna'," according to the complaint.

Mr. Wells declares Mr. Sennett asked him to write "Suzanna" in book form. The scenario of the film of the same name was the book's basis. A substantial bonus and the lion's share of all royalties accruing from the sale of the published volume he says Mr. Sennett promised him as his reward, as well as screen credit as "Suzanna's" author. As yet, he states, he has never received a cent of the promised royalties nor a penny of the bonus which Mr. Sennett in a letter to Mr. Wells asserted would be substantial. Mr. Wells's name does not appear on the screen at all. Hence the suit.

IN LESS THAN FIVE MONTHS

"Suzanne," Mr. Wells says he wrote in less than five months. Shortly after the novel's completion he mailed the manuscript to Mr. Sennett in New York City. Late last fall "Suzanna" made its appearance at the bookstands under the imprint of a leading New York publisher, but not with the name of Linton Wells on the title page as author. Instead there appeared the name of Harry Sinclair Drago, as "Suzanna's" father.

"You don't get a cent," Wells asserted Mr. Sennett told him when he remonstrated with the motion-picture producer at the asserted appropriation of his brain child.

Mr. Sennett also informed him, Wells says, that he paid Mr. Drago $1500 to rewrite "Suzanna" because the publishers refused to put out a book written by an unknown author.

In the rewriting of his book Mr. Wells charges Mr. Drago with wholesale plagiarism. He says the latter added a prologue and a bandit character but "lifted" page after page of the original manuscript even to a grammatical error appearing in the copy.

The book as published and Mr. Wells's manuscript will be read in court. The similarity is said to be astounding.

SHOWDOWN, PANHANDLERS! JOB BUREAU CHALLENGES "NO WORK" BEGGING PLEA

The following remarkable statement was issued yesterday by E. H. Hancock, district superintendent of the Public Employment Bureaus, operated here by the State and Federal governments:

You, a large number of you hightoned, white-collar, lily-hand beggars and panhandlers, are making a living at the present time by calling on professional men and women and business people in their offices and places of business and are telling them you are in reduced circumstances because you cannot get employment.

You are preying on the ministers of the churches and if they turn you down you ridicule them and their religion. When one of them becomes your victim and gives you a few dollars believing he is doing a good deed you meet your partner at the entrance of the building and tell him how much "the sucker fell for."

You are the greatest menace that Los Angeles faces today. You are the greatest band of leeches that ever preyed on a public. You are doing more in a week to destroy man's confidence in man than any other dozen agencies. You are trying to give the impression that one of the greatest cities in the world is a starving mass of humanity.

If you want work as you tell the people you bunko, I will undertake to supply it to you. If you have the manhood to take an honest job we will give you every assistance that an honest man needs. It may not be a white-collar position. It will be honest work. It will be at a fair rate of pay. I want to see if there are any among you who has not entirely lost his self-respect and sense of decency.

man charged with contributing to the delinquency of her child.

WOMAN'S HOLD BROKEN

Mr. Hildreth, the girl's husband, and several of the spectators, after a scuffle succeeded in breaking Mrs. Coulter's hold on Cohen. After Cohen had been released he walked to the other side of the courtroom, chatted a few moments with two women, then slouched down in a seat in a corner where he would be least observed.

After the excitement had died away, Cohen slipped through a rear door in the courtroom and consulted with his attorney, Lucas F. Smith.

"You know, she might have killed me," Cohen told newspaper men. "Didn't you see that big knife she had under her coat? You didn't. Well, she had it and I grabbed her hand to keep her from striking me with it."

Mrs. Coulter denied she had a knife. "Need a knife to fight that coward? I should say not. I'll give him the whipping of his life if I ever catch him again."

At the conclusion of the trial Cohen, swinging on the arm of his attorney, rushed out of the Hall of Records through a side door.

TESTIMONY CONCLUDED

Testimony and the attorneys' argument to the jury was concluded shortly before 5 p.m. Instructions will be read to the jury at 10 a.m. today by Judge Hahn.

A jury composed of Nora McCullough, Mrs. Lulu Coughten, William D. Smith, Arthur Johnson, Jr., Harry P. Wheaton, Merton E. Ward, James M. Shelley, Joseph O. Means, Daniel H. Silvins, Richard Waldron, Harold Gibson and Charles A. Cook was selected shortly before 11 a.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Hildreth was the first witness to be called to the stand by Dep. Dist.-Attoy. Joos, who is prosecuting Cohen. She told a story of improper acts on the part of Cohen, which she said took place in his private office. She said she went to his office to get a "reading" in an effort to learn he identity of a couple who had stolen some clothes from her. She paid $1, she testified, to have three questions answered. The questions were: "Who stole my clothes? What about my married life? and am I to become a mother?"

The girl testified Cohen began his improper advances when he was dealing with the second question.

"He told me he would have to make a mental picture of me. He asked me to stand against a rug he had hanging on the wall and raise my dress in order that he could get this picture from the mental and spiritualistic standpoint."

CHARGES DENIED

Cohen, on the stand, denied every charge the girl made. Miss Elizabeth Clark, who said she was Cohen's office attendant for more than two months, testified in her former employer's behalf by declaring that no improper acts had been committed as far as she knew.

Cohen, who declared on cross-examination he had given readings "in nearly every city in the United States," and had posed under almost as many names, bit his finger nails and twisted in his chair when Dep. Dist.-Atty. Joos concluded his argument asking for a maximum penalty, which is two years in jail.

Mrs. Coulter was ordered from the courtroom by Judge Hahn after she had interrupted the defense attorney in the middle of his argument.

The case will be given the jury after the reading of the instructions this morning.

TROUBLES DOUBLE UP ON COUPLE

Trouble-Shooter and Fair Trouble - Dodger Collide With Troublesome Law

A troubled married woman who sought the company of a trouble-shooter is now in worse trouble than ever and the trouble-shooter is in jail.

It all happened last night, when Roy Alexander, 22 years of age, 1948 East Second street, disregarded the traffic signal of Officer G. E. Lund, who is stationed at the intersection of College street and North Broadway. With him as passenger on the rear seat of his motorcycle, Alexander had a young woman believed to be Mrs. Eva Devoare. Surgeons at the Receiving Hospital later said that the couple had been looking on white mule when it kicketh.

Officer Lund commandeered a passing automobile and gave chase to the motorcycle. It led him down Broadway to Temple street, through the tunnel, up the hill, and then as it started to descend, motorcycle and riders parted company. The cyclists finished the descent without it. Nothing was broken, however, but the entente cordiale.

They were taken to Central Station, where Alexander gave his occupation as a trouble-shooter. He was jailed for reckless driving. The woman refused to give her name, but a letter was found in her possession addressed to Mrs. Eva Devoare. She admitted having had trouble with her husband, and having accompanied Alexander to forget her troubles. She was booked on a charge of intoxication.

At the Receiving Hospital, Dr. Charles F. Sebastien treated the couple for bruises and abrasions received after the motorcycle left them.

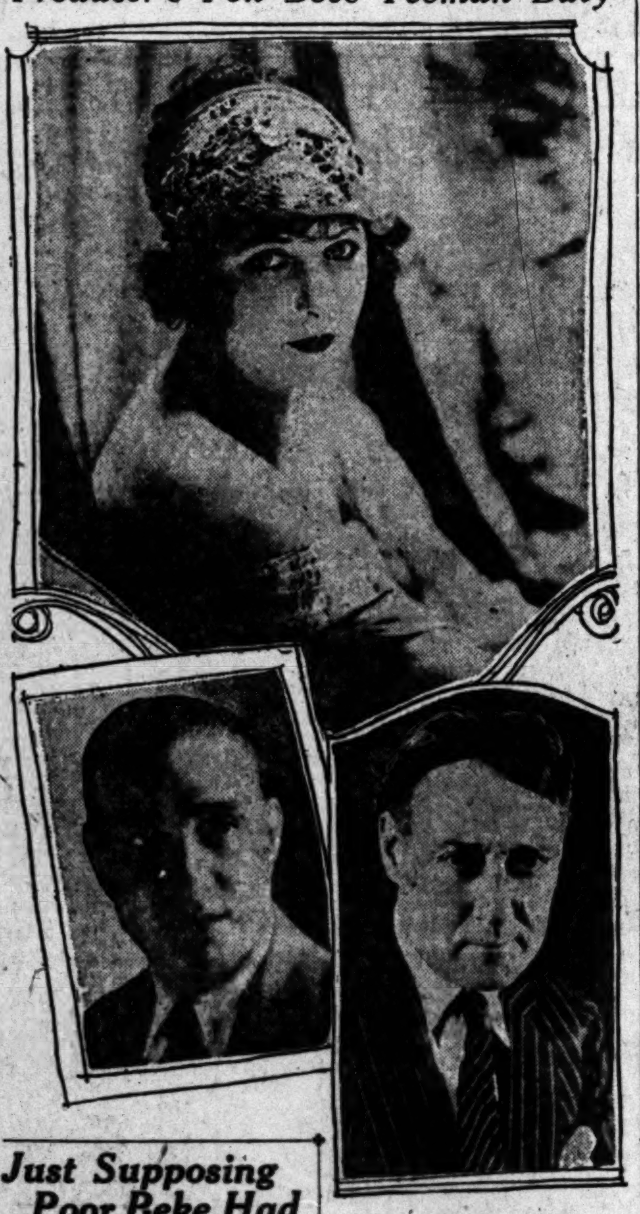
TALMADGE AIDES SIGNED UP

Producer's Pen Does Yeoman Duty



Under Schenck Banner

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK'S signature worked overtime yesterday.

By three strokes of his pen, the producer of the Norma Talmadge, Constance Talmadge and Buster Keaton motion-picture productions, signed a director and a playwright and purchased a story which will serve as the next vehicle for Norma Talmadge.

Frank Lloyd, who, rumor had it, had signed with a large producing and distributing organization, was signed at a tremendous figure to continue as director for Miss Talmadge, instead of making feature productions. Willard Mack, famous as a playwright and actor, was signed to act in an advisory capacity on all of the Norma and Constance Talmadge stories, and "Ashes of Vengeance," written by H. B. Somerville was purchased and will be adapted to the screen for the next Norma Talmadge picture.

Lloyd directed Miss Talmadge in "The Eternal Flame," "The Voice From the Minaret," and is now handling the production, "Within the Law." His work has placed him in the front rank of directors and he turned down several offers due to the offer made him by Mr. Schenck.

Mack, who will work with the directors on all Talmadge stories, is probably the best-known stage writer of today. His prolific pen is responsible for such successes as "The World and the Woman," "Scandal Alley," "Men of Steel," "God's Country," "Miracle Mary," "Kick In," "King, Queen, Jack," "Blind Youth," "Breakfast in Bed," "Tiger Rose," "The Big Chance," "Smooth as Silk," "Her Market Value," "The Scarlet Patrol," "Red Bulldogs," and many others.

Mack also has won success as a screen star. In 1915 he appeared in motion pictures for the first time, starring in five productions for Thomas H. Ince.

"Ashes of Vengeance" was published in book form in London and is a story of the romance of old France during the regime of Charles the Ninth.

Mr. Schenck also announced that the picture would be made at the United Studios, which takes both his Talmadge units to that studio. It was also stated that Stephen Goosson had been signed as art director for the production and that it would be the biggest production yet made by the famous emotional star.

bonus and the bulk of the royalties for his work also will be offered as evidence.

Mr. Sennett, through his attorneys, MacDonald & Wright, intends to contest the action bitterly.

At the time the book was written Mr. Wells was working under a Sennett contract in the studio's scenario department and writing feature stories on the filming of "Suzanna." He asserts his agreement with Mr. Sennett as to his writing of the book was extraneous to the terms of his other contract. Work on the book was done at home, Mr. Wells asserts, and not in his capacity as a Sennett employee.

The amount of the suit, $10,000, was fixed by Mr. Wells on a time basis plus the promised bonus and the percentage of royalties from the sale of the book he says he was promised by Mr. Sennett. The book has enjoyed a wide sale at a popular price, it is reported. Affidavits obtained from the publisher to be read in court will fix the exact number sold on which Mr. Wells says his royalty should be computed.

Just Supposing Poor Peke Had Been a Mastiff

The nightingale's tongues served by Lucullas may have cost more than $62.50 a pound, though they were served before the days of the high cost of living.

It is doubtful if in modern times, however, the price set by R. H. McDermott of Burbank for a meal eaten by two neighbors' dogs has been equaled. This high-cost flesh was that of an eight-pound Pekinese, owned by the plaintiff, for which the plaintiff asks $500.

John F. O'Donnell and his wife Mary and Edward Mallaird and his wife Jane are defendants in the action. They owned "two large mongrel dogs," the complaint asserts, which descended on the poor little "Peke" a few days ago and made an end of him in about two and a half bites.

JAKOBSEN TO SPEAK

The refining and treatment of edible vegetable oils will be the subject of a talk by Dr. J. Jakobsen at the next meeting of the Southern California section of the American Chemical Society tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. at the Mary Louise, 2200 West Seventh street. Dr. Jakobsen has been in this line of work thirteen years.

ASSURE POLICE RAISE IN PAY

fleet, say, is lying off our shores waiting to land troops to sieze the city, there would be no lengthy discussion of ways and means," declared Maj. Tuller. "We would do something and do it quick. Gentlemen, this is the situation we are facing today, except that instead of being on the way, the enemy is already here."

Maj. Tuller gave it as the joint judgment of the commission that, if no other money be available for the necessary strengthening of the police department, the reserve fund could properly be drawn upon to meet the emergency pending the time when the new $1.25 tax rate goes into effect, making available the necessary revenue.

PROGRAM OUTLINED

He outlined the commission's program which, in addition to the rise in pay, recommends an adequate police signal system, to be carried out with that of the fire department, if possible; 500 more police officers, additional automobiles, and that the city join with the county in the occupancy of the new Hall of Justice, installing therein for city use a new jail, adequate receiving hospital, police courts and executive quarters.

Commenting on this program Chairman Mushet of the Finance Committee declared that the signal system can be accomplished under the $2,500,000 bond issue voted for the use of the fire department last fall.

SAME SIGNAL BOXES

The fire and police departments will use the same signal boxes under a special arrangement. He said that it is the present plan of the city to occupy police quarters in the new Hall of Justice on a lease basis. Regarding motor equipment, he declared that all requests by the police for additional rolling stock have been granted and that it is the disposition of the Finance Committee to see that the department is adequately protected in this and other directions.

Regarding the pay of police officers, Mr. Mushet said the Finance Committee is practically agreed on a scale of pay starting with $140 a month for the first year, $150 for the second, $160 for the third and $170 for the fourth. He said this was the schedule asked by the department itself.

Mr. Mushet gave it as his opinion that the program of the Crime Commission, with the possible exception of the additional officers, can be carried out without any addition to present taxes and that these taxes might even be reduced. He did not regard it practicable, however, to take the money from the reserve fund, stating that this money will be required to pay running expenses during the lean months of July, August, September and October, after which the tax money under the new $1.25 rate becomes available. He said also that it would be necessary to take into account the demands of other city departments for similar pay increases.

TAX BURDEN AN ISSUE

Councilman Mallard, also of the Finance Committee, took issue with Mr. Mushet on the statement that the program could be carried out without additional tax burden. He said that demands aggregating $2,200,000 would be made upon the reserve fund before next December 1, and that there is now a cash balance of but $1,143,000. What sums may be added through the return of unexpended balances by the various departments he said could not be estimated, but declared the city should play safe.

To this Maj. Tuller replied that the first step in the direction of safety for the city must be taken for the protection of life and property and that no other consideration should weigh against it. Councilmen Conaway and Sanborn, the former representing President Criswell, concurred in the general program of the Crime Commission. Councilmen Sparks and Langdon expressed themselves similarly and indicated they would vote for the Finance Committee's pay schedule, though Mr. Sparks said he would prefer to see it made $150 a month as the entrance pay. He further declared that in his opinion the city should ultimately have its own jail and receiving hospital.

WHEELER ATTACKS PROGRAM

Councilman Wheeler made a general attack on the program of the Crime Commission, saying it was not based upon facts. He said the city had many things to do which were more important than dealing with the crime situation, citing the sewerage problem and "lots of others." He complained that delegations of business men daily called on the Council for this or that thing, but that no provision was made for the necessary fund. He added the somewhat remarkable statement that the Councilmen must pay the bills of the business men of the city, who do nothing but sit on the sidelines and demand things. He said $150 a month was too much pay for an untrained policeman, declaring that no business paid that much for men without experience.

Efficiency Director Eldridge gave figures to show that most of the present policemen remain with the force after attaining a pay of $140 a month. He said the city's revenue would be about 3,000,000 more than last year but that all this increase would be absorbed by new demands. He suggested a trial of the $10 scale first, with a possible further rise later if the results were found unsatisfactory.

Secretary Kinney, representing the Mayor, declared the attitude of the city's chief executive was one favorable to wage increases for all departments.

CHAMBER MEMBERS WILL GATHER TODAY

FIRST MEETING OF NEW YEAR WILL BE FEATURED BY INTERESTING TALKS

Chamber of Commerce members will meet for the first time this year a ta noon luncheon today at the Alexandria. Newly elected officials will be on the speakers program and an especially intresting meeting is anticipated.

Of particular interest to commercial and business men is the speech of Rex B. Goodcell, Internal Revenue Collector, who will discuss regulations governing income taxation. Questions of those present will be answered by two tax experts from the Los Angeles office of the Internal Revenue.

Dr. H. E. Barnard, formerly Health Commissioner and Food Administrator in Indiana, will speak on "Sanitation in Industry."

HAYNES WARNS AGAINST LAXITY

try was being made and a movement was under way to co-ordinate the efforts of all law enforcement bodies.

He declared that the middle class was enthusiastic for the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Harrison narcotic law, and that all talk of a breakdown in the moral fiber of the country was untrue.

In regard to enforcement of the prohibition law he stated that two classes were providing the greatest stumbling block.

ALIENS RAPPED

"It's the alien who refuses to become Americanized and obey our laws and the highly influential citizen who should know better but who refuses to think of the subject who are retarding the enforcement of the prohibitory laws," he stated.

He advocated the deportation of the alien who refuses to obey the laws and denounced the other class of law breaker as "a person setting an example dangerous to every American principle."

He refused to concede that drug addiction was largely on the increase. He admitted the situation was "bad enough" but declared in his belief there was no cause for alarm.

Discussing the narcotic situation before members of the City Club yesterday noon, Mr. Haynes elaborated on his previous statement and declared "it is not to be wondered at that among the great social problems presented to our generation for solution is the problem of drug addiction which has been forced to the surface and to the light of publicity only since 1915, when subsequent to the campaign for legislation to control a great evil, widely scattered and rapidly growing, the Harrison anti-narcotic law became operative.

EXAGGERATION FOUND

"There has been a tendency in some circles to stress the claim that addiction is very largely on the increase, whereas those of us who are in charge of the enforcement of the narcotic act believe that while the drug evil is appalling and is one of the greatest dangers confronting us as a people and should be fought with largely increased forces, yet we believe that we are making decided inroads upon the traffic."

Control of the importation and sale of drugs is the first and most important step in preventing their illegitimate use, he declared, but he also stressed the fact that there must also be a well-informd, educated public opinion as to the proper limitations and use of drugs imported for medicinal purposes.

As to the handling of addicts, Mr. Haynes advocated the care of the criminal element through institutional treatment established for that purpose. He stated the government had in mind the idea of a division of responsibility between Federal and State governments in the care of this class of unfortunates.

Regarding the other class of drug unfortunates, those who frequently are of high standing in their communities, he stated these must be treated by capable and sympathetic physicians who treat each case like other nerve cases.

Statistics were presented to show that in 1922 more than 3000 convictions were secured out of a total of 6701 arrests for violation of the narcotic act. It was also shown that the cost of enforcement during that period was approximately half of the total of collections made under the Harrison Narcotic Act.

SMUGGLING INCREASING

Smuggling is on the increase, Mr. Haynes stated, and the present forces are inadequate to deal with the situation. He further declared the ultimate result will depend entirely upon the resources made available for the enforcement of the laws.

The number of drug addicts in the country today has been estimated from 200,000 to 4,000,000. No authoritative statistics are available, however, and Commissioner Haynes declared he doubted the authenticity of the estimate of 4,000,000.

In his address before the members of the City Club, Mr. Haynes commended highly the work of Sam F. Rutter, Federal prohibition director for California. "Any rumors of a change in directors in California are false," he stated, "Mr. Rutter can stay here as long as he desires."

He also congratulated people of the State on their approval of the Wright Enforcement Act at the last election. He declared it was one of the best enforcement acts passed, by any State and that with the co-ordination of State officials law enforcement in California seemed assured of success.

Accompanying Commissioner Haynes on his visit here were Col. L. G. Nutt, director in charge of the narcotic field force and acting chief of general prohibition agents; Capt. Harold W. Orcutt, legal adviser to the commissioner; Sherman A. Cuneo, publicity director; Sam F. Rutter, Federal prohibition director for California, and Harry F. Smith, chief narcotic agent of the Pacific Coast.

AGENTS CONFER

A conference was held yesterday morning in the office of W. W. Anderson, divisional director of prohibition, and was attended by Commissioner Haynes and members of his party and Harold L. Dolley, local prohibition enforcement chief.

Later a meeting of all local prohibition agents was held in the Federal Building at which time Commissioner Haynes made a short address. After this a reception for the commissioner and his party was held in the office of Collector of Customs Schwaebe. Among those present were U. S. District Judges Trippet and Bledsoe, U. S. Dist.-Atty. Burke, Sheriff Traeger, Collector of Customs Schwaebe, W. W. Anderson, Harold L. Dolley, U. S. Marshal Sittel, U. S. Commissioner Long, Leon Bone, Frank Riley, E. L. Marshall, and Assistant Chief of Police Hilf.

Nathan Newby, president of the City Club, presided at the luncheon given by that organization, and Mayor Cryer was a guest. In the afternoon Commissioner Haynes and his party were taken to the Pickford studios in Hollywood and last night a mass meeting in Immanuel Presbyterian Church was addressed by Mr. Haynes.

Ability's Pen

Capital, Labor and Management Sign With Duofold

HAVE you seen the famous autographs written with the Duofold? To Geo. S. Parker's desk have come a score in friendly appreciation of Mr. Parker's crowning pen achievement. Twelve were reproduced in the January 13 issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

They have come from Britain's mightiest war-time statesman, five of America's great labor leaders, the two great figures in the steel industry, two railroad presidents, a general, the head of the largest bank, and the greatest living English novelist and historian.

As with the statesman and empire builder, so with the student and man who toils with his hands—the Duofold is everywhere Ability's pen because it does the work in hand in the ablest way the hand can do it.

Its classic symmetry and black-tipped lacquer-red barrel make it a pen of inspiring beauty. Its point is guaranteed for mechanical perfection and WEAR for 25 years!

Will you accept it, with neat gold pocket clip included free, on 30 days' trial? Get Duofold at the first pen counter today and you're fixed for life.

tinction of being the only one so far to present this type of music to radioland through KHJ put the bag under his arm last night and by skillful manipulation of the pipes made music typical of the "tight little isle." "Sandy" is only a boy, but he plays the bagpipe with all the finesse of the mature artist.

Vera Leavitt Latham, mezzo-soprano, accompanied by Ruth Bagatt Townsend, took a prominent part in the evening broadcast with her interpretation of three solos—"Sapphic Ode," by Brahms, "For You Alone," by Geehl, and "Four Leaf Clover," by Brownell. Possessed of a voice of rare charm, excellent intonation and flexible in phrasing, she gave an individuality to her vocal portraits which make them linger in memory long after the final note has ceased to vibrate.

Besides the bedtime stories by Emily Farrow Gregory and "Uncle John," the kiddies were the recipients of soprano solos, sung by Norma Hewlett, accompanied by James Campbell, Jr. The superb modulation of Miss Hewlett's voice, coupled with a choice of selections which carried a strong appeal in themselves, made her part of the children's forty-five minutes especially delightful.

FAVORITES HEARD

Two artists well-known to listeners-in for their previous appearances on KHJ broadcast programs were heard from The Times radio yesterday afternoon. Celeste Hoerber, coloratura soprano, gave superb expression to such selections as "The Star," by Rogers, "Know'st Thou Not That Fair Land?" from the opera "Mignon," by Ambros Thomas; "Temple Bells," by Amy Woodforde-Finden; "My Persian Garden," by Lucien Denni, and "Musetta's Waltz Song," from "La Boheme," by Puccini.

Coral Atkins, who accompanied Miss Hoerber at the piano, and who is now associated with the Sherwood Music School of Chicago, Los Angeles branch, also gave a piano interpretation of "Old Black Joe," with variations. Miss Atkins has given several concert programs from KHJ and is to be heard again from this station during an evening period soon.

Victuals Lead to Downfall of Patrolman

Policemen who start at $120 a month, get no pay for two weeks, and must buy a $50 uniform, a revolver, handcuffs, a raincoat and various other paraphernalia out of their own pockets, must occasionally go hungry, Chief of Police Oaks is willing to admit as a mathematical proposition.

However, while this explains, it does not excuse, in the Chief's view, the conduct of Ralph E. Wortman of the Los Angeles Harbor District, whom the Chief dismissed from the force yesterday for eating at harbor restaurants without payment.

Wortman's favorite dish was tamale a la mode, which is prepared by heaping a liberal portion of pork and beans on top of a tamale, according to the complaints. On another occasion, his appetite demanding daintier food, he ordered and consumed a boiled lobster, and it is said, he then walked out without even passing the time of day with the cashier.

Santa Fe Bid for Franchise is Accepted

The bid of the Santa Fe Railroad Company for a franchise for its new Los Angeles Harbor extension was formally accepted yesterday by the City Council, and the City Attorney was instructed to prepare and present the necessary ordinance. When this is enacted the legal difficulties will be out of the way and construction of the line, which will bring to the harbor a great transcontinental railroad, can begin.

DARK CHAPTERS

The injustice and inadequacy of the government's treatment of its Indian wards are being forcibly presented. The nation has been wasting most of the money expended on the red man's account and has not dealt fairly and honorably with him at any time. It seems to be strongly established that the swarthy pioneers would be better off by far if the Bureau of Indian Affairs had never existed. About all that Uncle Sam has done for Poor Lo is to take his country away from him and teach him bad habits. The annals of the country's relations with its first citizens are not a work to be proud of.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Ireland furnishes a concrete example of what happens in a country whose people and government fail to co-operate to enforce the law. Of this unhappy land we are told commercial honesty is at lowest ebb, shopkeepers can no longer collect their accounts, rents remain unpaid, annuities are withheld, banks are no longer safe, court orders are openly defied and murder and arson are common, everyday events.

That is the way a people disintegrates materially and morally as soon as disrespect for law is openly encouraged by an active minority. If this country ever allows the liquor conspirators, the Ku Klux Klan, the lynching advocates or any other invisible government to operate successfully in open defiance of laws passed by the people's representatives then the United States will have made a start along the new rocky road to Dublin.

STAGE FRIGHT

Miss Martha Miller, 22-year-old hunter of lions in their native haunts in the jungles of Africa, fainted from stage fright in Newark, N. J., the other day. She was about to address the men's club in the Park Presbyterian Church on her experiences on an eight months' trip devoted to slaughtering elephants and lions, but found herself bereft of the power of speech and collapsed.

At first blush it would seem that anyone who could look a lion in the eye without experiencing acute stage fright should be equal to almost any emergency. There is something about the idea of encountering old Leo in his native habitat that would rob the most of us of our savoir faire. Even a lion in a zoo is nothing to be sneezed at, and when he opens his formidable mouth and emits a heartfelt roar most folks feel their interest in carnivorous animals wavering. And to march forth in a jungle and shoot him dead or, worse still, half dead, should require bravery of a peculiarly high sort.

Which goes to prove that what we consider courage is purely comparative. An actress who can gaze nonchalantly forth at a vast audience in a theater would collapse if confronted with even the most feeble and dyspeptic lion. And a lady lion hunter, who is a terror to the four-footed folk of the jungles, faints with horror at facing a small church audience. Many a man has proven himself a mountain of courage on the battlefield, a snarling bear at his office and a quivering mass of tremulous fears in the presence of his own spouse. All in all, things are pretty equal in this world and we can all pat ourselves on the back with the soothing reflection that in our special sphere we are the bravest of the brave.

THE LURE OF HOLLYWOOD

"I want to see Hollywood first of all," announced His Royal Highness, Prince Valdemar of Denmark, as he landed in Los Angeles from a Danish ship.

Prince Valdemar had struggled through sixty-four years of life before seeing Hollywood, but now he feels that he has not lived in vain. He has seen it and still is young enough to enjoy it. He isn't even lamenting that he didn't get to visit it in his twenties, for there wasn't any Hollywood then.

It's quite a trip from Denmark to Los Angeles via the Panama Canal, with probably no stops except at Havana and in the Canal Zone, but Prince Valdemar wasn't tired a bit. He stepped off the ship full of vim and eagerness. For hadn't he reached the city of his dreams? One can imagine him whispering to himself: "So this is Los Angeles!"

It used to be that romantic American boys and girls dreamed of some day looking on royalty. Now it appears that romantic royalty dreams only of looking on Hollywood. The nobility of every civilized land under the sun have made the thrilling pilgrimage and those who haven't come yet are saving up their money. Some of the titled and famous foreigners who land in New York, even, only stay there long enough to make reservations for Los Angeles.

It's nice to live in the city all the world dreams about and wants to see. It is pleasant to reflect that we can enjoy it every day—that it is ours. Yet we have so much here to absorb our interest that it is dangerous. There is danger of our becoming as all-sufficient unto ourselves and provincial as New York used to be. And we say used to be advisedly. For Hollywood has caused even New Yorkers to discover America.

THE CURSE OF PATERNALISM

"Lo, the poor Indian"—wrote Pope in philosophical contemplation 200 years ago. During the two centuries that have passed since those lines were penned the Indians have decreased steadily in numbers and, while potentially richer than any other racial group in the United States, their actual poverty has increased.

Indian lands held in this country "in trust" for the remaining tribes have a value equal to $15,000 for each Indian family. But what a volume of sarcasm is contained in that hypocritical phrase "in trust!" According to Representative Kelly of Pennsylvania, one of the best informed men on Indian affairs in Congress, they are held "in trust" by a bureaucratic government department that keeps the Indians themselves in a state of semipauperism and actual serfdom and costs the taxpayers of the nation $13,000,000 a year.

Indian lands are worth hundreds of millions. They contain vast deposits of oil and other minerals. But they benefit neither the red men nor the rest of the country. Why? Representative Kelly says it is because the curse of bureaucracy is over them all.

"Inefficient" seems to be a mild term to apply to the Bureau of Indian Affairs. But it is not the inefficiency of an undermanned department or meager appropriation. There is at the present time an Indian agent on the government pay roll for every ten Indian families in the United States.

For a generation the Bureau of Indian Affairs has been a game preserve for political lame ducks. Republican and Democratic administrations have been equally guilty. Deserving Democrats and pay-roll Republicans are enthusiastic supporters of the Indian Bureau. Every Congressman who places patronage before the public service seeks to have some of his henchmen placed in that bureau. For it is there that the remuneration is heavy and the work is light.

Not infrequently good men have received places in that department; for even politicians at times make blunders. Some of them have possessed sufficient patriotism and fortitude to denounce the whole system; but those who have done so have not long remained in the public service.

At the present moment the appropriation asked for the Indian Bureau is greater than that for the entire Federal judicial system. It is greater than that asked for the maintenance of the Department of State and of Commerce and Labor. If the Indians themselves really benefited from this excessive paternalism, if they were happy and contented under the government supervision, if they preferred being wards of the nation to being citizens of the republic some justification might be found for this un-American procedure. But the great preponderance of testimony is to the effect that the Indians themselves resent most bitterly the condition of serfdom to which they are reduced.

Representative Kelly said very aptly that if the maintenance of this department were necessary to protect the white citizens from the violence of the red men a semblance of justification might be found for the present policy. But the days of wild Indians on the war path have passed; while the system of those days remains. Why?

Those who know something of the internal working of American politics understand that it is not easy to abolish a department that provides more than 5000 political jobs. Congressmen who would lose patronage if the department were discontinued lend a ready ear to the most flimsy justification for its continuance.

The Indian Bureau is a blot upon the Harding administration, as it has been upon every other for thirty years. Compelling the people of the nation to pay $13,000,000 a year for a service which is injurious to the Indians themselves and benefits only the political lame ducks is to perpetuate an iniquitous system. The Indians are capable of self-government as any other of half a dozen peoples who are admitted to the rights of citizenship. They ask no special favors; their spokesmen appeal only for equal rights with the newcomers in a land that was once their own.

Why shall such an injustice be perpetrated longer?

COAD AND IRON

Nature was extremely benevolent to mankind when from fused matter she fashioned the continent of Europe.

In the center of that great land division she placed in close proximity about 70 per cent of its coal deposits and over 50 per cent of its iron ore. Then she took what appeared to be the most intelligent specimens of the human race and dumped them in this favored region. She said in effect: There is the ore and there is the fuel. Now go to it and make iron for the use of all and you will grow wealthy and prosperous and be able to replenish the earth.

What did these men do with that startling business opportunity thrust right under their noses? They drew an imaginary line bisecting this rich combination, leaving the coal on one side and the iron ore on the other. The people on one side of this imaginary line who held all the iron ore called themselves Latins and the people who fastened onto the coal deposits dubbed themselves Teutons.

And Teuton and Latin started to make faces at each other and to dare each other to cross that imaginary line. They were like neighbors, living on either side of the street, who had to take all their goods out at the back door and ship them half-way around the world because if either crossed the street it would start a fight.

Now if it were necessary for mankind to draw an imaginary line to divide this section between Gauls and Teutons common horse sense would have suggested drawing it east and west instead of north and south. Then each would have had half the fuel and half the iron ore and both would have prospered and humanity with them.

When things appear to go criss-cross in the world you will find the fault is nearly always man's and very seldom nature's. Because nature is for even division, but man too often must hog the whole works or he won't play at all.

CANNOT PERFORM

In the hearing to break the injunction in the Rodolph Valentino case in New York the judge admits certain things, but announces that Valentino cannot act before the camera. That is what a few jealous souls in Hollywood have been saying all the time.

SOBBY CRIMINALS

A girl arrested for passing worthless checks says she did it in order to get pretty clothes and an education.

One of the easiest things to invent, even for stupid people, is excuses. And, no matter how stupid an excuse is, there seem to be plenty of stupider people who put some credence in it. To err is human. Our great ancestors in the Garden of Eden could stand anything except temptation, and we've all got quite a bit of their blood in our veins. But when we take a nose-dive into wrong-doing and then come up smiling, with a glib excuse on our lips, we surely do make those ancestors squirm in their graves—even Adam, who is reliably reported to have tried to slip the blame off on Eve.

One doesn't have to write worthless checks in order to get education in Los Angeles—not decent education, at least. There are free day schools and free night schools and other schools which make the easiest kind of terms to students.

It is not reported that the poor girl in this case sought to enter any of them or any other school. So far, her wild desire for education had gone no further than the issuing of checks signed by fictitious names. The only thing she seemed to be studying was chirography. Now that the police have caught her, of course, she is going to learn a lot. But that wasn't precisely the education she was yearning for.

This girl says she had to have better clothes to get a job. Yet she seems to have been dressed well enough, at the start, to go into department stores and cash worthless personal checks on her looks. Maybe she was not as sadly lacking in education, of a kind, as she appeared to be.

Los Angeles wants to be the most encouraging city in the world to people who are earnestly trying to make good, whether or not they have ever slipped in the past. It has a good deal of respect for people who honestly are "beating back." But it is getting pretty sick of people who choose criminality merely because it seems the easiest way, relying on sobs and sex and stories which won't hold water to win leniency if not probation when they are caught.

A LADY'S AGE

The most ungallant action recorded in recent times took place recently in England when the British Royal Academy elected Mrs. Annie L. Swynnerton, the celebrated painter, to membership in their august body and then ousted her a few days later upon making the horrific discovery that she was too old to be eligible to sit in their effulgent midst. At that, they had handed her a sort of left-handed compliment, giving her an associate membership rather than conferring upon her the distinction of being a full-fledged academician.

Although in no sense famous for their profuse and elaborate courtesy, it would have been impossible for a group of American men to have perpetrated this action. Having committed the social error of admitting the lady they would have contrived to maintain a seeming ignorance of her advanced years. A country that is so considerate of its feminine citizens that it does not require them to reveal their actual age when voting could never have been guilty of the gross indelicacy of informing a woman artist that she was too old to receive distinction. But the British are not squeamish on such matters and make no fine distinctions between the sexes. If a lady in a thoughtless or playful moment sends a man into eternity they hang her, and if she is so old that she is passe they bluntly inform her of this fact.

However, as Mrs. Swynnerton has attained to the ripe wisdom and philosophy that 78 years bestows, she can probably bear the blow with equanimity. A woman in the forties or fifties or sixties would be overwhelmed with humiliation and burning with rage and feel like bombing the homes of the respective academicians. But it is noticeable that women usually cease to be sensitive about their age after they pass 75. And the few who attain the century mark usually flaunt their years right proudly.

UNHAPPY HOPI SQUAWS

A Hopi squaw, Clara Kimball Young assures us, can divorce her husband by merely putting his belongings outside the tent and buttoning up the tent flap from the inside.

Is that announcement going to start a lot of white ladies on the run for the nearest Hopi village with the intention of temporarily becoming Hopi squaws? Quite right. It is not. For when you come to size it all up the Hopi method is a lot more lenient on the husbands than any other method you can think of.

In the first place, note what the Hopi squaw has to do. She doesn't nab all the convertible community property. She doesn't say: "All the household goods, of course, are mine." She doesn't ask for any separate maintenance or alimony. In fact, when a Hopi squaw divorces her husband everything is going out and nothing coming in for her.

As Clara Kimball Young sees it, the Hopi squaws have a very free and unobstructed life. Maybe so. But there are those who would bet that if the same system were in vogue among the white people there wouldn't be half as many divorces as there are now.

INFANT BURGLARS

Four children, ranging from 9 to 15 years of age, one a girl, have just been arrested in Los Angeles for breaking into and rifling a drug store. One of the most cheerless signs of the times is the ever-lessening year average at which crimes are committed. Today it is below the 20-year-old mark. Septuagenarian law-breakers are as rare as hen's teeth. Is the race destined to lose its first while gaining its second childhood? Or is a baby burglar of 9 a blot on our social system we can wipe out by vaunting the virtue of nine-and-seventy?

RIPPLING RHYMES

THRIFT WEEK

For a week we practice thrift, we're the cautious, frugal lads; to the bank we daily drift with a roll of hard-earned scads; we've made resolutions chaste, we will cut out wanton waste, to the bank we'll go in haste with the dollars of our dads. If we'll only stick to this, to this policy sublime, we will store up heaps of bliss for our distant winter time; when old age has made us bent we'll repose in sweet content, not afraid to blow a cent or a nickel or a dime. If we save our chickenfeed while we're strong and full of vim, age, which comes with ghastly speed, will not seem so bleak and grim; with a bundle on the ice age will seem serene and nice, and we'll chortle once or twice and send up a cheerful hymn. Soon or late we'll have the flu or the colic or the hives; and the village docs will do all they can to save our lives! If we're busted when we're sick all the docs will file a kick; we'll be outlawed pretty quick with our children and our wives. For the world has little use for the delegate who's broke, though he's able to produce, in his line, a trail of smoke; he may boast of noble birth or of talent or of worth, but he's sized up, on this earth, as a feeble sort of joke. Let us salt the kopeck down, let us put it in the bank; let's preserve the minted crown and the guilder and the franc; let us walk in prudent ways, practice thrift because it pays; then when come the rainy days we shall never draw a blank.

WALT MASON.

It must be awful wearing to wear a legislative toga. The California Legislature may take a recess in two weeks. Oh, gosh!

William Allen White says that the United States has many men more able than Lincoln. Possibly one of them is an Emporia (Kan.) editor.

Some of these days there will be found a pen at the public desk in the postoffice that may be used for writing purposes. When? oh, we don't know.

It is hinted in select political circles that President Harding will be a candidate for another term. Well, does not one good term deserve another?

So far those Russian crown jewels have not been found in that Brooklyn cemetery. Nobody imagined they would be. There is no story too big for the American public to swallow.

It is estimated that during the past two years $3,000,000,000 has been invested in nontaxable securities. Which may account for the fly in the ointment of the Federal tax collectors. And they don't know what to do about it.

Among other reasons why we should not care to be the heir to the British throne is that it would be impossible for us to court a girl without the whole nation looking at us. There would be no sort of chance for a bit of the mistletoe stuff.

Tough on the navy boys. An order has been issued that officers and men in the Navy who have been billeted with soft jobs ashore must go to sea. This is a distinct hardship. The boys evidently imagined they were all to be Sir Joseph Porters.

Uncle Joe Cannon made a New Year resolution that he would quit smoking, only to be caught with a Pittsburg stogie between his teeth a few days later. Possibly he argues that a stogie is not tobacco, which is not a bad guess. But Uncle Joe is 87 and must be allowed to change his mind.

The captain of the Baltic, an Atlantic liner, has brought to port a story of seeing at sea a beast that had ears and a nose like a pig, was fully nine feet in girth and about twelve feet long. The particular brand that furnished such a picture is not named in the dispatches. But it has all the earmarks of Los Angeles hootch.

THIS IS THE DAY

Samuel F. B. Morse first publicly demonstrated his code of dots and dashes, now known as the Morse alphabet code, at New York University in the year 1838.

Gold was first discovered in California in the year 1848 at Coloma on the American River. The discoverer was James Wilson Marshall. He was building a saw mill beside the river when he accidentally picked up the first nuggets of placer gold. He profited little, however, by the discovery and died penniless in 1855.

EUROPEAN CLOSE-UPS

BY S. FRED HOGUE

Lloyd George Weeps for Germany.
Disannexing the German Ruhr.
No Happy Home-Coming.

Lloyd George is rapidly unfolding the policy by which he hopes to unite the opposition in the British House of Commons and secure enough recruits from the Conservatives to convert it into a majority.

Nimble of wit, fertile in resource and daring in execution, he has seized upon the present European crisis to denounce the French occupation of the Ruhr. He courts the support of the Labor party in Parliament by telling the workers that unemployment is increasing because the French have destroyed the German markets.

While England and Germany were political antagonists for years before the war each was a good customer for the products of the other. There are hunger and misery in parts of England, particularly in the industrial communities, this winter. Lloyd George tells the workers in his colorful language that there would be employment for all if Germany were rehabilitated.

Always plausible, though falling often into economic error, he is pointing out that while the Germans were working there was food and clothes for all in England. Half the German industries are now idle and unemployment in England is on the increase.

"The way to help ourselves," he asserts, "is to help the German industries. We cannot help them while the Ruhr is under French control." And he has the advantage that he bases his argument on a known fact; while his opponents cannot prove that conditions would be equally bad in England if France had kept out of the Ruhr.

It is significant that the London Daily Telegraph, one of the most influential newspapers in England and a former supporter of Lloyd George, refused on Saturday to print his weekly political survey, asserting that it was unduly anti-French and pro-German. Only the radical and Labor papers would use it.

In the light of his war record it is difficult to envision Lloyd George turning from the French and making common cause with the Germans. During his political career, however, he has never won any medals for consistency.

For at least 100 years the political policy of the British government has rested on an economic basis. "England," to quote Churchill, "is a nation of traders." A hundred years ago Napoleon called them "A nation of shopkeepers." They always find some moral maxim on which to base a policy that enlarges trade and brings money to the English purse.

It is patent that French occupation of the Ruhr will increase temporarily unemployment in England. Lloyd George probably figures that this condition will last long enough to overthrow the Bonar Law government.

If we Americans are going to get anything like a clear understanding of European conditions we must rid ourselves of some of our sentimental illusions concerning the French and German peoples.

My experience from short sojourns among them is that their customs and their views of life differ from our own as greatly as the languages differ.

It is now apparent that the French had other ends in view than merely collecting reparations when they sent their armies into the Ruhr. They counted on passive resistance from the Germans and were prepared to meet it with a counter coup that would give France permanent control of the coal mines in the Ruhr. There was method in their seeming madness.

Lorraine contains the greatest iron deposits in Europe. But the coking coal necessary to operate industries in Lorraine and other cities in the north of France is to be found only in the Ruhr district. So long as the coal was in Germany and the iron in France the two countries were economically joined, like Siamese twins.

A miners' or railway workers' strike in Germany left the French industries without coal. There was but one visible remedy; the German control [illegible] ing coal must [illegible] that is the card [illegible] up their sleeve. LOST ART OF COURTESY

BY SUZANNE PEKOFF

The flowery courtesy on which the fair sex once fed has become more or less of a lost art, but it remained for the Mayor of Cleveland to deliver it a knockout blow. He demanded that a large sign be installed in every elevator in the city reading, "Please do not remove your hat in this elevator. Keep it on and help speed up elevator service." This was not due to any anxiety over the crushed headgears of the local citizenry, but a fear lest a hat held over the stomach would take up more room than on the head.

It was formerly quite the fashion to blame the passing of politeness on woman suffrage. When the ladies would weep and wail over the dearth of Chesterfields the retort discourteous was invariably made that, now that they had the vote, they could in future expect no extra consideration. In the light of facts subsequently revealed the demise of male manners was really due to inclination and practical business reasons.

It is doubtful whether the Mayor of Los Angeles will find it necessary to have recourse to an official ukase to restrain the local beaux from removing their hats in elevators. Any woman entering an elevator and desiring to see a specimen of the genus homo remove his bonnet would probably fall in a fainting fit and gum up the service considerably.

Nor is it essential for local

RECIPE CONTEST TIME IS LIMITED

Three Days Remain for Soup and Appetizers

Some Rules on Entries Are Disregarded

Second Race to be Started on Saturday

Only three more days remain until the close of the first of The Times' recipe contests. Entries in the soup and appetizer division of the menu must all be in by Wednesday, the 31st inst., to be considered, and none bearing a postmark later than Saturday, the 27th inst., will count.

A few more of the hundreds of recipes submitted in the first contest are printed below. Despite warnings that the entries must comply strictly with the rules of the contest, some contestants are still sending in entries without names and addresses, or containing trade-marked ingredients. The rules should be read carefully.

The second contest, for methods of preparing fish or fish sauce, opens on the 27th inst., and continues for two weeks.

ORANGE PUREE

4 sweet oranges.
3 tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar.
1 tablespoonful of lemon juice.
1 tablespoonful of finely chopped mint.
Equal quantity of whipped cream

Peel the oranges, removing all white pith and seeds and chop fine. Add the powdered sugar, lemon juice and mint. Chill thoroughly and just before serving stir in lightly the whipped cream. Serve in glass cups, garnishing with halves, blanched almonds.—[Bessie C. M. Wood, 1330 Bush street, Santa Ana.

ORANGE COCKTAIL

6 oranges.
1 dozen dates.
½ dozen figs.
2½ cups strained orange juice.
1 teaspoonful lemon juice.

Cut the orange pulp into small pieces, add the finely chopped dates and figs, then add the orange and lemon juice. Serve ice cold in glasses.—[Bessie C. M. Wood 1330 Bush street, Santa Ana.

MILK VEGETABLE SOUPS

One quart of milk, two and one-half tablespoons flour, two tablespoons butter or substitute, one teaspoon salt, two cups of thoroughly cooked vegetables finely chopped, mashed or put through a sieve. Spinach, peas, beans, potatoes, celery or asparagus make good soups. Sift flour into melted fat and mix with the cold milk. Add the cooked vegetable and stir over the fire until thickened. If soup is too thick, add a little milk.—[Mrs. S. C. Hamilton, 350 Ivy street, Glendale.

NORWEGIAN FRUIT SOUPS

¼ cup tapioca.
3 cups water.
1 stick cinnamon.
6 cloves.
½ cup prunes or raisins.
1 sliced lemon.
1 cup fruit juice.

Heat water to boiling point and add the tapioca gradually, stirring constantly. Add the prunes or raisins which have been thoroughly washed, then cinnamon, colves and sliced lemon. Cook until tapioca is transparent, then add fruit juice and sugar to taste. Serve either hot or cold.—[Mrs. S. C. Hamilton, 350 Ivy street, Glendale.

APPETIZER

Oven 10 cents worth of anise seed pour one cup boiling hot water and let steep until cool. While cooking cover with saucer. Make a syrup of two cups of white cane sugar. Pour this over with the anise and set aside until ready to prepare. Take the juice of six grapefruit, six oranges and a small bottle of maraschino cherry juice. Mix thoroughly. Fill glasses with cracked ice and one or two tablespoonfuls of the anise syrup, fill the glasses with the fruit juice, add cherries and a small sprig of mint. One tablespoon of sherry wine in each glass would improve this immensely, but—[Mrs. Ida I. Davis, 1582 Vestal Drive.

TOMATO SOUP

Take one can of tomatoes, put in saucepan and add one sliced onion, a blade of garlic (if liked,) two bay leaves, eight whole cloves, a pinch of celery seed and a pinch of cayenne pepper. Boil twenty minutes, being careful not to scorch. Into a double boiler put one quart of milk. Let come to a boil but do not boil. Strain the tomatoes through a collander. Reheat and add one-fourth teaspoon of soda. When tomatoes are through foaming add milk, stir all together, sprinkle chopped parsley in soup and serve with croutons.—[Mrs. Ida I. Davis, 1582 Vestal Drive.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP

4 medium size potatoes.
1½ pints of milk.
1 egg.
1 tablespoonful butter.

Salt, pepper, finely minced parsley, a little celery salt or small minced onion or both.

Pare the potatoes, boil and mash, have milk hot, add potatoes and bring to a boil. Add the seasoning. Beat the egg until foamy and add at the last moment. Garnish with parsley and egg balls.

EGG BALLS

Take two hard-boiled eggs and one raw egg, 1 tablespoon of flour or fine cracker crumbs, two tablespoonfuls melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, a dash of cayenne pepper, a few drops of lemon juice. Rub the boiled egg yolks very smooth, mince the whites very fine; mix together and add the seasoning and the flour or breadcrumbs. Stir all together with enough of the slightly beaten raw egg to bind and form into balls the size of a large hazlenut. Roll in beaten egg and crumbs after shaping. Drop balls into boiling fat and cook for about five minutes or until firm, or they may be fried a golden brown in deep fat. Serve in the toureen with the potato soup.—[Mrs. Jean M. Ryan, 1744 West Thirty-ninth street.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S FAVORITE SOUP

1 pint srong chicken broth.
1 pint fresh milk.

Mix to a smooth paste two tablespoons of flour and one of butter. Add slowly the pint of milk while cooking over a slow flame. When it boils up once add the pint of chicken broth, then a cup of cream. Next add a cup of chicken meat, two hard-boiled eggs and a tablespoon of parsley, all chopped fine. Salt to taste. Serve very hot. Enough for six people.—[Mrs. E. T. Palmer, 426 East I street, Ontario.

MOCK OYSTER SOUP

Cook for 40 minutes in as little water as possible one bunch of scraped and sliced oyster plant and three or four outside stalks of celery. When done press through a coarse sieve. Add this strained pulp to a drawn butter sauce made of one and one-half cups of milk and two tablespoons of flour mixed with one tablespoon of butter, or substitute, seasoned with salt and pepper. Add one tablespoon finely chopped parsley and serve very hot with croutons of stale bread fried a delicate brown in butter or butter substitute.

A tablespoon or more of leftover fish makes it taste more like real oyster soup. This recipe is enough for three people.—[Mrs. E. T. Palmer, 426 East I street, Ontario.

Resident Here for Long Time Laid to Rest

Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Eliza H. Fitzgerald, 49 years of age, at the Pierce & Crowe undertaking parlors. Rev. T. C. Pierce officiated.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was a member of the Wednesday Morning Club. She had been a resident of this city for more than fourteen years. She came from Roanoke, Va. Her husband has been in the automobile business in this city for ten years. She leaves her husband, Corbin Fitzgerald, and a daughter, Pattie. Burial was in the Forest Lawn Cemetery.

"TIMES" RECIPE CONTEST

Readers of The Times are invited to participate in a series of culinary contests in which this journal will pay cash prizes for the best recipes submitted. There will be six contests, each lasting two weeks. In each contest the best recipe submitted will win a first prize of $10, the next best $7.50 and the third best $3. In addition to these there will be two special prizes of $10 and $5 for the two best recipes for Spanish dishes. These Spanish-dish recipes may be submitted at any time during the twelve weeks, or until April 7. All other recipes must be submitted before the end of the two weeks allotted to the contest in which each is intended as an entry.

The first contest began January 13, and closes Saturday, January 27. It is a contest for the best recipe for a soup or an appetizer. The winners will be announced in The Times on Saturday, February 3.

The second contest, which will be for the best recipe for preparing fish or a fish sauce, will begin January 27 and close February 10. Winners will be announced February 17.

The third contest will be for the best recipe for preparing meat or a meat sauce. It will run from February 10 to February 24. Winners will be announced March 3.

The fourth contest, to run from February 24 to March 10, will be for the best recipe for the preparation of vegetables. Winners announced March 17.

The fifth contest, March 10 to March 24, will be for the best salad or salad dressing. Winners announced March 31.

The sixth contest will run from March 24 to April 7. It will be for the best recipe for a dessert. This may be cake, pastry or frozen or moulded desserts. Winners in this and in the special Spanish-dish contest will be announced April 14.

Honorable mention will be given worthy recipes which do not win prizes.

The Times reserves the right to print any recipe submitted in its columns or in book form. In such case the name of the author will also appear.

Recipes must be written on one side of the paper only, must be legible and plainly marked with the name and address of the author.

No manuscripts will be returned.

It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Times to compete. Anyone may enter any or all of the contests, submitting as many recipes as desired.

Originality, economy and adaptability to Southern California conditions will be considered in judging the recipes. Contestants should submit only recipes that have been thoroughly tested out in their own kitchens.

Specify exact amounts of ingredients, using level measurements. Do not use trade-marked names of ingredients.

Recipes should be sent in as early as possible. A recipe may be sent in before the actual start of the contest in which it is entered but in this case the fact must be noted at the top.

Address all recipes to The Times Recipe Editor, Times Building, Los Angeles.

DARK CHAPTERS

The injustice and inadequacy of the government's treatment of its Indian wards are being forcibly presented. The nation has been wasting most of the money expended on the red man's account and has not dealt fairly and honorably with him at any time. It seems to be strongly established that the swarthy pioneers would be better off by far if the Bureau of Indian Affairs had never existed. About all that Uncle Sam has done for Poor Lo is to take his country away from him and teach him bad habits. The annals of the country's relations with its first citizens are not a work to be proud of.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Ireland furnishes a concrete example of what happens in a country whose people and government fail to co-operate to enforce the law. Of this unhappy land we are told commercial honesty is at lowest ebb, shopkeepers can no longer collect their accounts, rents remain unpaid, annuities are withheld, banks are no longer safe, court orders are openly defied and murder and arson are common, everyday events.

That is the way a people disintegrates materially and morally as soon as disrespect for law is openly encouraged by an active minority. If this country ever allows the liquor conspirators, the Ku Klux Klan, the lynching advocates or any other invisible government to operate successfully in open defiance of laws passed by the people's representatives then the United States will have made a start along the new rocky road to Dublin.

STAGE FRIGHT

Miss Martha Miller, 22-year-old hunter of lions in their native haunts in the jungles of Africa, fainted from stage fright in Newark, N. J., the other day. She was about to address the men's club in the Park Presbyterian Church on her experiences on an eight months' trip devoted to slaughtering elephants and lions, but found herself bereft of the power of speech and collapsed.

At first blush it would seem that anyone who could look a lion in the eye without experiencing acute stage fright should be equal to almost any emergency. There is something about the idea of encountering old Leo in his native habitat that would rob the most of us of our savoir faire. Even a lion in a zoo is nothing to be sneezed at, and when he opens his formidable mouth and emits a heartfelt roar most folks feel their interest in carnivorous animals wavering. And to march forth in a jungle and shoot him dead or, worse still, half dead, should require bravery of a peculiarly high sort.

Which goes to prove that what we consider courage is purely comparative. An actress who can gaze nonchalantly forth at a vast audience in a theater would collapse if confronted with even the most feeble and dyspeptic lion. And a lady lion hunter, who is a terror to the four-footed folk of the jungles, faints with horror at facing a small church audience. Many a man has proven himself a mountain of courage on the battlefield, a snarling bear at his office and a quivering mass of tremulous fears in the presence of his own spouse. All in all, things are pretty equal in this world and we can all pat ourselves on the back with the soothing reflection that in our special sphere we are the bravest of the brave.

THE LURE OF HOLLYWOOD

"I want to see Hollywood first of all," announced His Royal Highness, Prince Valdemar of Denmark, as he landed in Los Angeles from a Danish ship.

Prince Valdemar had struggled through sixty-four years of life before seeing Hollywood, but now he feels that he has not lived in vain. He has seen it and still is young enough to enjoy it. He isn't even lamenting that he didn't get to visit it in his twenties, for there wasn't any Hollywood then.

It's quite a trip from Denmark to Los Angeles via the Panama Canal, with probably no stops except at Havana and in the Canal Zone, but Prince Valdemar wasn't tired a bit. He stepped off the ship full of vim and eagerness. For hadn't he reached the city of his dreams? One can imagine him whispering to himself: "So this is Los Angeles!"

It used to be that romantic American boys and girls dreamed of some day looking on royalty. Now it appears that romantic royalty dreams only of looking on Hollywood. The nobility of every civilized land under the sun have made the thrilling pilgrimage and those who haven't come yet are saving up their money. Some of the titled and famous foreigners who land in New York, even, only stay there long enough to make reservations for Los Angeles.

It's nice to live in the city all the world dreams about and wants to see. It is pleasant to reflect that we can enjoy it every day—that it is ours. Yet we have so much here to absorb our interest that it is dangerous. There is danger of our becoming as all-sufficient unto ourselves and provincial as New York used to be. And we say used to be advisedly. For Hollywood has caused even New Yorkers to discover America.

THE CURSE OF PATERNALISM

"Lo, the poor Indian"—wrote Pope in philosophical contemplation 200 years ago. During the two centuries that have passed since those lines were penned the Indians have decreased steadily in numbers and, while potentially richer than any other racial group in the United States, their actual poverty has increased.

Indian lands held in this country "in trust" for the remaining tribes have a value equal to $15,000 for each Indian family. But what a volume of sarcasm is contained in that hypocritical phrase "in trust!" According to Representative Kelly of Pennsylvania, one of the best informed men on Indian affairs in Congress, they are held "in trust" by a bureaucratic government department that keeps the Indians themselves in a state of semipauperism and actual serfdom and costs the taxpayers of the nation $13,000,000 a year.

Indian lands are worth hundreds of millions. They contain vast deposits of oil and other minerals. But they benefit neither the red men nor the rest of the country. Why? Representative Kelly says it is because the curse of bureaucracy is over them all.

"Inefficient" seems to be a mild term to apply to the Bureau of Indian Affairs. But it is not the inefficiency of an undermanned department or meager appropriation. There is at the present time an Indian agent on the government pay roll for every ten Indian families in the United States.

For a generation the Bureau of Indian Affairs has been a game preserve for political lame ducks. Republican and Democratic administrations have been equally guilty. Deserving Democrats and pay-roll Republicans are enthusiastic supporters of the Indian Bureau. Every Congressman who places patronage before the public service seeks to have some of his henchmen placed in that bureau. For it is there that the remuneration is heavy and the work is light.

Not infrequently good men have received places in that department; for even politicians at times make blunders. Some of them have possessed sufficient patriotism and fortitude to denounce the whole system; but those who have done so have not long remained in the public service.

At the present moment the appropriation asked for the Indian Bureau is greater than that for the entire Federal judicial system. It is greater than that asked for the maintenance of the Department of State and of Commerce and Labor. If the Indians themselves really benefited from this excessive paternalism, if they were happy and contented under the government supervision, if they preferred being wards of the nation to being citizens of the republic some justification might be found for this un-American procedure. But the great preponderance of testimony is to the effect that the Indians themselves resent most bitterly the condition of serfdom to which they are reduced.

Representative Kelly said very aptly that if the maintenance of this department were necessary to protect the white citizens from the violence of the red men a semblance of justification might be found for the present policy. But the days of wild Indians on the war path have passed; while the system of those days remains. Why?

Those who know something of the internal working of American politics understand that it is not easy to abolish a department that provides more than 5000 political jobs. Congressmen who would lose patronage if the department were discontinued lend a ready ear to the most flimsy justification for its continuance.

The Indian Bureau is a blot upon the Harding administration, as it has been upon every other for thirty years. Compelling the people of the nation to pay $13,000,000 a year for a service which is injurious to the Indians themselves and benefits only the political lame ducks is to perpetuate an iniquitous system. The Indians are capable of self-government as any other of half a dozen peoples who are admitted to the rights of citizenship. They ask no special favors; their spokesmen appeal only for equal rights with the newcomers in a land that was once their own.

Why shall such an injustice be perpetrated longer?

COAL AND IRON

Nature was extremely benevolent to mankind when from fused matter she fashioned the continent of Europe.

In the center of that great land division she placed in close proximity about 70 per cent of its coal deposits and over 50 per cent of its iron ore. Then she took what appeared to be the most intelligent specimens of the human race and dumped them in this favored region. She said in effect: There is the ore and there is the fuel. Now go to it and make iron for the use of all and you will grow wealthy and prosperous and be able to replenish the earth.

What did these men do with that startling business opportunity thrust right under their noses? They drew an imaginary line bisecting this rich combination, leaving the coal on one side and the iron ore on the other. The people on one side of this imaginary line who held all the iron ore called themselves Latins and the people who fastened onto the coal deposits dubbed themselves Teutons.

And Teuton and Latin started to make faces at each other and to dare each other to cross that imaginary line. They were like neighbors, living on either side of the street, who had to take all their goods out at the back door and ship them half-way around the world because if either crossed the street it would start a fight.

Now if it were necessary for mankind to draw an imaginary line to divide this section between Gauls and Teutons common horse sense would have suggested drawing it east and west instead of north and south. Then each would have had half the fuel and half the iron ore and both would have prospered and humanity with them.

When things appear to go criss-cross in the world you will find the fault is nearly always man's and very seldom nature's. Because nature is for even division, but man too often must hog the whole works or he won't play at all.

CANNOT PERFORM

In the hearing to break the injunction in the Rodolph Valentino case in New York the judge admits certain things, but announces that Valentino cannot act before the camera. That is what a few jealous souls in Hollywood have been saying all the time.

SOBBY CRIMINALS

A girl arrested for passing worthless checks says she did it in order to get pretty clothes and an education.

One of the easiest things to invent, even for stupid people, is excuses. And, no matter how stupid an excuse is, there seem to be plenty of stupider people who put some credence in it. To err is human. Our great ancestors in the Garden of Eden could stand anything except temptation, and we've all got quite a bit of their blood in our veins. But when we take a nose-dive into wrong-doing and then come up smiling, with a glib excuse on our lips, we surely do make those ancestors squirm in their graves—even Adam, who is reliably reported to have tried to slip the blame off on Eve.

One doesn't have to write worthless checks in order to get education in Los Angeles—not decent education, at least. There are free day schools and free night schools and other schools which make the easiest kind of terms to students.

It is not reported that the poor girl in this case sought to enter any of them or any other school. So far, her wild desire for education had gone no further than the issuing of checks signed by fictitious names. The only thing she seemed to be studying was chirography. Now that the police have caught her, of course, she is going to learn a lot. But that wasn't precisely the education she was yearning for.

This girl says she had to have better clothes to get a job. Yet she seems to have been dressed well enough, at the start, to go into department stores and cash worthless personal checks on her looks. Maybe she was not as sadly lacking in education, of a kind, as she appeared to be.

Los Angeles wants to be the most encouraging city in the world to people who are earnestly trying to make good, whether or not they have ever slipped in the past. It has a good deal of respect for people who honestly are "beating back." But it is getting pretty sick of people who choose criminality merely because it seems the easiest way, relying on sobs and sex and stories which won't hold water to win leniency if not probation when they are caught.

A LADY'S AGE

The most ungallant action recorded in recent times took place recently in England when the British Royal Academy elected Mrs. Annie L. Swynnerton, the celebrated painter, to membership in their august body and then ousted her a few days later upon making the horrific discovery that she was too old to be eligible to sit in their effulgent midst. At that, they had handed her a sort of left-handed compliment, giving her an associate membership rather than conferring upon her the distinction of being a full-fledged academician.

Although in no sense famous for their profuse and elaborate courtesy, it would have been impossible for a group of American men to have perpetrated this action. Having committed the social error of admitting the lady they would have contrived to maintain a seeming ignorance of her advanced years. A country that is so considerate of its feminine citizens that it does not require them to reveal their actual age when voting could never have been guilty of the gross indelicacy of informing a woman artist that she was too old to receive distinction. But the British are not squeamish on such matters and make no fine distinctions between the sexes. If a lady in a thoughtless or playful moment sends a man into eternity they hang her, and if she is so old that she is passe they bluntly inform her of this fact.

However, as Mrs. Swynnerton has attained to the ripe wisdom and philosophy that 78 years bestows, she can probably bear the blow with equanimity. A woman in the forties or fifties or sixties would be overwhelmed with humiliation and burning with rage and feel like bombing the homes of the respective academicians. But it is noticeable that women usually cease to be sensitive about their age after they pass 75. And the few who attain the century mark usually flaunt their years right proudly.

UNHAPPY HOPI SQUAWS

A Hopi squaw, Clara Kimball Young assures us, can divorce her husband by merely putting his belongings outside the tent and buttoning up the tent flap from the inside.

Is that announcement going to start a lot of white ladies on the run for the nearest Hopi village with the intention of temporarily becoming Hopi squaws? Quite right. It is not. For when you come to size it all up the Hopi method is a lot more lenient on the husbands than any other method you can think of.

In the first place, note what the Hopi squaw has to do. She doesn't nab all the convertible community property. She doesn't say: "All the household goods, of course, are mine." She doesn't ask for any separate maintenance or alimony. In fact, when a Hopi squaw divorces her husband everything is going out and nothing coming in for her.

As Clara Kimball Young sees it, the Hopi squaws have a very free and unobstructed life. Maybe so. But there are those who would bet that if the same system were in vogue among the white people there wouldn't be half as many divorces as there are now.

INFANT BURGLARS

Four children, ranging from 9 to 15 years of age, one a girl, have just been arrested in Los Angeles for breaking into and rifling a drug store. One of the most cheerless signs of the times is the ever-lessening year average at which crimes are committed. Today it is below the 20-year-old mark. Septuagenarian law-breakers are as rare as hen's teeth. Is the race destined to lose its first while gaining its second childhood? Or is a baby burglar of 9 a blot on our social system we can wipe out by vaunting the virtue of nine-and-seventy?

RIPPLING RHYMES

THRIFT WEEK

For a week we practice thrift, we're the cautious, frugal lads; to the bank we daily drift with a roll of hard-earned scads; we've made resolutions chaste, we will cut out wanton waste, to the bank we'll go in haste with the dollars of our dads. If we'll only stick to this, to this policy sublime, we will store up heaps of bliss for our distant winter time; when old age has made us bent we'll repose in sweet content, not afraid to blow a cent or a nickel or a dime. If we save our chickenfeed while we're strong and full of vim, age, which comes with ghastly speed, will not seem so bleak and grim; with a bundle on the ice age will seem serene and nice, and we'll chortle once or twice and send up a cheerful hymn. Soon or late we'll have the flu or the colic or the hives; and the village docs will do all they can to save our lives! If we're busted when we're sick all the docs will file a kick; we'll be outlawed pretty quick with our children and our wives. For the world has little use for the delegate who's broke, though he's able to produce, in his line, a trail of smoke; he may boast of noble birth or of talent or of worth, but he's sized up, on this earth, as a feeble sort of joke. Let us salt the kopeck down, let us put it in the bank; let's preserve the minted crown and the guilder and the franc; let us walk in prudent ways, practice thrift because it pays; then when come the rainy days we shall never draw a blank.

PEN POINTS

By the Staff

It must be awful wearing to wear a legislative toga. The California Legislature may take a recess in two weeks. Oh, gosh!

William Allen White says that the United States has many men more able than Lincoln. Possibly one of them is an Emporia (Kan.) editor.

Some of these days there will be found a pen at the public desk in the postoffice that may be used for writing purposes. When? oh, we don't know.

It is hinted in select political circles that President Harding will be a candidate for another term. Well, does not one good term deserve another?

So far those Russian crown jewels have not been found in that Brooklyn cemetery. Nobody imagined they would be. There is no story too big for the American public to swallow.

It is estimated that during the past two years $3,000,000,000 has been invested in nontaxable securities. Which may account for the fly in the ointment of the Federal tax collectors. And they don't know what to do about it.

Among other reasons why we should not care to be the heir to the British throne is that it would be impossible for us to court a girl without the whole nation looking at us. There would be no sort of chance for a bit of the mistletoe stuff.

Tough on the navy boys. An order has been issued that officers and men in the Navy who have been billeted with soft jobs ashore must go to sea. This is a distinct hardship. The boys evidently imagined they were all to be Sir Joseph Porters.

Uncle Joe Cannon made a New Year resolution that he would quit smoking, only to be caught with a Pittsburg stogie between his teeth a few days later. Possibly he argues that a stogie is not tobacco, which is not a bad guess. But Uncle Joe is 87 and must be allowed to change his mind.

The captain of the Baltic, an Atlantic liner, has brought to port a story of seeing at sea a beast that had ears and a nose like a pig, was fully nine feet in girth and about twelve feet long. The particular brand that furnished such a picture is not named in the dispatches. But it has all the earmarks of Los Angeles hootch.

THIS IS THE DAY

Samuel F. B. Morse first publicly demonstrated his code of dots and dashes, now known as the Morse alphabet code, at New York University in the year 1838.

Gold was first discovered in California in the year 1848 at Coloma on the American River. The discoverer was James Wilson Marshall. He was building a saw mill beside the river when he accidentally picked up the first nuggets of placer gold. He profited little, however, by the discovery and died penniless in 1855.

EUROPEAN CLOSE-UPS

BY S. FRED HOGUE

Lloyd George Weeps for Germany.
Disannexing the German Ruhr.
No Happy Home-Coming.

Lloyd George is rapidly unfolding the policy by which he hopes to unite the opposition in the British House of Commons and secure enough recruits from the Conservatives to convert it into a majority.

Nimble of wit, fertile in resource and daring in execution, he has seized upon the present European crisis to denounce the French occupation of the Ruhr. He courts the support of the Labor party in Parliament by telling the workers that unemployment is increasing because the French have destroyed the German markets.

While England and Germany were political antagonists for years before the war each was a good customer for the products of the other. There are hunger and misery in parts of England, particularly in the industrial communities, this winter. Lloyd George tells the workers in his colorful language that there would be employment for all if Germany were rehabilitated.

Always plausible, though falling often into economic error, he is pointing out that while the Germans were working there was food and clothes for all in England. Half the German industries are now idle and unemployment in England is on the increase.

"The way to help ourselves," he asserts, "is to help the German industries. We cannot help them while the Ruhr is under French control." And he has the advantage that he bases his argument on a known fact; while his opponents cannot prove that conditions would be equally bad in England if France had kept out of the Ruhr.

It is significant that the London Daily Telegraph, one of the most influential newspapers in England and a former supporter of Lloyd George, refused on Saturday to print his weekly political survey, asserting that it was unduly anti-French and pro-German. Only the radical and Labor papers would use it.

In the light of his war record it is difficult to envision Lloyd George turning from the French and making common cause with the Germans. During his political career, however, he has never won any medals for consistency.

For at least 100 years the political policy of the British government has rested on an economic basis. "England," to quote Churchill, "is a nation of traders." A hundred years ago Napoleon called them "A nation of shopkeepers." They always find some moral maxim on which to base a policy that enlarges trade and brings money to the English purse.

It is patent that French occupation of the Ruhr will increase temporarily unemployment in England. Lloyd George probably figures that this condition will last long enough to overthrow the Bonar Law government.

If we Americans are going to get anything like a clear understanding of European conditions we must rid ourselves of many of our sentimental illusions concerning the French and German peoples.

My experience from short sojourns among them is that their customs and their views of life differ from our own as greatly as the languages differ.

It is now apparent that the French had other ends in view than merely collecting reparations when they sent their armies into the Ruhr. They counted on passive resistance from the Germans and were prepared to meet it with a counter coup that would give France permanent control of the coal mines in the Ruhr. There was method in their seeming madness.

Lorraine contains the greatest iron deposits in Europe. But the coking coal necessary to operate industries in Lorraine and other cities in the north of France is to be found only in the Ruhr district. So long as the coal was in Germany and the iron in France the two countries were economically joined, like Siamese twins.

A miners' or railway workers' strike in Germany left the French industries without coal. There was but one visible remedy: the

BY SUZANNE PEKOFF

The flowery courtesy on which the fair sex was once fed has become more or less of a lost art, but it remained for the Mayor of Cleveland to deliver it a knockout blow. He demanded that a large sign be installed in every elevator in the city reading, "Please do not remove your hat in this elevator. Keep it on and help speed up elevator service." This was not due to any anxiety over the crushed headgears of the local citizenry, but a fear lest a hat held over the stomach would take up more room than one on the head.

It was formerly quite the fashion to blame the passing of politeness on woman suffrage. When the ladies would wail and moan over the dearth of Chesterfields the retort discourteous was invariably made that, now that they had the vote, they could in future expect no extra consideration. In the light of facts subsequently revealed the demise of male manners was really due to inclination and practical business reasons.

It is doubtful whether the Mayor of Los Angeles will find it necessary to have recourse to an official ukase to restrain the local beaux from removing their hats in elevators. Any woman entering an elevator and observing a specimen of the genus homo remove his bonnet would promptly fall in a fainting fit and gum up the service considerably.

Nor is it essential for local of-

Three Days Remain for Soup and Appetizers

Some Rules on Entries Are Disregarded

Second Race to be Started on Saturday

Only three more days remain until the close of the first of The Times' recipe contests. Entries in the soup and appetizer division of the menu must all be in by Wednesday, the 31st inst., to be considered, and none bearing a postmark later than Saturday, the 27th inst., will count.

A few more of the hundreds of recipes submitted in the first contest are printed below. Despite warnings that the entries must comply strictly with the rules of the contest, some contestants are still sending in entries without names and addresses, or containing trade-marked ingredients. The rules should be read carefully.

The second contest, for methods of preparing fish or fish sauce, opens on the 27th inst., and continues for two weeks.

ORANGE PUREE

4 sweet oranges.
3 tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar.
1 tablespoonful of lemon juice.
1 tablespoonful of finely chopped mint.
Equal quantity of whipped cream

Peel the oranges, removing all white pith and seeds and chop fine. Add the powdered sugar, lemon juice and mint. Chill thoroughly and just before serving stir in lightly the whipped cream. Serve in glass cups, garnishing with halves, blanched almonds.—[Bessie C. M. Wood, 1330 Bush street, Santa Ana.

ORANGE COCKTAIL

6 oranges.
1 dozen dates.
½ dozen figs.
2½ cups strained orange juice.
1 teaspoonful lemon juice.

MILK VEGETABLE SOUPS

One quart of milk, two and one-half tablespoons flour, two tablespoons butter or substitute, one teaspoon salt, two cups of thoroughly cooked vegetables finely chopped, mashed or put through a sieve. Spinach, peas, beans, potatoes, celery or asparagus make good soups. Sift flour into melted fat and mix with the cold milk. Add the cooked vegetable and stir over the fire until thickened. If soup is too thick, add a little milk.—[Mrs. S. C. Hamilton, 350 Ivy street, Glendale.

NORWEGIAN FRUIT SOUPS

¼ cup tapioca.
3 cups water.
1 stick cinnamon.
6 cloves.
½ cup prunes or raisins.
1 sliced lemon.
1 cup fruit juice.

Heat water to boiling point and add the tapioca gradually, stirring constantly. Add the prunes or raisins which have been thoroughly washed, then cinnamon, colves and sliced lemon. Cook until tapioca is transparent, then add fruit juice and sugar to taste. Serve either hot or cold.—[Mrs. S. C. Hamilton, 350 Ivy street, Glendale.

APPETIZER

Over 10 cents worth of anise seed pour one cup boiling hot water and let steep until cool. While cooking cover with saucer. Make a syrup of two cups of white cane sugar. Pour this over with the anise and set aside until ready to prepare. Take the juice of six grapefruit, six oranges and a small bottle of maraschino cherry juice. Mix thoroughly. Fill glasses with cracked ice and one or two tablespoonfuls of the anise syrup, fill the glasses with the fruit juice, add cherries and a small sprig of mint. One tablespoon of sherry wine in each glass would improve this immensely, but—[Mrs. Ida I. Davis, 1582 Vestal Drive.

TOMATO SOUP

Take one can of tomatoes, put in saucepan and add one sliced onion, a blade of garlic (if liked,) two bay leaves, eight whole cloves, a pinch of celery seed and a pinch of cayenne pepper. Boil twenty minutes, being careful not to scorch. Into a double boiler put one quart of milk. Let come to a boil but do not boil. Strain the tomatoes through a collander. Reheat and add one-fourth teaspoon of soda. When tomatoes are through foaming add milk, stir all together, sprinkle chopped parsley in soup and serve with croutons.—[Mrs. Ida I. Davis, 1582 Vestal Drive.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP

4 medium size potatoes.
1½ pints of milk.
1 egg.
1 tablespoonful butter.

Salt, pepper, finely minced parsley, a little celery salt or small minced onion or both.

Pare the potatoes, boil and mash, have milk hot, add potatoes and bring to a boil. Add the seasoning. Beat the egg until foamy and add at the last moment. Garnish with parsley and egg balls.

EGG BALLS

Take two hard-boiled eggs and one raw egg, 1 tablespoon of flour or fine cracker crumbs, two tablespoonfuls melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, a dash of cayenne pepper, a few drops of lemon juice. Rub the boiled egg yolks very smooth, mince the whites very fine; mix together and add the seasoning and the flour or breadcrumbs. Stir all together with enough of the slightly beaten raw egg to bind and form into balls the size of a large hazlenut. Roll in beaten egg and crumbs after shaping. Drop balls into boiling fat and cook for about five minutes or until firm, or they may be fried a golden brown in deep fat. Serve in the toureen with the potato soup.—[Mrs. Jean M. Ryan, 1744 West Thirty-ninth street.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S FAVORITE SOUP

1 pint srong chicken broth.
1 pint fresh milk.

Mix to a smooth paste two tablespoons of flour and one of butter. Add slowly the pint of milk while cooking over a slow flame. When it boils up once add the pint of chicken broth, then a cup of cream. Next add a cup of chicken meat, two hard-boiled eggs and a tablespoon of parsley, all chopped fine. Salt to taste. Serve very hot. Enough for six people.—[Mrs. E. T. Palmer, 426 East I street, Ontario.

MOCK OYSTER SOUP

Cook for 40 minutes in as little water as possible one bunch of scraped and sliced oyster plant and three or four outside stalks of celery. When done press through a coarse sieve. Add this strained pulp to a drawn butter sauce made of one and one-half cups of milk and two tablespoons of flour mixed with one tablespoon of butter, or substitute, seasoned with salt and pepper. Add one tablespoon finely chopped parsley and serve very hot with croutons of stale bread fried a delicate brown in butter or butter substitute.

A tablespoon or more of leftover fish makes it taste more like real oyster soup. This recipe is enough for three people.—[Mrs. E. T. Palmer, 426 East I street, Ontario.

Resident Here for Long Time Laid to Rest

Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Eliza H. Fitzgerald, 49 years of age, at the Pierce & Crowe undertaking parlors. Rev. T. C. Pierce officiated.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was a member of the Wednesday Morning Club. She had been a resident of this city for more than fourteen years. She came from Roanoke, Va. Her husband has been in the automobile business in this city for ten years. She leaves her husband, Corbin Fitzgerald, and a daughter, Pattie. Burial was in the Forest Lawn Cemetery.

"TIMES" RECIPE CONTEST

Readers of The Times are invited to participate in a series of culinary contests in which this journal will pay cash prizes for the best recipes submitted. There will be six contests, each lasting two weeks. In each contest the best recipe submitted will win a first prize of $10, the next best $7.50 and the third best $3. In addition to these there will be two special prizes of $10 and $5 for the two best recipes for Spanish dishes. These Spanish-dish recipes may be submitted at any time during the twelve weeks, or until April 7. All other recipes must be submitted before the end of the two weeks allotted to the contest in which each is intended as an entry.

The first contest began January 13, and closes Saturday, January 27. It is a contest for the best recipe for a soup or an appetizer. The winners will be announced in The Times on Saturday, February 3.

The second contest, which will be for the best recipe for preparing fish or a fish sauce, will begin January 27 and close February 10. Winners will be announced February 17.

The third contest will be for the best recipe for preparing meat or a meat sauce. It will run from February 10 to February 24. Winners will be announced March 3.

The fourth contest, to run from February 24 to March 10, will be for the best recipe for the preparation of vegetables. Winners announced March 17.

The fifth contest, March 10 to March 24, will be for the best salad or salad dressing. Winners announced March 31.

The sixth contest will run from March 24 to April 7. It will be for the best recipe for a dessert. This may be cake, pastry or frozen or moulded desserts. Winners in this and in the special Spanish-dish contest will be announced April 14.

Honorable mention will be given worthy recipes which do not win prizes.

The Times reserves the right to print any recipe submitted in its columns or in book form. In such case the name of the author will also appear.

Recipes must be written on one side of the paper only, must be legible and plainly marked with the name and address of the author.

No manuscripts will be returned.

It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Times to compete. Anyone may enter any or all of the contests, submitting as many recipes as desired.

Originality, economy and adaptability to Southern California conditions will be considered in judging the recipes. Contestants should submit only recipes that have been thoroughly tested out in their own kitchens.

Specify exact amounts of ingredients, using level measurements. Do not use trade-marked names of ingredients.

Recipes should be sent in as early as possible. A recipe may be sent in before the actual start of the contest in which it is entered but in this case the fact must be noted at the top.

Address all recipes to The Times Recipe Editor, Times Building, Los Angeles.

CATCHING 'EM ALIVE

"Big game hunting no doubt has its thrills, but the sport of catching wild animals alive provides excitement compared with which a shooting expedition in the jungle is as tame as ping pong."

THIS is what the London Evening Standard said about Charles Mayer's famous series of stories "Catching Wild Animals Alive," published in ASIA a while ago. In this February issue, Mr. Mayer begins another thrilling series with the story of the famous durian fruit which crazes wild animals and people alike, and with a great tale of a tiger and his natural enemy, the rhinoceros. Amazing stories of Mayer's personal contacts with jungle animal hates and battles; in the February

BUS FRANCHISE IN CITY ASKED

McAdoo Acts as Attorney for Eastern Men

Thirteen City Routes Would be Operated

Proposed Plan Similar to New York System

Double-deck passenger-carrying motor busses, such as are in operation on Fifth avenue, New York, in Detroit and in other eastern cities, may soon be in operation in Los Angeles, if the City Council grants an application for a permit filed yesterday.

The application was signed by William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the namy, now a resident of this city, as counsel for the $2,000,000 California corporation to be organized to operate the busses, if the necessity permit is granted, and by E. F. Simms and former Congressman Joseph L. Rhinock, both of New York. Mr. Simms is vice-president of the Cinclair Gulf Oil Company. Marco H. Hellman addressed the Council briefly in connection with the application, saying that he appeared in the absence of Mr. McAdoo, who is in the East.

Mr. Hellman said that the organizers of the bus line company were men of wealth and of the highest financial and personal standing and integrity, and that the plan was not a stock-selling scheme, as the organizers were bringing their own money to Los Angeles to finance the venture. Mr. Hellman said he had no financial interest in the concern, but that he believed as a citizen that something should be done to supplement the service given by the street railway companies.

FARE TEN CENTS

A fare of 10 cents a ride would be charged on the busses, which is the same fare charged by the Fifth-avenue busses in New York.

Richard W. Meade, who organized and operated the New York bus lines for many years, and who would probably be the operating manager of the Los Angeles busses, also addressed the Council. He said that the busses would not add to traffic congestion, but would relieve it, as has been found to be the case in Detroit, where many persons who had been driving downtown in their automobiles substituted the busses.

If the company is given a permit it will agree to give 3 per cent of its gross receipts to the city. In New York City the bus line pays the city 5 per cent of its gross revenues.

The application states the busses would operate over thirteen lines or routes, that sixty miles of streets would be served, that at least 125 double-deck motor busses, each seating fifty passengers, and a number of single-deck busses would be placed in use.

PROPOSED ROUTES

The routes over which the bus line proposes to operate are as follows:

Route No. 1—Hollywood Boulevard from Gardner street to Vermont avenue, to Wilshire Boulevard, to Parkview street, to Seventh street, to Alvarado street, to Eighth street, to Grand avenue, to Fifth street, to Olive street; returning via Olive street, to Eighth street and thence via the same route as above.

Route No. 2.—Sunset Boulevard from Gardner street to and around the Plaza.

Route No. 3—Wilshire Boulevard from La Brea avenue, to Parkview street, to Seventh street, to Alvarado street, to Eighth street, to Grand avenue, to Fifth street, to Olive street; returning via Olive street to Eighth street and thence via the same route.

Route No. 4—Washington street from Crenshaw Boulevard, to Hope street, to Seventh street, to Olive street; returning via Olive street, to Eighth street, to Hope street and thence via the same route.

Route No. 5—Santa Barbara avenue from Van Ness avenue, to Figueroa street, to Washington street, to Hope street, to Seventh street, to Olive street; returning via Olive street, to Eighth street, to Hope street, and thence via the same route.

Route No. 6—Figueroa street from Slauson avenue, to Washington street, to Hope street, to Seventh street, to Olive street; returning via Olive street, to Eighth street, to Hope street, and thence via the same route.

Route No. 7—Slauson avenue from Van Ness avenue to Central avenue; returning via the same route.

Route No. 8—Vermont avenue from Slauson avenue, to Los Feliz Boulevard; returning via the same route.

Route No. 9—Western avenue from Slauson avenue to Los Feliz Boulevard; returning via the same route.

Route No. 10—Vine street from Franklin avenue to and across Melrose avenue, to Rossmore avenue, to Wilshire Boulevard; returning via the same route.

Route No. 11—Beverly Boulevard from Wilton Place to Vermont avenue; returning by the same route.

Route No. 12—Lincoln Park avenue from Mission Road to North Broadway; to Sunset Boulevard, to and around the Plaza; returning via the same route.

Route No. 13—Whittier Boulevard from Indiana street to Boyle avenue, to East Seventh street, to Los Angeles street, to and around the Plaza; returning by the same route.

The Council referred the application to the Board of Public Utilities for a report.

A Woman's Message to Women:

Only a Woman Knows a Woman's Trials and Understands Her Need of Sympathy and Help

That is why hundreds of women gladly testify to the value of Mrs. Summers' popular Opaline Home Treatment in relieving so much of the misery and suffering known only to womankind. READER, if you are troubled with some of these special ailments of women—with descriptive literature. Test Mrs. Summers' Opaline Remedy for yourself, in your home, without the knowledge or aid of anyone. You can then continue if you wish, at about 12c. a week. For twenty-five years women reported it satisfactory, and often superior to vegetable tonics and compounds. Used by old and young and does not interfere with daily work. Write in confidence, as your letter is opened, read and answered by a woman.

SEND FOR A FREE TEN DAYS' TREATMENT

MOUNT OLIVE, N. C.

I don't know where I would be had it not been for your treatment. When I wrote for the first treatment my health was so bad I couldn't walk. I had such pains in my sides and was unable to do any of my housework. I can't praise too highly your treatment, for it has made a new person out of me. My present health is good. Mrs. Summers' Home Treatment is wonderful and I will recommend it to all of my friends, for it will do what it says it will. You can use my name any time, for I can't praise your treatment enough.

MRS. SALLIE BUDD.

HAHIRA, GA.

I am writing a few words of praise for the benefit of other poor suffering women. I started taking your treatment last February. I could not cook or do my housework. My mother came and found me so poor death that she was alarmed. So she brought the first treatment, and hear me friend its the best thing for women that has ever been discovered. My neighbors hardly know me I have gained so much. I can do all of my housework, cooking, and walk to my neighbors. I can't find words to praise the Summers Medicine enough.

MRS. M. D. McLANE.

ALL SOUTHLAND TITLE-PICKING

Easterners Join in "Times" Playgoers Revue

Prizes Dangle as Pictures Are Presented

"Book of Plays" Offered to Contestants

Southern California is going play mad!

The number of people who are picking titles for pictures appearing in the Playgoers Revue, just announced by The Times, is increasing so rapidly each day that it's becoming the one absorbing diversion for young and old alike. Cash prizes totaling $8500 will be awarded for best lists of titles.

That the Playgoers Revue promises to assume the importance of a national event was indicated yesterday when letters came in from eastern cities. The novelty of this new pastime, presented for the first time in any newspaper by The Times, is creating a sensation wherever the news spreads. With $8500 in cash prizes dangling before the eyes of participants in the revue, the desire to pick best titles for each of the thirty pictures comprising the revue is all the more irresistible.

Virtually everyone is sending for his copy of the "Book of Plays." This book contains nearly 1500 titles of plays that have been produced on the stage, and participants are taking the precaution to avail themselves of this list so that they can be bettew equipped to pick the best titles. Ten cents in coin or stamps will purchase a copy of the book of plays. It is on sale at The Times main and branch offices, or will be mailed postpaid anywhere.

METHOD POPULAR

The method of awarding the cash prizes at the close of the revue is another popular feature. All title sets submitted will be judged in one of two classes. Where a three-months' subscription to the Los Angeles daily and Sunday Times Accompanies the title coupons, it is placed in class A, in which the prizes for best selections run from $10 up to $500. The prizes in class B, which require a twelve months' subscription, range from $50 to $2500. Thirty-five prizes will be awarded in each class, a total of seventy cash awards for the seventy best sets of titles selected by the judges.

Sending a subscription is the only requirement for participating in the Playgoers Revue. It must be paid in advance, and may be either a new subscription of a renewal.

Full details of the Times' offer and valuable suggestions on how to pick titles and win a prize are contained in the advertisement elsewhere in this issue of The Times, together with the fourth picture of the revue. It is not too late to start now, as back pictures and coupons may be obtained free for the asking by communicating with The Times.

NO RESTRICTIONS

The Playgoers Revue is in the nature of a free-for-all. There are no restrictions whatever as to age or residence. Men and women are eligible. Not even a knowledge of theatrical attractions is required, for the "Book of Plays" will provide any person with all the titles, and it becomes only necessary to look at the picture printed each day, then look through the "Book of Plays" for titles that fit best.

Where it is preferred to send in a subscription before the close of the revue in order to get the paper at once this may be done. Simply request that an auxiliary receipt be sent you and return this with the set of title coupons at the end, and it will credit you with the required subscription.

Enter this fascinating pastime today. Turn now to the Playgoers Revue advertisement and see if you can pick the best titles for today's picture. Then watch The Times each day for new pictures. It's easy and lots of fun. And perhaps a big cash prize may reward your efforts.

ILLNESS CAUSES SUICIDE

Retired Contractor Leaves Note Asking Brothers be Told

Because, he said in a note, he was suffering from an incurable ailment, Albert Meyer, 65 years of age, of 324½ South Hill street, shot and killed himself yesterday. Meyer was a retired building contractor. The note asked that the secretary of the local Moose Lodge be notified and that word be sent to three brothers in New York. Meyer's body was taken to the Reid Brothers & Dellenbaugh undertaking rooms.

SAYS WEDDING FORCED

Nellie Leora Stiltz Asserts Man Threatened to Kill Himself

Declaring she had been forced to marry a man she did not love because he threatened suicide, Nellie Leora Stiltz yesterday filed suit for annulment of her marriage to Raymond C. Stiltz. The girl is but 16 years of age, but, the complaint states, her husband gave her age as 18 years when the two sought a license. After the marriage last June, the parents of both permitted them to live together as it was thought their problems might be solved.

JAIL FOR SHOPLIFTER

Six Months' Sentence Given on Plea of Guilty

Pleading guilty to shoplifting at the N. B. Blackstone department store, C. G. Thorpe, who said he was from Walla Walla, Wash., yesterday was sentenced by Police Judge Richardson to a straight jail sentence of six months.

Thorpe was first apprehended at the department store by an operative of the Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association. He broke loose from his captor, and put up a stiff fight when finally caught at the intersection of Ninth street and Broadway. He had to be handcuffed before submitting to arrest.

The Ceaseless Quest for the Best —to bring the finest foods to our serving counters—to please the most discriminating tastes—and to maintain an unvarying standard of quality—

THAT is the never-ending quest that leads far afield into garden, orchard and vineyard—dairy, poultry ranch and truck farm—as well as the local markets, bringing all the good things of the land to gratify your appetite.

Wherever the quest may lead, the same exacting care that the housewife takes in selecting provisions for her table governs our choice—the same close inspection of meats and fowl—the same careful scrutiny of vegetables and green things.

That is why our salads are always so deliciously fresh and crisp—our meats so tender and savory—why our pies, shortcakes and old-fashioned cobblers abound in the twang of the fresh fruit as it comes from the trees or vines.

It is this factor of particular care in selection, coupled with the skilful preparation of our expert chefs, that brings our patrons back again and again.

Eating at Boos Bros. is just like eating at home—with all the work left out. Then, there are the added attractions of extensive variety and good music.

E. Page, chairman of home economics, presiding. The meeting will be held in federation headquarters, 616 Junior Orpheum Building, and all who are interested in these departments are invited. Mrs. W. D. Crocker of Pasadena is chairman of industrial and social relations, and Mrs. L. B. Doan of Burbank is chairman of country life.

LEAGUE OF PEN WOMEN

Through the courtesy of Charles Ray, the members of the League of American Pen Women, Los Angeles Branch, Mrs. Bertha Heustis, president, are invited to view today "The Mayflower," the facsimile of the original, which is erected at his studio as a part of the set for his new picture, "Miles Standish," now in the making.

BIG SISTER LEAGUE

The Big Sister League will, during the coming year, be treated to delightful programs on the afternoons of each second Thursday (the Big Sisers' social day.)

Mrs. Spencer Kelly, president of the Matinee Musical Club, has volunteered to supply those programs and as Mrs. Kelly has a large source of talent from which to draw, those who visit the Big Sisters' League on that day will undoubtedly receive a treat well worth while.

The Big Sisters will sew all day next Thursday at the Training Home, 2118 Trinity street. All members and friends are requested to assist in making baby layettes and undergarments.

Y.W.C.A. ANNUAL DINNER

The annual dinner with an interesting program will be given for all members of the Young Woman's Christian Association at the Y.M.C.A. auditorium, 721 South Hope street, on Friday, the 26th inst., 6 to 9 p.m. Members may procure dinner tickets (60 cents) at 941 South Figueroa street, and at the Blue Triangle, 631 South Spring street, before Wednesday noon.

Until 6 p.m. on Friday the polls will be open at 941 South Figueroa street for the election of directors. All members are urged to vote and to be present at the dinner.

AZUSA WOMAN'S CLUB

Today at 2:30 p.m. the Azusa Woman's Club is entertaining in honor of the many new members of the club with a silver tea. The hostesses are Mrs. B. F. Spriggs, president of the club; Mrs. L. T. Anderson, Mrs. C. A. Griffith, Mrs. J. B. Stair, Mrs. Cornelius Smith and Mrs. C. Constance.

At the last meeting of the club Mrs. William Mabee, president of the Wa-Wan Club of Los Angeles, lectured on "Religious Effect of Folk Songs," and illustrated her talk with the songs of the people. Next Wednesday Mrs. Herietta Horton Kapp will lecture on "Home of the Child," and a short program of music will be given by local talent.

GLENDALE WOMAN IS INDORSED

Mrs. Toll Urged for District Leader

Mrs. Charles Hulbert Toll

Mrs. Charles Hulbert Toll was unanimously indorsed yesterday by the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale as a candidate for the office of president of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs, election to take place at San Luis Obispo at the annual convention in April.

Although as many as seven women prominent in club circles have been mentioned for this office, this is the first indorsement. Mrs. Toll is a resident of Glendale, where she organized the Mutual Reading Circle, which is now the largest in the United States among the Parent-Teacher associations. She is a member of the program committee of the club which indorsed her and president of the Federated P.-T. A. She has been a member of the School Board in Glendale and is a past president of the Los Angeles Ebell, the second largest club in the General Federation.

WOMAN WHO DIED IN ACCIDENT IDENTIFIED

The woman killed by an automobile at Figueroa and Seventh teenth streets Monday night was identified yesterday as Mrs. Lena Prussinger, 1705 South Figueroa street.

She was struck, according to the police report, by Glean B. Saltz of 1920 Marland avenue. Saltz was not held.

There will be an inquest today at 10 a.m. at the undertaking rooms of Cunningham & O'Connor.

Start Romance by Agency and Quit in Court

Another romance originating in matrimonial agencies went to smash in Judge Doran's department of the Superior Court yesterday when an annulment was granted Ira Kelley, crippled pencil seller, of his marriage to Cecilia Kelley.

Mrs. Kelley brought the suit originally, asserting Kelley misrepresented his physical and financial condition when they met through a matrimonial advertisement. She failed to appear, but Kelley came in his wheel chair to assert she had a prior husband living. Kelley also obtained cancellation of $10 a week temporary alimony that had been awarded.

"Shabby Strangers" Who Robbed Hollywood Couple Yet Free

Efforts of Hollywood and Los Angeles police to find the two "shabby strangers" who early Tuesday morning held up and robbed Carl Goetz, Hollywood motion-picture actor, and a woman companion at Highland and Franklin avenues, had proved unavailing at a late hour last night.

The men, described by Mr. Goetz as being poorly dressed and looking almost like tramps, operated in a touring car with the license plates covered with rags. They carried large-caliber blue-steel revolvers and seemed nervous. Mr. Goetz lost several dollars in currency, while his companion was robbed of a small vanity case containing some small change and a gold wrist watch.

SMART AND EASY TO MAKE MODEL FOR LITTLE DAUGHTER.

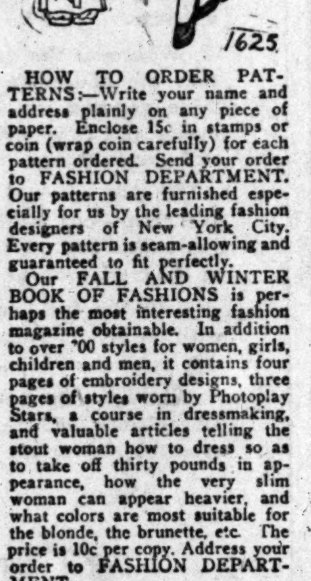
Long waists and Peter Pan collars are always good-looking on the growing girl.

This smart little frock exploits both the features mentioned and in addition boasts a pair of matching bloomers. The sleeves, which may be long or short, are set into square-shaped armholes

Serge, crepe, linene, gingham or cotton crepe fashioned after this pattern would make a charming addition to any little girl's wardrobe.

If linene were decided upon, the dress would cost about $1.85.

The pattern No. 1625 cuts in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8 requires 3⅛ yards 36-inch material. Price 15c, stamps or coin (coin preferred).



HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS:—Write your name and address plainly on any piece of paper. Enclose 15c in stamps or coin (wrap coin carefully) for each pattern ordered. Send your order to FASHION DEPARTMENT. Our patterns are furnished especially for us by the leading fashion designers of New York City. Every pattern is seam-allowing and guaranteed to fit perfectly.

Our FALL AND WINTER BOOK OF FASHIONS is perhaps the most interesting fashion magazine obtainable. In addition to over 700 styles for women, girls, children and men, it contains four pages of embroidery designs, three pages of styles worn by Photoplay Stars, a course in dressmaking, and valuable articles telling the stout woman how to dress so as to take off thirty pounds in appearance, how the very slim woman can appear heavier, and what colors are most suitable for the blonde, the brunette, etc. The price is 10c per copy. Address your order to FASHION DEPARTMENT.

All orders will be handled by the branch office in Chicago and in order to eliminate the delay in forwarding we have arranged to have order sent direct to the Chicago office. Unless otherwise specified all patterns are 15 cents each. No patterns are kept in the Los Angeles office of The Times. To get patterns send the price, in stamps or well-wrapped coins, and the number and size of the patterns desired to this address:

BOOTLEGGER SUBJECT TO TWO DOSES

Syllabus of Supreme Court Decision Eliminates Double Jeopardy Restrictions

The syllabus of a sweeping prohibition enforcement decision of the United States Supreme Court was received yesterday by Collector Goodcell, ruling that an offense denounced as such by both Federal and State laws is an offense against both, and may be punished as such, and that such punishment is not double jeopardy under the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

This ruling clears the deck for both Federal and State prosecutions of prohibition cases and the violator is subject to a double penalty. Conforming to the decision, it is expected that hearings of cases in which assessments and penalties are proposed by the Internal Revenue Bureau against liquor law violators will soon be ordered. Until these hearings are started offers in compromise may be submitted by bootleggers. The assessments run from $550 to $2500.

Congratulatory Parties

Miss Lucille McNamee, whose marriage to Lieut. Darrow Menocher, U.S.A., will take place on February 6, is being much entertained. Yesterday Miss Madelan Mooney gave a luncheon for Miss McNamee at the Mary Louise Tea Room, and Miss Regina Townsend will entertain for her on January 30 with a bridge tea at the California Country Club.

New Residents Here

Among those whom the continuous civil war in Ireland has driven away are young Lord and Lady Carbery. They have recently bought an estate between Santa Barbara and Los Angeles. Lord Carbery's ancient castle at Freke has been burned, his farmland ruined and his stock destroyed. Though entitled to a seat in the Lord's, he has been more engrossed in agriculture than politics. His object in coming to California it to take up orchard farming and sheep raising.

Approaching Wedding

Invitations have just been sent out for the wedding of Miss Amelia Hogan and Mr. George Benjamin Hull, whose engagement was announced three weeks ago. The wedding will take place at St. John's Episcopal Church on February 7. Among those who are entertaining for this attractive bride-to-be are: Mrs. James Ogilvie, Mrs. Dean Markham (Mae Wild,) Miss Elsie Wright, Mrs. Ardine Winter (Dextra Baldwin,) and Miss Winifred Jones. Assisting these hostesses will be Mrs. Bruce Hay Chapman (Daisy Danziger,) Mrs. Loran Langmade Hillman, Mrs. Myron Etienne, Mrs. Keil G. Pulliam, Jr., Mrs. Albert Hays Busch, Mrs. William Kenyon Young and Miss Gwendolyn Longyear.

In Their New Home

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Radford and daughter, Miss Ida Radford, and son, Mr. Charles S. Radford, have moved into their new home, a charming "Old English" cottage which has just been completed at 627 Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills. Mr. Radford is a retired lumberman of Oshkosh, Wis., and he and his family expect to spend their winters in their Beverly Hills home.

A Scribe's Party

Twenty-four women writers were the guests of honor at an unusual party last evening, which began at the home of Mrs. Sesue Hawakaya on Argyle street, and concluded at the home of Mrs. George Melford on Hillcrest Road, Hollywood. Many of the best known newspaper women in the city were present, the occasion being a return party for one given by the scribes in honor of the present hostesses last week.

Naval Wedding

On last Saturday evening an interesting marriage took place at the home of Mrs. A. C. Smalley, 117 North Maropisa, when her niece, Miss Mildred Kuck was married to Ensign Harold R. Holcomb. The ceremony was followed by a dinner at the Hotel Maryland in Pasadena. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kuck of Venice. She has been studying at the University of California and is a Kappa Delta. Ensign Holcomb, of the U.S.S. Idaho, is a son of Mrs. Clara S. Holcomb of Pasadena. Miss Loraine Kuck, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the best man was Mr. Irving Ahlswede of Pasadena. After a honeymoon spent in the North, Ensign and Mrs. Holcomb are planning to live in Long Beach.

Tea Party

Mrs. George Edgar Beach, 549 North Normandie, received fifty guests at tea on last Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. John Edward Lasham, a bride of four weeks, who was formerly Miss Eleanor Courtright of this city. Adorable baskets of spring flowers decorated the rooms. Mrs. W. H. Russell, Mrs. Ralph Campbell, Mrs. Belle Franklan (Redlands,) Mrs. Edward Porter and Mrs. Harold Rue assisted the hostess.

To Greet Charming Guest

In honor of Mrs. Richmond Pearson Hobson, Mrs. William Pendleton Campbell and her two daughters, Misses Jeanette and Alice Campbell, will be at home on Thursday, January 25, from 3 to 6 p.m. at 1016 South Gramercy Place. Those assisting will be Mrs. Erasmus Wilson, Mrs. Henderson Haywood, Mrs. W. B. Scarborough, Mrs. John Craig McCoy, Mrs. S. C. Dunlap, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Mrs. Paul Hammond, Mrs. Marcellus Hobson, Mrs. A. L. Bagnall, Mrs. Clark Edwards, Mrs. James French, Miss Celia Davidson and Miss Lucia Hobson.

Social Briefs

On the evening of January 31 Judge and Mrs. William Rhodes Hervey will give another of their delightful dinner parties at their home in Shatto Place.

The grand opening of the Hotel Huntington, Pasadena, will take place this year Thursday evening, February 1, and will be a brilliant event.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Simons, 201 Plymouth Boulevard, are enjoying an extended trip. They will stop in New York on their way to Havana and will return home in April via the Panama Canal.

Mrs. A. Radford Johnston and daughter, Miss Julanne Johnston, are established for the winter at 1611 Formosa, Hollywood.

On account of the illness of a life-long friend, Mrs. Alexander Campbell, 1800 West Seventh street, has gone to San Francisco where she expects to stay for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Goldberg of Plymouth Boulevard left last Friday for New York. They will stop in New York and also go to Palm Beach before returning to Los Angeles in the spring.

Mrs. Marshall Stookey Anderson of South Western avenue is giving a bridge-breakfast for fifty guests at the Sunset Canyon Country Club today.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Phillips Williams have returned to Los Angeles and are living at 162 South Catalina street. They have been spending some time in Imperial Valley and Mexico City.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius F. Himmelston of San Francisco entertained Saturday night at a smart dinner party at the Ambassador, where they are making their home. The table was decorated with Cecil Brunner roses and violets.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest and an envelope, stamped and addressed to you, is inclosed.

Mrs. Fatty: The condition which you acknowledge by the name you have given yourself may account for your lame back. Most overweight persons suffer from it, I have found. If it is simple lumbago it may be due to an auto-intoxication from overeating, or from some chronic infection in the body, or from a sudden strain. We are to have a paper or two on lumbago very soon.

Of all the atrociously painful afflictions lumbago pretty nearly ranks first, I'll say. I've had it. Watch for the eloquence I'll put in that article. It (the lumbago) usually comes suddenly and goes just as suddenly. The first and must important thing to do in simple lumbago is to be thoroughly strapped with wide adhesive tape. That immobilizes the muscles and ligaments—keeps them from unnecessary movement—and gives them a chance to recover.

Reduce your weight. That's important. If you do not get better you should have an X-ray picture taken to see if there is not some cause other than strained ligaments and muscles.

Grateful: If you will clip the pubic hairs and rub a solution of equal parts of kerosene and oil—liquid petroleum or any vegetable oil—on the region night and morning for two or three days, this will kill the lice. If this does not get rid of them have your druggist make you a solution made of equal parts of compound spirits of ether and xylol and apply that with a bit of absorbent cotton.

The mercury ointment known as blue ointment is also a good remedy, but it is more apt to set up a little inflammation of the skin.

Mrs. K.: We have an article on pruritis which you may have.

B. E.: you say you cannot reduce on dry toast, plain lettuce and hot water. That's fortunate, for you ought not to reduce on that combination. While reducing it is important to have a diet that will supply all of the elements needed by the system and you would not get them on the diet of toast and lettuce and hot water.

The reason so many persons have experienced bad results from reducing is because they have not supplied their system with the essentials needed for proper functioning. It is all right to go on a diet which starves out the fat, and not only starves it out, but makes it contribute to the energy needs of the body, but it is all wrong when you go on a diet which also starves the muscles and organs and nervous system.

However, if you did not reduce on toast and lettuce it was for the simple reason that you must have had more calories than you needed even of these simple foods. Send for our instructions if you haven't them.

MOTHER'S BREAD DERIDED

Bakers Sympathize With Drudging Housewife; Plans to Increase Sales Discussed

"Say it with flour—mixed with the proper ingredients, well baked," was the slogan at the Alexandria yesterday when the Advertising Club gave a luncheon in honor of delegates to the convention of the Southern California Baking Association.

According to prominent speakers present, people do not need to be educated to eat bread, since the habit is pretty well established, but they should be taught to eat the right kind of bread—namely bakers' bread—and much sympathy was expressed for the "drudging housewife," who continuse to imagine that she has the bakers backed off the board for economy and nutritious products.

At the invitation of Arthur Loomis, president of the Advertising Club, Theo Van de Camp, president of the Southern California Wholesale Bakers' Association, presided at the meeting. Among the chief speakers were H. E. Barnard, Ph. D., of Chicago, manager of the American Bakers' Association; Merrill Hutchinson, of the Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, Minneapolis, and Franklin Bell, advertising manager of the Sunmaid Raisin Growers of Fresno.

RAISIN BREAD GAINS

"If 10 per cent of the bread baked in the United Ctates was raisin bread, the problem of disposing of the annual 200,000-ton raisin crop would be solved," said Mr. Bell. The speaker said bakers are reporting a constant increase in the sale of raisin bread, declaring that the main requisite for sale of this nutritious product lies in the introduction of the bread to the appetite of Mr. and Mrs. Public.

Dr. Barnard, who for many years served as Food Commissioner of Indiana and who is considered an authority on the subject of nutrition, spoke in favor of the organization of the 30,000 bakers in the country and also in favor of a co-operative campaign among the bakers, dairymen, raisin growers and other food producers.

"Bread is indeed the staff of life, but people should be educated to know the value of bread sonsumed along with other food products," said Dr. Barnard. "For instance, bread-toast may well be considered—or could be made—the typical American breakfast food, and it would be to the advantage of both the dairyman and the baker to persuade people to eat, 'day by day, more and more butter,' to paraphrase Coue."

MUSIC PROGRAM

A feature of the session was the music program given by Charles E. Calkins and Albert E. Kirst, through the courtesy of the management of the California Theater.

President Loomis of the Advertising Club announced that the regular noon meeting will be omitted next Tuesday but that Tuesday evening members of the club will conduct their annual meeting and banquet at the Alexandria. Among the celebrities who will contribute to the evening's entertainment will be Harry Lauder, Peter B. Kyne, Fred Niblo and Enid Bennett.

At noon today the members of the Bakers' Association will meet with the Kiwanis Club at Paulais Cafe. Dr. Barnard will be the chief speaker at noon today at the meeting of members of the Chamber of Commerce at the Alexandria.

TRAIL EXTENDS ACROSS BORDER

The trail of the man suspected of being responsible for the death of Fritzi Mann extended below the Mexican border to Ensenada yesterday. Though the San Diego police declined to reveal the purpose of the trip of Deputy Sheriff George Couts to the Mexican town it is thought to be in connection with a recent Ensenada trip made by Capt. Louis L. Jacobs, who was released last Monday after being held in the San Diego jail for several days.

While Chief of Police Patrick was continuing his investigation of the mysterious death of the oriental dancer in San Diego, Detectives Sears and Chadwick interviewed several persons in Los Angeles. The local friends of Miss Mann, the San Diego detectives believe, can assist in the solution of the girl's tragic death by telling of circumstances known to them prior to eight days ago, the time when the girl's body was found on the beach at Torrey Pines.

Bernice Edwards, Long Beach chum of the dead dancer, was among those questioned yesterday. The detectives reported they had obtained no information of value to the investigation.

JAIL JOBS VACANT

Sentencing of Smugglers Opens Up Two Positions

There are two vacancies in the County Jail, to be filled by civil service examination by Sheriff Traeger, that of postmaster and doorkeeper.

Carlyle Wicks, of Calexico, who handled the mail at the county bastile, and Chas. C. Craig of this city, who officiated as doorman, were each convicted yesterday in U. S. District Judge Trippet's court of smuggling a Chinese contraband and sentenced to two years in the Federal Penitentiary on McNeil's Island and given a fine of $500. They were caught with the Chinaman in the vicinity of Bakersfield. Craig refused to give the name of the man who was to receive the contraband, but said his address was 864 Washington street, San Francisco.

Both men made confessions, but said they had got the man on this side of the line. The contraband testified that Wicks had brought him across. They had been in jail since last August.

SPEEDERS' JUSTICE BENIGN

Scorching Sons of Toil Receive Suspended Fines of Five Dollars Per Mile When Haled Into Court

The harsh winds of justice were tempered with mercy for the speeding proletariat yesterday by Police Judge Crawford, who suspended sentence on more than a dozen horny-handed sons of toil arrested and found guilty of exceeding the speed limit.

At the same time Judge Crawford fined eighteen road scorchers at the rate of $5 per mile for every mile in excess of the speed limit. Four of those fined preferred to go to jail rather than part with their cash.

In releasing the speeding workingmen, Judge Crawford declared he did not desire to disriminate between rich and poor in enforcing the law and that to fine workingmen who were unable to pay would be unjust because they would feel the loss of the money far more than their richer neighbors.

The majority of accidents, the court declared, occur at intersections wrere the speed limit is fifteen miles an hour. He declared that the law against speeders who exceed the limit at these intersections would be more rigorously enforced than against the garden variety of offenders.

Judge Crawford proved he meant business on this point when he fined F. W. Copeland $10 for traveling at the rate of seventeen miles per hour over an intersection where the limit is fifteen miles an hour.

Others fined were: Thomas W. Monhhan, $40; H. Sturtes, $55; G. Peoples, $60; R. V. Beck, $50; Sam Loeb, $35; F. A. Castle, $50; Toney Ezinirlian, $65; Walter Shaw, $75; J. W. Bancroft, $50; John Balanger, $45; Clarence Bruner, $45, and Lee Anderson, $50.

The folowing men accepted jail terms in lieu of fines: John C. Burkeson, eleven days, Charles Alvarez, five days, G. W. Graham, eleven days, and Ed Johnson, ten days.

Judge Crawford's policy of fining speeders at the rate of $5 per mile for every mile in excess of the legal limit was inaugurated Monday.

OIL-STATION BANDIT SUSPECTS ARRESTED

Caught climbing out of the window of the DeLuxe gasoline station at the intersection of Ninth street and Santa Fe avenue, thepolice assert, Paul R. Paulson, 22 years of age, and Joe Mason, 25, were booked yesterday as burglars. The police suspect them also of the burglary of a Wilshire gasoline station on an opposite corner, from which about $100 was taken. Coupon books were taken at the DeLuxe station. G. T. Venable of 5314 Compton avenue told the police he saw the men break in. Officers White, Nickens and Vail arrested them.

INVESTORS WARNED OF OIL FAKES

State Official Explains Methods by Which Land Promoters Profit

Investors with aspirations for sudden riches who contemplate the purchase of certificates entitling them to shares in land, supposedly oil-bearing, should scrutinize these carefully with a view to ascertaining if the promotion company is operating under authority of the Corporate Securities Act, according to Deputy Commissioner Hartman, in charge of mining and oil affairs of the State Corporation Department.

The prosecution of E. E. McCalla, local land dealer recently convicted in Judge Monroe's court of violation of the Corporate Securities Act, is cited by Mr. Hartman as a case which points a moral in this connection. The McCalla Company, it is stated, sold certificates, which were, in effect, deeds, entitling the buyer to one-fourthousandth net income of Trust No. 12, placed on the market by the company. These certificates, it is further explained, had attached dividend coupons which gave to the certificates the appearance of regular bonds. In placing their certificates upon the market the McCalla Company neglected to apply for a permit to sell from the State Corporation Department, it is charged.

Literature issued by the company, Mr. Hartman affirms, contained promises to investors which, in the opinion of the Corporation Commission, were impossible of fulfillment. Attention of the promoters was called to these statements by the Commission and the text of the literature was changed in such manner as to indicate, in the opinion of the Commission, an attempt to evade the corporate laws of the State. A Mrs. King, an investor, who is said to have received a dividend of 18 cents upon an investment of $200 instead of $1750 promised by the McCalla concern, filed a complaint against the latter and the prosecution of the land promoter followed.

Eagles Want Pension Law for Old Age

Plans for the completion of the campaign to obtain enactment of an old age pension law in California will be formulated tomorrow evening at a meeting of the Los Angeles Aerie No. 102, Fraternal Order of Eagles, at the clubhouse, 617 West Sixteenth street.

In support of the proposed statute the meeting will be attended by Col. Robert Choynski of San Francisco, grand president of the Eagles, and Conrad Mann of Kansas City, grand organizer.

Under the provisions of the proposed law the State would grant one dollar a day to all persons over 60 years of age who have resided within the state for 15 years and who have an annual income of less than $300. The Eagles declare that the cost of such a pension system would be less than the amount now spent on poor houses and county farms. It is proposed to introduce the bill at the present session of the legislature.

UNIVERSITY WILL OPEN NEW CLASSES

EXTENSION DIVISION PLANS NEW COURSES, ONE FOR GLENDALE SCHOOL

Included in the new courses being presented by the State University Extension Division will be a class in French to meet in the Glendale High School beginning Thursday, Jan. 25, at 7 p.m. This class will be conducted by Mrs. Ethel W. Bailey, and will be for students who have a slight knowledge of French as a foundation for a more advanced course.

Announcement also is made that a second class in "Business and Protective Law for Women," under instruction of Mab Copland Lineman, LL.B., will be started Thursday, February 1. The first class in this special course was marked by an enrollment of sixty or more students. This second class is being formed to meet at an hour that will be especially convenient for teachers who desire to attend, convening at 4 p.m., at 617 Junior Orpheum Building.

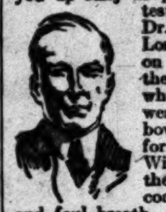
Prove splendid laxative properties of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin by test

A SCIENTIFIC test has now proven what Dr. Caldwell of Monticello asserted many years ago, that constipation will slow you up fully 25 per cent. The test was made by Dr. Donaldson of Loma Linda upon four men in the prime of life who deliberately went without a bowel movement for four days. Within 48 hours the men had coated tongue and foul breath, cankers in the mouth, no appetite, restless sleep, indigestion, headache, depression, nervousness, cramps. The blood pressure was up 28 per cent. It is just this that Dr. Caldwell has preached to his patients in private and to the public through the printed word ever since he began the practice of his specialty, diseases of the stomach and bowels, back in 1875.



After observing for years the satisfactory effect of his prescription for constipation, he placed it in drug stores in 1892, a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. That was 30 years ago, and today over 10 million bottles are bought annually, the largest selling family laxative in the world. You will find it in any drug store you enter, a generous-size bottle costing you less than a cent a dose.

Every member of the family from the infants to the grandparents can use it with safety. It is gentle and mild. The formula is on the package. Mrs. Roy Cook of Bellefontaine, O., has been giving it to her 5-months old baby, who now weighs 19 pounds; and Mr. J. B. Dawson of Brinson, Ga., declares it the best laxative his family has ever found. Try a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for constipation or any of its symptoms. The results will delight you. And the cost is only one cent a dose.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

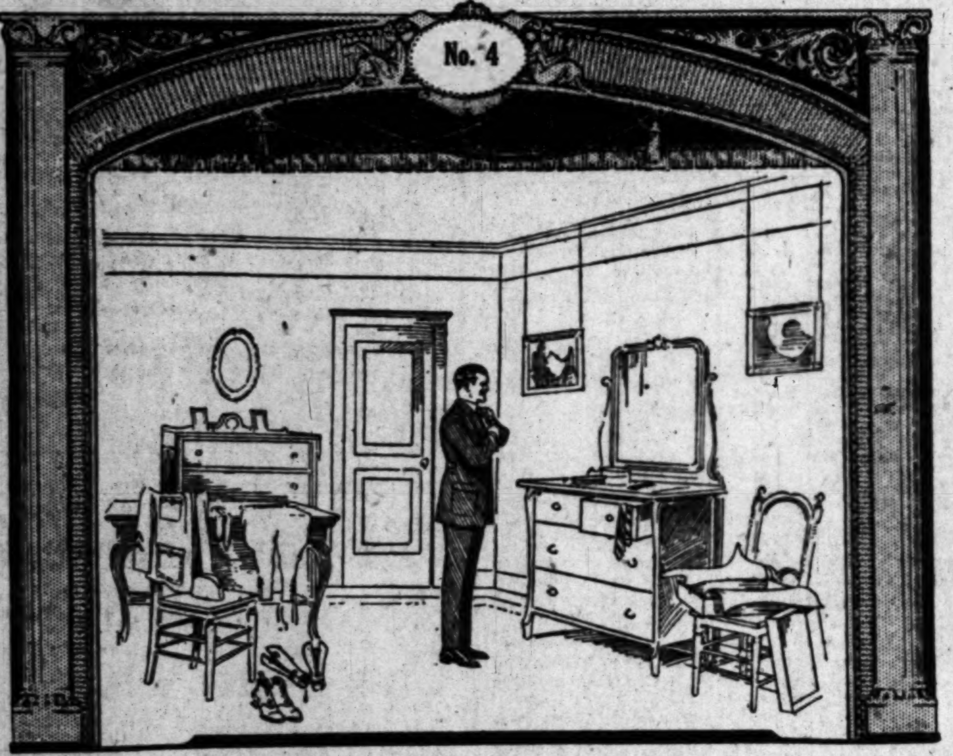
Lots of Fun! Lots of Prizes!

in the LOS ANGELES TIMES

Play-Goers Revue

Just Pick Titles for 30 Pictures



Do You Know This One?

Every day a new picture appears in THE TIMES, drawn to represent titles of well known stage plays. Think of the best titles for each picture, write them on the title coupons and turn in your complete set at the close of the Revue. The committee of judges will then decide the prize winners.

YOU may share in the distribution of $8500 in cash prizes. The Play-Goers Revue is open to EVERYBODY—EVERYWHERE.

START TODAY! Back pictures and coupons are yours for the asking. Write, telephone or call at THE TIMES.

$8,500 IN PRIZES FOR BEST TITLES

Seventy cash prizes, ranging from $10 up to $2500, will be given by The Los Angeles Times for the best sets of titles submitted in the Play-Goers Revue. It costs nothing whatever to participate and win a prize—simply secure ONE new or renewal paid-in-advance subscription to The Los Angeles Daily and Sunday Times, of either 3 months or 12 months. The length of the subscription determines the amount of the prize. Study the schedule on the right. One of these cash prizes may come to you in return for just a little thought on your part.

HOW PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED	CLASS A With One 3-Months' Subscription	CLASS B With One 12-Months' Subscription
Best set of titles	$500	$2500
Second best set of titles	250	1000
Third best set of titles	150	750
Fourth best set of titles	100	500
Fifth best set of titles	50	250
Sixth to fifteenth best sets of titles, each	25	100
Sixteenth to thirty-fifth best sets of titles, each	10	50

Subscriptions must be paid in advance. Your own subscription will count, either new or renewal. Or, you may get some friend, neighbor or relative to subscribe. It does not matter where the subscriber lives. In the event delivery of THE TIMES is wanted now, the subscription may be turned in at once and credit for the Play-Goers Revue will be given by issuing an "auxiliary receipt." Be sure to ask for it. At the close of the Revue, all you have to do is return the receipt with your set of title coupons.

Read These Rules Carefully

1. The Los Angeles Times Play-Goers Revue is open to everybody, everywhere, excepting employees, carriers and agents of The Los Angeles Times and members of their families.

2. The Revue comprises a series of thirty pictures—one to appear in The Times each day, January 21 to February 19, 1923, inclusive—representing the titles of plays that have appeared on the stage. With each picture is printed a "title coupon" bearing the same number as the picture of that day. In the space provided, the participant is to write PLAINLY not less than one or more than three titles which he or she believes to best fit the picture. The titles should be written in the order of participant's choice. The participant's own name and address must also appear on each title coupon.

3. The "set" of title coupons means one coupon for each picture and numbered consecutively from 1 to 30. The title coupons should be clipped and filled out each day and SAVED UNTIL THE SET IS COMPLETED, whereupon the complete set must be brought or mailed to the PLAY-GOERS REVUE, THE TIMES, LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA.

4. Only one set of titles may be submitted by any one person. More than one prize will not be awarded to any one family at the same address, but any or all members of the family may submit a complete set by complying with subscription requirements. No assumed names may be used.

5. There are no entrance fees. The only requirement is that ONE new or renewal paid-in-advance subscription to The Los Angeles Daily and Sunday Times (by mail or carrier,) for either three months or twelve months, must accompany the set of titles submitted. A subscription may be secured anywhere. It may be that of the participant or any other person. All subscriptions are subject to verification.

6. All title sets accompanied by a 3-months' subscription are eligible for prizes in Class A; or, if a 12-months' subscription, in Class B. (See prize list.)

7. If immediate delivery of The Times is desired, the subscription may be turned in any time during the Revue by securing an "auxiliary receipt" therefor, which must be attached to the set of title coupons submitted at the close.

8. Title coupons must not be sent in until Picture No. 30 has appeared in The Times on February 19, 1923. Then each participant is to bring or mail his or her complete set, which must reach The Times Main Office, Circulation Dept., 2nd Floor, First and Broadway, Los Angeles, California, not later than 5 p.m., February 24, 1923, or bear a postmark not later than that hour.

9. It is essential that titles be correct as to spelling, and the "Book of Plays" will be considered as final authority. The "Book of Plays," published by The Los Angeles Times, is on file at The Times main and branch offices, or may be consulted at most public libraries within The Times territory. A copy will be mailed to anyone, postpaid, upon receipt of 10 cents, coin or stamps.

10. Copies of title pictures and title coupons that have been published previously in THE TIMES may be secured free of charge by indicating the picture and coupon numbers wanted. Thus participants may start at any time during the Revue.

11. Best titles to any of the pictures in the Play-Goers Revue are not yet known. Selections of the best titles and the prize winners will be made by a Committee of Judges having no connection with The Los Angeles Times. The names of the judges will be announced at the close of the Revue. Their decisions will be final and participants enter with this understanding. The judges reserve the right to discard any set of titles not complying with the rules and where unfairness is obvious.

12. The prizes will be awarded, according to Class A and Class B, to the persons submitting complete sets of title coupons with the highest number of best titles. Where there is an equality in the first choice, the second best titles (second choice) will be judged, and, in turn, the third best titles (third choice) if necessary. In the event of an ultimate tie, each tying participant will receive the full prize tied for.

THREE-FOURTHS JURY IS URGED

Bar Association Recommends Constitution Change

Favored by All Excepting in Capital Cases

Proposed Amendment Being Prepared Now

Recommending that the three-fourths jury verdict should be made possible by an amendment to the State constitution, the criminology committee of the Los Angeles Bar Association included the recommendation in a report submitted yesterday at the weekly luncheon of the association.

The recommendation on the three-fourths verdict states:

"To submit to the Legislature a proposed constitutional amendment by which the verdict of guilty, or acquittal may be arrived at by a jury in all cases by a 9-to-3 vote except where the punishment is the extreme penalty. This proposed amendment is to be prepared by Walter K. Tuller and W. J. Ford."

In the absence of Chairman Doherty of the criminology committee, Mr. Ford, who is aiding in the preparation of Section I of the proposed amendment held that such legislation was looked upon with extreme favor by many jurists and lawyers.

SOME EXTREMISTS

Every luncheon guest was invited to say something and several concurred in the opinion that something should be done to bring about more unanimity with lesser numbers in all criminal jury cases. Some even offered extreme opinion. For instance, Judge Wood held that penal code sections should be changed so as to make it incumbent that every criminal defendant should be made to testify. He further thought judges should be made by law to issue instructions to juries relative to all cases.

Judge Arthur Keetch took the position that perhaps it would be wise to fully test public opinion relative to any changes in the penal code on the part of the association. He held that newspapers should be curtailed in certain matters with relation to publishing what he termed "garbled" accounts in murder and other sensational criminal cases.

TWO ARE LUKEWARM

In face of the fact that some twenty-one jurists, including a number of justices stand solidly behind the three-quarter jury verdict in all criminal cases, except perhaps where the punishment is the extreme penalty, Asst. Dist.-Atty. C. W. Fricke and F. H. Vercoe, public defender, held that in the majority of criminal cases, aside from the more sensational ones, or as both held, cases in which defendants had considerable means and in which the newspapers claimed the element of mystery entered, convictions were secured where guilt existed. Neither Mr. Fricke or Mr. Vercoe were opposed tothe proposed three-quarter jury, but each held that he though justice would be possible just as well with twelve jurymen as nine attempting to agree.

"The trouble as I see it," said Mr. Fricke, "is with the present jury system. I think it is all wrong. With all due respect to the judges it is not right to dump names into a box or a hat and make selections. I am a firm advocate of having a competent jury commission. By way of illustration, only recently in one of the important murder cases I found upon investigation that one juryman accepted and passed by the court was not an American citizen. He was an ex-convict and had forfeited all citizenship rights."

VIEW OF PUBLIC

Public Defender Vercoe thought the public was not well informed upon criminal prosecution in California. During 1922, he said, something in excess of 1100 persons had been committed to penal institutions. "The trouble is," continued Mr. Vercoe, "the newspapers only take up or 'play up' mystery cases. Verdicts don't always carry in such cases, but the entire criminal procedure is given a severe jolt and no consideration is given to the fact that in most cases convictions are secured where they should be obtained.

At the regular weekly luncheon next Tuesday luncheon guests will in all probability discuss Section III, in which the committee agrees to amend the section defining grand larceny to make all thefts under $200 petty larceny offenses, the section otherwise to remain unchanged. It was the opinion of the committee that $200 now is not nearly the equivalent of $50 at the time when the latter sum was fixed in 1872. It would also have the effect of relieving the Superior Court of cases that can be better disposed of in the police courts.

HUSBAND ACCUSED

Association of Evil Women At Tijuana Charged

A trip to Tijuana and a note said to have been found in the family waste basket figured yesterday in a divorce suit filed by Mrs. Theresa M. Babcock.

Mrs. Babcock asserted in the suit that her husband, Bert T. Babcock, made a trip to Tijuana and associated with evil women. she also declared that she found the following note:

"Dear Bert:

"I would love to have you there tonight. You are the dearest boy in the world. I am lonely and everything.

[Signed] Deanie."

She also asserted that at a previous stage in their matrimonial career, he made a trip to Louisville, Ky., in company with another woman.

WOULD STOP WASTE OF OIL FIELD GAS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 23.—A law to check the waste of gas from wells in the Signal Hill district will be asked of the State Legislature by the City Council of Long Beach, it was decided today.

George L. Hootentyl, City Attorney, told members of the Council that several million cubic feet of gas are wasted every day, and that while there is no danger to life or property, the economic loss is staggering. He prepared a resolution which the Council approved.

SEARCHERS SEEK DEAD IN WRECK

Arano and Fireman Louis Arata reside in San Louis Obispo. At the time of the accident the train was making around forty-five miles an hour. Suddenly the center of the train buckled. A car of machinery shot on end, breaking loose from the forward part of the train and one car after another telescoped or climbed one after another on the mountain of wreckage. The noise of the crashing timbers was heard for miles. The engine and forward cars continued on for some distance, and though the breaking of the coupling jarred even the engine all remained on the track.

EIGHTEEN IN PILE

When eighteen cars had piled up, ripping the track up for more than 200 feet, the remaining rear cars stopped against the wreck. On these cars were the train crew who escaped uninjured. All passenger trains arriving after the wreck transferred their passengers, and in this way through passenger traffic has been carried on with little interruption during the day. The railroad track crew tonight is building an emergency track around the wreck, which will be completed about midnight. Inquiry into the cause of the wreck was started tonight. From all appearances it is said, a truck on one of the cars broke loose driving the front end of the car into the earth.

Because of the distance from Santa Barbara and the fact that the county general hospital is situated near the wreck, news of the accident did not reach Santa Barbara until almost 1 o'clock, except a phone mesage to the railroad station from Conductor Spittler, asking that the Shore Line Limited be held here. Later, a call for ambulances was sent in, when it was believed more injured would be found. The car in which the injured were riding was shattered to kindling. The trucks were hurled into a field and by some strange prank of fate the men were thrown clear, as the crunching iron and timbers piled above where they had been but a second before.

vanced as her logical successor for the part.

The credit of achieving what motion-picture producers for almost the past decade have attempted and failed to accomplish, to win David Belasco's participation in the making of photoplays, is credited to A. Warner and Harry M. Warner, two of the four brothers who make up the firm of Warner Brothers.

The acquisition of Mr. Belasco and his three late successes by Warner Brothers is one of the great coups of the year scored by a concern of independent producers.

WILL HAYS PLEASED

Will H. Hays, cinema czar, last night stated in New York that he considered Mr. Belasco's entry into the picture world as an important and significant move for the industry and the art.

Since Mr. Belasco is to start the filming of his three stage successes here as quickly as possible his early advent is expected.

As paving the way for his debut as a maker of motion pictures the aid of Sidney Franklin as a director has been secured, it was announced. Mr. Franklin directed "East is West," "Smilin' Through" and "Brass." "Brass" has not yet been released.

The technical side of producing the Belasco stage productions for the silver screen will be in Mr. Franklin's charge.

The effect of Mr. Belasco's allying himself with the silent drama will be profund among the producers of motion pictures. The magic of "David Belasco presents," flickering in a motion-picture title, is expected to pave the way to greater and better things in the industry.

BEGINS COURT ACTION FOR JOY-RIDE INJURY

Because of injuries suffered during what was said to have been an unwilling joy-ride, Mrs. Beulah M. McArthur yesterday began court action in her suit for $200,000 damages against Isadore F. Feiner before Judge J. Perry Wood. Mrs. McArthur charges she met Feiner, an acquaintance, and that he offered to drive her to her work. Instead he drove to Venice against her protests, she said, and during the trip she asserts she was injured when the machine turned over.

WILL NOT CLOSE

GRAUMAN'S TO SHOW "THIRD ALARM" NEXT WEEK

By Grace Kingsley

Those enthusiastic patrons of Grauman's Million Dollar Theater who have been inconsolable ever since the announcement was made that the house would close next week for a fortnight, may dry their tears. It appears likely now that the house will not close at all.

You see, Sid Grauman had an opportunity just now to book "The Third Alarm," which has been taking New York by storm, and he felt that he must not lose the opportunity to show it to Los Angeles theatergoers. So the feature will open next Monday. "The Third Alarm" concerns the lives and courageous acts of the lads of the hook and ladder.

"The Covered Wagon," which is considered one of the biggest pictures Lasky ever made, is to be reserved. This is a James Cruze production with J. Warren Kerrigan, Lois Wilson and Anna Q. Nilsson in the leading roles.

Later on Mr. Grauman expects to introduce the two-a-day policy in his Million Dollar Theater, according to his announcement of last week.

Mildred Harris Here

Mildred Harris slipped quietly into town the other day without letting anybody know. She is to spend a short vacation here before continuing her Orpheum tour. However, it is known that she contemplates going back into pictures, and she now is being considered for the leading role of a big Fox production.

Winfield Sheehan Soon

While you may think that things are whizzing out at the Fox studio, still the whizzing going on now is nothing to that which will take place after the arrival of Winfield Sheehan, general manager of the Fox Film Corporation. Sheehan is expected here Friday to pay his annual visit.

Among the matters which are on the calendar for Mr. Sheehan to take up, according to the higher-ups at the studio, are the building of a theater in which Fox features will be shown, and the engagement of a number of new stars and directors.

The building of a theater by Fox has been hanging fire for two or three years. Now, however, it is likely to go through.

A number of big new productions are about to be launched, and for these Mr. Sheehan is going to engage the best talent obtainable.

Perhaps the largest feature now being planned is "Shadows of the East," from Mrs. E. M. Hull's story. Mrs. Hull, you will remember, wrote "The Sheik." Emmett Flynn is to direct, and he is busy casting at present. So far William V. Mong is the only one cast.

William Farnum, with Lynn Reynolds directing, is about to start a new picture, and Tom Mix begins work shortly on "The Journey of Death," which sounds a bit more somber than the pictures Mix has been making.

Roberts in Vaudeville

It looks as though Theodore Roberts were in for a long siege of stage acting. Roberts is to begin an Orpheum tour February 11 at St. Paul, following which he will play the Keith houses in the East.

Censor Jackie Coogan

We are used to thinking of the United States as the sole happy hunting ground of the censors. But it seems that London is pretty busy too along those lines. At any rate the London censors have taken a whack at their own Charles Dickens.

And Jackie Coogan, who has been humorously mentioned as "the one uncensored star on the screen," can't claim that distinction any longer. The London censors have cut out the scene in "Oliver Twist" in which Fagin instructs Oliver in the gentle art of pocket-picking.

Julian Eltinge's Narrow Escape

Julian Eltinge narrowly escaped death by flames or a least a severe burning, in a New York theater recently. Eltinge, it seems, was wearing a silver oriental dancing dress in his final number, and as he passed the electric switchboard in exiting from the stage, the garment was drawn into the apparatus and at once burst into flames. The stage manager grabbed a blanket and threw it around Eltinge, extinguishing the fire.

Carmel Myers Heard From

That easterners simply won't be convinced that Hollywood is not one wild party after another, is the report of Carmel Myers, who has just visited New York, but who has come back to Chicago to appear in a leading role in "The Little Girl Next Door."

"It is so funny," writes Miss Myers. "Everyone thinks Hollywood is just one wild party after another. I've done my best to spread propaganda to the contrary.

"I've spoken of Our Club, with Mary Pickford as the honorary president, and how the very worst thing we do is to go off of our diets weekly, and indulge in hot chocolate, ice cream and cake. To say nothing of our highbrow course in literature.

"But these people just smile and shake their heads and say, 'Oh, yes, I suppose there are some nice people in Hollywood!' So there you are."

Incidentally, while she was in New York, Miss Myers was offered the leading role in a theatrical production.

"But the screen has too strong a hold on me, so I refused," she said.

A round of delightful social affairs was the star's portion. There was a dinner dance at the Twelfth Night Club and a Sixty Club ball, among other things. At the Sixty Club dance were Rodolph Valentino and his wife and Jean Acker! But no casualties are reported.

Doris May on Screen

Now that Wallace MacDonald is quite recovered from his recent long siege of illness, Doris May, his wife, who turned nurse for four months, has gone back to her screen work.

Miss May has been engaged by Halperin Productions to enact one of the principal roles in the company's new picture, called "Tea with a Kick." The story was written by Victor Hugo Halperin. Earle Kenton will direct.

A Glimpse of Theater Opening

The Playhouse and Star

Gloria Swanson, who will appear in "My American Wife" at Grauman's Metropolitan, and a portion of huge disc, called a "dolly," which adorns the ceiling of the new theater.

ELMAN APPLAUDED BY HUGE AUDIENCE

Disclosing a growing maturity in the balance and perfection of his interpretations, and again evidencing that rich tonal beauty which has always been a distinguishing trait of his playing, Mischa Elman, in his violin recital, attained a remarkable triumph last night at Philharmonic Auditorium. The audience was of capacity size, filling even the stage, and their applause became a demonstration that called for encore after encore.

The novelty of the program was the suite by Eris Korngold, which carries the title, translatable into "Much Ado About Nothing." It is a characteristic suite, built rather evenly for both the piano and violin, and afforded both Mr. Elman and his excellent accompanist, Joseph Bonine, a chance to display their virtuosity. The moods of the work are poetical and whimsical, and the garden motifs rise to a rare height of beauty. The work is not so extreme in its modern idioms as to be forbidding. In fact, it is inclined toward the romantic.

Exquisite indeed was Mr. Elman's rendering of the middle section of the Symphonie Espagnole, correctly speaking, the fourth movement of this work, as the second and third are generally omitted. He invested this with all the deep impassioned feeling for which he is noted. In this work and the Chopin Nocturne in D flat, in the Wilhelmj, and some of the encores like the "Ave Maria" of Schubert, the violinist made apparent all that wealth of emotion and tonal beauty of which he is master. A sonata by Handel, a caprice by Sarasate, were other numbers on the program, and the encores included an adagio by Mozart, a minuet by Haydn, a minuet by Beethoven, and "Eili, Eili," in Elman's own arrangement.

The Elman concert was notably successful. He will be heard again Saturday afternoon.

NEILAN PROVES SELF A MASTER CRAFTSMAN

Marshall Neilan has again proved himself a master craftsman in his version of Donn Byrne's novel of an American shipbuilder's life, "The Strangers' Banquet" seen this week at the Alhambra.

One of the biggest shipyards at Los Angeles Harbor was enlisted to give accuracy and character to its setting.

A cast of unusual prominence interprets the roles, such as Hobart Bosworth, Claire Windsor, Rockliffe Fellowes, Ford Sterling, Claude Gillingwater, Nigel Barrie, Eleanor Boardman, Thomas Holding, Stuart Holmes, Philo McCullough, Lucille Ricksen, Eugenie Besserer, Arthur Hoyt, Brinsley Shaw, Margaret Loomis, Cyril Chadwick, Jean Hersholt, Lillian Langdon, Aileen Pringle, James Marcus, Edward McWade and Dagmar Godowsky.

NOVEL OFFERING

"Social Whirl" Amid Oriental Sets Pleases Patrons

"The Social Whirl," Bobbie Fitzsimmon's second offering at Dalton's Broadway Theater is a novel offering and met with instant approval at its opening performance.

This week's attraction is oriental both in the stage setting and the musical numbers. Palmere and Doree again are seen in a Dance specialty of the nature that is making them a popular fixture on Broadway and the comedy parts are in the able hands of Jack Miller and Fritz Fields. Ruby Darby, Lillian Bessent and Grace Hutchison, Gene Darby and the beauty chorus round out the bill.

Monroe Salisbury in "The Great Alone" is the film attraction.

AUDIENCES REPEAT WITH "ROBIN HOOD"

No longer is it a question of whether you have seen "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood" at Grauman's Hollywood Egyptian Theater. With the cinema superproduction entering the fifteenth week, the question asked on every hand is, "How many times have you seen 'Robin Hood'?"

"Robin Hood" is one of a few motion-picture spectacles that loses nothing in repetition. The music score as interpreted by the Hollywood Egyptian Theater orchestra is another feature of the "Robin Hood" presentation that can be thoroughly enjoyed several times.

INGRAM WINS HONOR BY ARTISTIC WORK

For his artistic achievement in translating to the screen the famous novel "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" by Vincente Blasco Ibanez, Yale University has conferred upon Rex Ingram, the director, a degree of Bachelor of Fine Arts. This is the first official recognition of the screen as an art any university or college has even given.

Mr. Ingram formerly a student at Yale, matriculated in the class of 1914. He was a pupil and later an assistant to Lee Lawrie, head of the school of Fine Arts there, and since has attributed much of his success in making photoplays to his study under Mr. Lawrie.

Commenting upon the university honor given him, Mr. Ingram said: "It not only means much to me—more than I really can express—but a great deal to the screen."

WESTERN REPRESENTATIVE

According to reports, Edward Earl Repp, local publicity and fiction writer will be named as future western representative of the Bristol Photoplay Studios of New York City. The position will consist mainly of preparing and editing scripts from local writers for further consideration at the East Coast Studio.

ALICE BRADY RETURNS

"ANNA ASCENDS" HER PICTURE; LARRY SEMON AMUSES

By Edwin Schallert

Between watching Larry Semon smash barrels and strew assorted mud puddles all over the scenery, and observing Alice Brady Cinderella her way out of the tenement district into a Westchester or some such-like mansion, picture-goers are having a rather agreeable time of it this week at Grauman's Third-street Theater. It isn't the world's premier show, or anything like that, but it fills in two hours that you might have to spare for entertainment very nicely. Semon's comedy film is yclept "The Agent" from the fact that the comedian is supposed to be on the trail of bootleg, while Miss Brady's optimistic little picture carries the airy title, "Anna Ascends."

When I first looked at that title, it was with some misgivings. I was inclined to suspect Anna of going ballooning, or taking a trip to heaven or something. She might also have been engaged in climbing the Swiss Alps. That would have been very romantic. Again Anna as a steeple-jack, frolicking around the dome of a church, induces interesting speculation.

But Anna does none of these things. The highest she goes is about a million dollars, and the picture quits when she safely marries that.

The plot is the simple story of the rise of a Syrian immigrant. Why Syrian, I don't know, unless it be to give Miss Brady a chance to wear long braids, which the villain tries to chew when the plot curdles.

The crucial situation involves the smuggling of the Russian crown jewels to America. Anna and a newspaper publisher's son play detectives, and Anna discovers the smugglers. In the effort to let the newspaper man know who the villains are she is attacked by the ringleader of the gang, and stabs him. Thereafter, she hides for three years, to keep from being electrocuted and writes a book describing her struggles as an immigrant. This book is likewise called "Anna Ascends."

Through its publication she renews her acquaintance with the newspaper man. Eventually she has the jewel smugglers tossed into jail, and fades out in the arms of her future husband against a pretty landscape.

Everything considered, far-fetched plot and all, "Anna Ascends" manages to hold together fair-to-middling probably through the characterization Miss Brady gives of the heroine. Miss Brady has an interesting personality, but usually suffers from bad plays. She has evidently struggled to make her part seem real, and it almost does, although the actual plot is more or less of an insult to the intelligence.

What woeful use is made of the talents of Nita Naldi! Yes, she looks corpulent in the gowns that she wears.

Edward Durant makes something of the silly rôle of the Turk, while Robert Ellis, David Powell and Charles Gerrard try to appear as if they thought, "Anna Ascends" could really happen.

Semon has put a lot of comedy material into "The Agent." If it weren't for the settings and the barrels and the sloppy stuff, I don't know just where he would be, but really he makes things count for slapstick laughs. And he lets himself out, even for some of the obvious tricks, with his finishing twist. The main thing, it seems, is that the picture keeps the audience amused by being speedy and boisterous.

Jimmy Aubrey Busy

Jimmy Aubrey, Vitagraph comedian, is making a new comedy, said to be one of his best. It is called "The Courier" and is something of a burlesque on costume plays.

PALMER CANYON

VERY EASY TERMS.

Running streams of water all the year. Beautiful live oaks and pines. Perfect title to land and water. Paved blvds. to property. Over 200 families have secured their lots. Just far enough away to get rid of the street-car crowds. This property is in a class by itself, as the city of Pasadena and water co. are doing away with cabin owners. Just think this over. These lots will double in value—in fact, are worth twice what we are selling for. Why take a lease when you can get a deed to property? This private canyon of 360 acres, 3½ miles long, elevation 2500 feet to 3500. Open all the year. Will be closed to public after cabin sites are sold off. No dance halls, country clubs, but a quiet retreat for the tired business man and his family, only 35 miles out. Foothill Blvd. to Claremont, 3 miles north to property. On the property Sunday, or week days by appointment. Just think! Only 10 cents a square foot for real estate like this. It has oil possibility, and don't forget that a live-oak tree is worth about $200 to $1000.

HARBOR LEADS COAST FISHING

Becomes Center of Great Canning Industry

Marvelous Progress Made in Four-Year Period

The 1922 Catch Totaled 85,363,710 Pounds

Los Angeles Harbor in four years has become the center of the greatest fishing industry on the Pacific Coast and one of the world's greatest fishing ports, according to figures just made public by C. S. Bauder, California Fish and Game Commissioner in charge of the Department of Commercial Fisheries, at this port. During the year 1922, according to Mr. Bauder, 85,363,710 pounds of fish and shellfish were delivered to the local wholesale markets and canneries by boats of the Los Angeles fishing fleet.

This huge harvest of the sea had an initial value of $2,500,000, which was trebled after the fish had been delivered to retail markets or packed for world distribution by the port's nine active canneries. The year's catch was a material increase over the records for both 1920 and 1921, while indications point to the greatest year in the local industry for 1923, Mr. Bauder says.

SARDINE CATCH LARGE

Sardines last year led the catch, with a total of 44,688,876 pounds. This season is expected to be even larger in point of yield for this angle of the industry, as markets for Los Angeles-packed sardines have been opened throughout the Orient, South America, the Atlantic Coast and even Europe.

In the 1922 tuna catch albacore, or white meat tuna, totaled 11,678,513 pounds delivered to the canniers, while the fishing banks also yielded 7,416,113 pounds of yellow-fin and blue-fin tuna.

The growth of the port fishing fleet has also been remarkably rapid in five years, the figures show. From a few craft in 1917 it now numbers more than 700 vessels, ranging from the small lobster boats to the powerful purse-seiners—with a range from Santa Cruz to the Mexican banks below Cape San Lucas.

FISH FIGURES

Mr. Bauder's complete figures follow, with weights in pounds:

	Pounds.
Abalone	37,040
Albacore	11,678,513
Anchovies	8,349
Barracuda	4,602,419
Bonita	785,348
Clams	1,360
Devil fish	5,981
Flounder	1,311
Flying fish	8,525
Halibut	1,611,719
Halmoon	28,204
Kingfish	250,533
Lobsters	101,707
Mackerel	1,555,881
Mullet	4,046
Perch	54,749
Pompano	13,776
Rock Bass	149,493
Rock fish	1,075,016
Sandabs	1,035
Sardines	44,688,876
Sculpin	37,168
Sea bass, black	45,374
Sea bass, white	2,201,935
Sheepshead	1,324
Skates	3,938
Skipjack	6,696,673
Smelt	283,582
Sole	115,616
Squid	20,867
Swordfish	2,558
Tuna	7,416,113
Turtle	7,061
Whitefish	26,010
Yellowtail	1,597,730
Total	85,363,710

Activities in the fishing fleet during the next three months will be limited to the sardine catch, confined to the Gulf of Santa Catalina, and the operations of the fresh-market boats on the Mexican banks. Two-thirds of the fleet now is in port, it is estimated, preparing for the opening of the canning season with the arrival of the tuna in local waters late in May.

SHIP LINE MEN ARE AT HARBOR

Expansion of the Europe-Los Angeles freight and passenger service of the French line was forecast yesterday in the visit to the port of E. L. Simpson and E. A. Simpson, president and general manager, respectively, of Simpson, Spence & Young of London and New York, the world's largest ship chartering firm. E. L. Simpson and his son are here from New York for an inspection of the local port and were in conference yesterday with Sam L. Kreider, local manager of their interests, and H. S. Scott, president of the Associated Terminals, General Steamship Corporation and allied interests. Mr. Scott came down from San Francisco for the conference.

Mr. Kreider, who is also Southern California manager for the Trans-Oceanic Company of Sweden, the Toyo Kisen Kaisha of Japan, the French Line and the General Steamship Corporation, has himself just returned from London in the interests of Los Angeles Harbor.

As the first steps in the expansion of the Los Angeles-European service of the combined French Line and Trans-Oceanic fleet, Mr. Kreider announced that the French liner Alaska will arrive here February to load large shipments of borax and Imperial Valley cotton for Havre and Bordeaux, while early next month the Swedish motorship Boren is due here from Tarawa, in the South Seas, with 2000 tons of copra for Los Angeles.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—The first all-electrically driven tanker to be constructed in a Pacific Coast shipyard was sent into the bay today at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation. The vessel was christened Standard Service by Mrs. A. B. Brooks, wife of the marine department director of the Standard Oil Company, for which concern the vessel was constructed. The vessel is 1600 deadweight tons, displacement 2445 tons, with a speed of nine knots when loaded.

The steamer Ryokai Maru arrived today from Astoria to pick up a general cargo for South America. This is the second vessel of the Yamashida Kisen Kaisha to arrive here for the service recently established out of this port by that company.

SEATTLE, Jan. 23.—Fourteen million feet of lumber will be loaded on Puget Sound for Australia in the next few weeks by vessels operated by W. L. Comyn & Co. of San Francisco, it was learned today from B. J. Frothingham, northwest manager for the firm. This is to be carried by the barkentine Alicia Haviside and the steamships Pawnee, Iconomia, Arcadia and Ida. The Haviside began loading at Port Blakeley today. The Pawnee is loading at Everett and will complete cargo at Seattle and Tacoma. The Arcadia is on her way from Hawaii and the Ida is discharging case oil in the Orient.

James Griffiths & Sons of this city, who recently purchased the collier Caesar which was part of Admiral Dewey's Manila Bay Fleet, have perfected arrangements for the steamship Griffdu to tow the Caesar here from California. The Caesar will carry 1500 tons of copper ore for Tacoma.

TACOMA, Jan. 23.—The Meriden and Northland, from California points, arrived at the Baker dock today to load return cargoes. The Northland was expected to sail this evening.

The Santa Inez is listed for an arrival at the port pier tomorrow to load lumber for California.

With approximately 1,300,000 feet of lumber, the Quinault sailed for Los Angeles this afternoon.

The Lurline from Honolulu was listed for an arrival at the terminal dock tonight from Honolulu to load 1000 tons of general cargo here.

PORTLAND, Jan. 23.—The steamer Montague, now loading here in the Oriental service of the Columbia Pacific Shipping Company, will take out a capacity cargo when she leaves, probably tomorrow for Hongkong and other ports. Lumber and flour constitute the chief items in her cargo.

The Surgeon-General of the United States Army has issued an order permitting the fumigation here of vessels having Portland as their home port. Heretofore all fumigation work has been done at Astoria.

ASTORIA, Jan. 23.—The steamer San Francisco after taking on freight in Portland sailed this morning for London via Seattle.

The tank steamer Liebre after discharging fuel oil in Portland and Astoria, sailed this morning for California.

The steam schooner Frank D. Stout finished loading 250,000 feet of lumber at the Astoria terminals this morning for Los Angeles. She shifted to Warrenton to load 200,000 feet and tonight goes to Rainier to finish.

COOS BAY, Jan. 23.—The steamer Johanna Smith arrived today from Bay Point and is loading lumber.

The steamer Cotton Plant of the Coos Bay Lumber Company sailed with a lumber cargo for Bay Point this afternoon.

Five hundred thousand feet of lumber is to be shipped to Coos Bay from the Johnson mill at Coquille to be loaded on the steamer Owego due here the first of March.

HORSES AND HOUSES TOO MUCH ALIKE

Irish Brogue and Accent of Castilian Tongue Cause Police Phone Mix-up

"Sure, an' there's a bunch of wild harses loose on Euclid avenue," Sergt. J. J. Hickey, at the Boyle Heights Police Station, told Patrolman A. A. Arguello, of Mexican descent, over the telephone in a rich Irish brogue. "Tie 'em down."

But it sounded like houses to Arguello.

"No, harses!" reiterated Hickey "don't you know what a harse is?"

"Sure, it's a place to live in," came the confident answer.

"Were yez raised in a barn?" roared the Irishman. "A harse! a harse! a h-h-h—"

He was blue in the face when Sergt. Phillips and Detective Louie Rico came in twenty minutes later, according to the latter.

Rico relieved him of the telephone.

"Rodeo de los caballos," interpreted Rico.

"Now you're talking English," answered Arguello, "why didn't you say so in the first place?"

Mexican Youths Fight Duel for Smiles of Girl

Rivals for the favors of a pretty senorita, Victor Sanchez and R. Rodriquez, settled their feud last night after the Spanish fashion.

Sanchez is in the County Hospital with a knife wound through his lung, which may cause his death. Rodriquez, who was also wounded, is in the City Jail charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

According to statements made to the police, Sanchez, who is 18 years of age and lives at 1006 Fresno street, and Rodriquez, have been enemies for some time, having fought no later than last Sunday. Last night, at the Salt Lake playground, at the intersection of First and Utah streets, surrounded by a ring of Mexican youths and girls, they fought it out with knives.

Officer Girard of Boyle Heights was summoned, and had the two duelists taken to the Receiving Hospital, where Rodriquez said he was 19 years of age and gave his address as 507 Turner street.

Ex-Gob Shows Ex-Officer Way to City Prison

"I, sir, am a former naval officer," said Harry S. Leonard last night after he had been arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

"And I, sair, am an ex-gob," politely responded Officer Hussick. "The jail is right this way."

Leonard was arrested by Sergt. McCaleb, the sergeant declaring Leonard had found the Third-street tunnel barely wide enough to drive his car through. At the Receiving Hospital, where Dr. Sebastien declared that Leonard had been drinking, the latter announced that he was a retired officer of the United States Navy.

Leonard also showed the officers a ring which he declared had been given to him by the late Theodore Roosevelt. He gave his age as 44 years and his address as the Crawford Apartments.

Girl is Missing and Her Mother is Seriously Ill

Where is Margaret Powell?

A week ago she disappeared from the home of her mother, Mrs. Thomas Powell, 5212 Pasadena avenue, with a girl friend, and neither has been seen since that time. Efforts to locate her have failed, and her mother is seriously ill.

She is described as five feet four inches tall, and weighing 120 pounds. When last seen, she wore a blue coat, black hat with silver lace, black suede shoes and a blue georgette crepe dress.

Anyone having seen her, or knowing of her whereabouts is requested to communicate with her mother.

Return to Find Home Visited by a Burglar

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 23.—When Nathan Nash and some friends from Canada returned to the Nash home at 2204 East Second street, tonight, they found the house had been ransacked and $1500 worth of valuables missing.

The police believe the burglary was committed by the same man who looted a number of homes in the residential section during the last few weeks. Among the stuff stolen were silverware worth $300, furs valued at $1000, a revolver, a leather bag and $200 in traveler's checks on the Royal Bank of Hamilton, Ont.

FILM ACTRESS GIVEN ALIMONY

"Jackie" Taylor Gets Tip on Shaving

Vera Steadman Taylor

VERA STEADMAN TAYLOR, who at one time played opposite Charles Ray and later starred in Christie comedies, was awarded $25 a week alimony yesterday by Judge Summerfield in Superior Court for the support of herself and her infant child. The alimony action is the forerunner to a divorce suit instituted by the former film actress against Jack A. Taylor, orchestra leader, which will be heard soon. She charges cruelty.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor appeared yesterday. Taylor declared he earned $75 a week and "tips," and offered to give his wife $20 a week for her support. The court objected. Taylor then pointed out that he had to keep his dress suit cleaned and pressed, his shoes shined and to buy numerous neckties. He said that this left him but little out of his earnings.

To this the court replied that if the defendant would buy a safety razor he could save money, and then raised Taylor's offer to $25 per week.

Taylor was represented by Phillip Cohen and his wife by Attorney Ellis. It was indicated the divorce action will be hotly contested. Taylor indicated that he will fight his wife's charges and demand custody of their child.

MUSICIAN'S HOME LIFE DISCORDANT

Organist Strikes False Note in Marital Affairs, Court Hears

Seated one day at an organ, Chauncey Haines, Jr., discovered that the lost chord was the dissonance arising from his matrimonial misadventures, he told Judge Summerfield in Superior Court yesterday.

Haines is a well-known local pipe organist, and he was in court yesterday to show cause why he should not pay $415 back alimony to his former wife, Ethel H. Haines.

He testified that he had lost five positions as organist because of the actions of his ex-wife, the latest having been as organist of the Mission Theater. He declared that Mrs. Haines, on different occasions, has sat in the front row of a theater and created a scene, that she had slapped his face, that she threw notes at the organ, and subpoenaed his employers in suing him.

Mrs. Haines denied everything except slapping his face, which she declared she did because of words that passed between them.

It developed that Mrs. Haines now has a civil suit for payment of the alimony pending, and Judge Summerfield continued the case until today for further investigation.

DETECTIVE IS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Capt. Roberds Painfully Injured When Machine on Way North Overturns

A dislocated hip suffered by Acting Detective Capt. Grant Roberds when an automobile in which he was a passenger skidded and turned over three miles north of Santa Barbara yesterday interrupted his search for the murderers of Charles Weingarten.

Capt. Roberds was on his way to Santa Maria in a car driven by J. W. Safady, lace merchant of 716 East Washington street, who was an eyewitness to the murder. He was going there to investigate a report that men who might have been connected with the crime had been seen there.

Safady, who suffered minor injuries, continued on to Santa Maria with Sheriff James Ross of Santa Barbara county, who substituted for Capt. Roberds. Roberds was placed in Cottage Hospital, Santa Barbara, where his hip was reset.

Weingarten was killed Sunday in his trunk store on South Main street by hold-up men who attempted to rob him, and five other men. A fight started and Weingarten was shot through the heart.

Wife Arraigned Says She Slew in Self-Defense

Lillian Bross, accused of the murder of her husband, appeared yesterday morning before Judge Shenk in Superior Court, and entered a plea of not guilty. She is at liberty on $2000 bail.

Mrs. Bross, according to the complaint, shot and killed her husband on Dec., 15, 1922. She maintains that the shooting was done in selfdefense and, according to her attorneys, S. S. Hahn, an investigation is being conducted by Chief Dep.-Dist-Atty. Asa Keyes, who may dismiss the case before it comes to trial on March 7th.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFY HAIR AT ONCE

Try This! Hair Appears Soft, Colorful and Abundant —A Gleamy Mass

35 Cent Bottle of "Danderine" Also Ends Dandruff; Falling Hair!

A "Danderine Beauty Treatment" will immediately double the attractiveness of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and possess an incomparable softness, luster and really appear twice as thick and abundant—a mass of luxuriant, glinty, colorful hair.

Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine eradicates dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is the best, cheapest and most delightful hair corrective and tonic. It is to the hair what fresh showers of rain are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, vitalizes and strengthens them. Its stimulating properties help the hair to grow long, heavy, strong.

You can surely have beautiful hair, and lots of it, if you will spend 35 cents for a bottle of Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter. It is not greasy, oily or sticky.—[Advertisement.

"I paid an international authority on diseases of the stomach $1500 and he didn't do me five cents' worth of good. I have been to various Spas in Europe, as well as this country and have spent fully $30,000 fruitlessly in search of a cure for my stomach trouble. Naturally I lost faith in any remedy for my case. My wife's brother had taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and praised it so highly that I tried it and am now entirely rid of that trouble." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—[Advertisement.
